The Horrors of Sport. "Sport" is horrible. I say it advisedly. I speak with the matured experience of one who has seen and taken part in sport of many and varied kinds in many and varied parts of the world. I can handle gun and rifle as well and efficiently as most "sporting folk," and few women, and not many men, have indulged in a tithe of the shooting and hunting in which I have been engaged both at home and during travels and expeditions in far away lands. It is not, therefore, as a novice that I take up my pen to record why I, whom some have called a "female Nimrod," have come to regard with absolute loathing and detestation any sort or kind or form of sport which in any way is produced by the suffering of animals.—Lady Florence

AT THE LONDON ZOO.

HOW THE CHILDREN ENJOY THEM-SELVES ON A SATURDAY.

Seeing the Animals in London's Great Garden Take Their Daily Meal Is a Weekly Attraction in the Big City. Watching the Creatures Ent.

No day is more animated at the London Zoological gardens than Saturday, when the children appear in full force, marshaled by papas and mammas, who are doubtless glad enough to visit the scene of their own early "larks," but who try to look as if they came only as guides and guardians. The little people begin to appear early in the forenoon some of them bringing a lunch basket, wherein may be found not only their own bread and butter but biscuit and buns for feeding the animals.

Those who are to take their noonday meal in the refreshment room, however, need not be destitute of provender for their four footed acquaintances; a bun may always be bought for a penny, and biscuit are abundant on many a convenient counter.

First comes the preliminary ramble, and then a skurry back to the fish house, where at 12 o'clock the diving birds are fed. A large glass tank of clear water occupies one end of the room, and into this precisely at noon an attendant throws a handful of tiny fish, a few of them still living. Then the side of an adjoining cage is removed, and down plunge the penguins to seize their prey.

It must be confessed that their table manners are not fine. They literally gobble fish after fish, and then hurl themselves about in the water, evidently delighted with their bath.

delighted with their bath,
Another bird—a slender, graceful creature, familiarly called a "darter"— is admitted alone to the tank, and his motions in enting his fish dinner are wonderful to see. He sweeps through the water like an arrow, and impaling each fish upon his bill lifts his head. Notice is hereby given that the co-partnership existing under the firm name of Davey & Linton in this city, each fish upon his bill lifts his head, and in some mysterious and lightninglike manner catches the victim and swallows it.

THE RIDE ON THE ELEPHANTS. Later in the afternoon the pelicans are solemnly all day long. A small pond occupies its center, and into this bits of isfaction or refund your money. fed in the little yard where they strut birds rush pell mell, covering the water with a confusion of gigantic waving wings. As the attendant approaches to carry out this pleasing ceremony, the birds awaken from their drowsy calm, and it is a sight not soon to be forgotten if one can watch a stately old pelican lift his wings and begin an awkward curveting in token of his joy.

In the bear pit, a deep and well lighted inclosure, dwell two bears, who are unwieldy with the fatness produced by many buns. They have been so persistently fed by visitors that when one looks over the railing his bearship calm-

He catches bits of bun in his mouth with the unerring skill given by long practice, and will even climb the pole in the center of the pit, if one will but hold a bun over it suspended from a stick. "But how will he know I want him to climb?" said a little girl, who had just been provided with this plummy bribe. "Just hold it near the pole where he can get it," said an attendant, "and he'll He knows as m

do the So, heavily and with much panting, the awkward creature mounts his pole, seizes the bun, and descends to munch it

The crowning joy of all perhaps for little visitors is that of riding the elephants, which, provided with great saddles, large enough for a dozen people, take their load of shrieking, laughing children and go lumbering off down the walks, waving their trunks this side and that in the hope of receiving a stray tit-bit from the neighboring crowd. FEEDING THE LIONS. Later in the day comes one great event, to which even the