He would drink a canteen Full of rawest benzine, And he's now in the regions infol.

Day and night are equal.
Kaiser Wilhelm's birthday.

A Chinaman died in Portland Saturday with the smallpox.

The west-bound train due this morning, did not arrive until noon today.

Frank Fulton, of Sherman county, came into the city today with two wagon loads of fat hogs.

The river remains at or near low water mark, the gauge indicating three-tenths of a foot above zero.

Arbor day comes on the 14th of April this year. The day will doubtless be recognized by every school in this state.

The scholars of the "deestrick skule" are urged to be present, without exception, tomorrow night at the Epworth League room at 8 o'clock.

The case of W. Pashek vs. H. Gilpin for trespass on premises was dismissed before Justice Schutz court this morning on motion of Prosecuting Attorney Wilson.

Ol. Barrett presides over a new and beautiful 84-ton passenger engine. It is not new, however, but looks so, having just been fixed over. As a matter of fact No. 560 is one of the oldest on the road.

Articles of incorporation have been filed by the "Mt. Hood Improvement company," with a capital stock of $5,000.
This organization is for the purpose of assisting tourists to visit Mt. Hood, and to make off them a reasonable profit.

D. C. Herrin, who has just returned from a trip to the upper Memalouse island, discovered that vandals have been at work recently in their search for trinkets, and have not only rifled the graves, but have ripped open the mummies. Such desecration is heathenish, and the participants can only be classed as grave-robbers.

The Inland Telephone company, who are constructing a telephone line from Spokane to Portland, have completed it to Touchet, Wash., and are progressing at the rate of one mile a day. They expect to reach Wallula on the Columbia in about two weeks, and have the whole line completed through to Portland by the 1st of August next. At Wallula they have built a large scow, on which they will float down the Columbia, stringing their line as they proceed.

Thought There Was a Mistake.

Perry Watkins went down to the D.
P. & A. N. Co.'s office today for the purpose of receiving a cultivator and paying charges thereon. The cultivator weighs about 425 pounds, and the bill was given out by Mr. Alloway as amounting to $1.75.

"I want to pay it all," remarked Mr.
Watkins, as he reached for his roll.

"That is all," said Mr. A.

"You are sure, now, are you?" said Mr. Watkins, with the air of one who wanted to do the square thing, but would not be responsible for any future oversight.

"Why, of course," reiterated Alloway, verifying himself by a hasty mental calculation.

"Well I never would have thought it.
Hooray for the Regulator!" was the spontaneous response of the pleased patron, and the toothpick he was chewing was mashed to splinters.

The Governor's Party.

Governor Pennoyer and Mr. Metschan will stay over night in Pendleton, taking the morning train for Milton, where they expect to continue their object of site viewing. After leaving Milton they will go on to Walla Walla, at which place their intentions are to examine the penitentiary buildings and the work carried on therein, principally the jute mill operations, in which our officials are greatly interested at this time. This work they will thoroughly examine, the result of which investigation they expect to use to advantage in a similar department in our state penitentiary.
Owing to business of importance needing their attention, from Walla Walla they will go to Salem, from which place, in a few days, they expect to return and visit The Dalles and Heppner, which will complete their tour of examination of sites for the new Eastern Oregon insane asylum.—Tribune 21st.

A Narrow Escape.

J. B. Crossen, narrowly escaped being killed today noon. While trying to board the west-bound train, which was going at a fast rate of speed, he was thrown under the car and came within an ace of rolling under the wheels. A brakeman at the rear end of the car assisted him out of his dangerous position and helped him up again on the car.

WHEEL TESTED.

The Irrigation Scheme of Dr. Blalock
Was a Success.

The large irrigation wheel built recently at Gilbert Hunt's factory in Walla Walla, a description of which was published in the Union-Journal, has proved to be a success. The wheel was manufactured for Dr. N. G. Blalock, of that city, to be used in irrigating his extensive fruit farm at Blalocks, Oregon.
It was taken to that place last week, and Saturday it was tested and proved a success. The wheel was placed in the Columbia river and started. The water was raised to an elevation of 80 feet and then by the use of pipes was carried over the land. The wheel raised 168 gallons of water per minute, with the current of the river only running at the rate of two miles an hour. Gilbert Hunt, the manufacturer, went to Blalock Saturday and witnessed the test.
Dr. Blalock returned Monday, but immediately left for Spokane.

Joles Bros. have 60 varieties of fresh garden and field seeds on hand in bulk, and can supply all demands.

A NEEDED IMPROVEMENT.

Probability that a First-Class Hotel
Will Be Built Here.

A real estate firm in The Dalles gives it out as a fact that some Portland capitalists have been looking over The Dalles, with a view to erecting a handsome four-story brick hotel, to be located on the Vogt property, adjoining A. A. Brown's grocery store.

This is as good a location as can be found in the Northwest for a first-class hotel and many have wondered why The Dalles, in view of its commercial importance, has not had a hotel suitable to its demands many years ago. Pendleton, the handsome and queenly city of Umatilla county, owes much of its beauty and importance to its handsome hotels. The spirit of progression, now aroused, will do as much for The Dalles.
The pioneer buildings we have are not good enough for the present age, and located as they are, give passing travelers a poor idea of our city, which is one of the most beautiful in Oregon. All this is unfair, and the citizens and traveling public generally will welcome the advent of a new first-class hotel, built with regard to architectural beauty and convenience and comfort to guests.

PERSONAL MENTION.

J. N. Burgess, Bakeoven, is in town.

Mrs. E. G. Sylvester went to Portland yesterday.

C. L. Morris, Wapinitia, is registered at the Umatilla.

C. Caldwell, Portland, came up yesterday on the noon train.

Misses Male Williams and Laura Burgess came up from Portland on the midnight passenger train last night.

D. C. McAtee, Ed Fitzpatrick and Leo Morris arrived from Tygh in a buckboard yesterday and returned today.

Mr. E. Littlefield, brother-in-law of Judge Bradshaw, leaves on the Regulator tomorrow morning for McMinnville.

Col. Geo. H. Knaggs, the veteran, is in the city visiting old friends. The colonel is an old-timer, and recollects when the Columbia was only navigable for bateaux and small boats.

Wm. Buskirk, of Hood River, came up on today's train and called on The Chronicle. Hood River has now 125 scholars of school age, and when he arrived there five years ago it only had 25.
Five times 25 is 125—that's right.

G. D. Woodworth, of Sherman county, arrived today. This gentleman is one of the foremost farmers of that country, having about 800 acres in wheat alone.
He says that the cool weather and frosty nights have injured the fall-sown grain more or less. The later sown grain is in fine condition. No loss of stock to speak of so far this winter. Grass growing slowly.

A Head for Science.

The steamboat engineer was polite and attentive. It may be that he was flattered by the fact that a lady so impressive in her manner should have come to him for information. At any rate he told her all about it—just where the steam went into the cylinder, where it escaped, and how it was that the piston rod attached to the crank turned the wheels that propelled the vessel through the waves. She appeared to be all wrapped up in the information, and when he had finished she turned a beaming face upon him and said: "Now, what is the object of the boiler?"

RETARDING THE WORK.

Lieut. Taylor Fighting the Day Brothers, Tooth and Nail.

Affairs at the locks are not in a very promising state at present. Lieut. Taylor, who unfortunately has charge of the government machinery at the plant, is doing everything within his power to retard the work, displaying an autocratic assumption and self-sufficiency that is not only aggravating but discouraging. A few days ago the Day Bros. had occasion to move the large derricks to their field of operations, when their use was peremptorily forbidden, without even the poor satisfaction of assigning a reason for such action. "No tools or rolling stock belonging to the government shall be taken out of this yard," was the order, and Day Bros. were compelled for the time to submit.
As soon as they fully realized what was to be the policy, Mr. Day, sr., left at once for Washington where he will plead his cause and lay the facts before the administration in such a way as, it is hoped, will result in ridding the locks of the human obstruction. He will have to do this before he can hope to accomplish the completion of his contract, as it is within the power of the enemies of the open river to delay work so long that when high water comes it will fill the canal, and then nothing can be done until it recedes again.

The Day brothers, on the other hand are doing everything they can to accelerate work. It is learned they will work the men ten hours a day, and not eight, as many suppose, construing the government legislation as not applying to those who take contracts from government. Another new rule (for the locks) is that the men shall be at the ground at 7 o'clock, instead of leaving home at that hour.

A skilled-labor applicant for work was told Monday by the superintendent:
"We don't want skilled workmen; we want rustlers." The inference is plain that work at the locks will be pushed when there is clear sailing. A number of men are at present working in the timber, on the tramway and in the quarry, and some few are at work on the buildings in the grounds but just at present no new men are being employed and the main part of the work will be held in abeyance until Mr. Day adjusts matters at Washington, if he should be so successful.

No Cause for Alarm.

The president had a peculiar caller yesterday. He was "Fiddling" Bob Taylor, as Tennesseans lovingly call one of their most popular ex-governors, on account of his proficiency with the fiddle and the bow.

"Mr. President, I have headed your electoral ticket twice in my state," said the ex-governor.

The president looked anxious.

"But I have simply called now, sir, to have the honor of shaking your hand.
I do not want office."

The president looked relieved.

Morgan's Mission.

New York, March 21.—It was reported tonight from an authoritative source, that J. Pierpont Morgan, who sails on the Majestic tomorrow, goes on an important mission for the government. It is stated he has been authorized to negotiate a loan of $50,000,000 in gold.
The report is apparently well founded.
Mr. Morgan was in Washington last week, and held a long conference with Secretary of the Treasury Carlisle. Of course, neither Mr. Morgan nor the secretary could be expected to say anything for publication on the subject.

D. Vanhorn, the piano tuner, will be in the city for a short time, and orders left in the postoffice will be promptly attended to. dt
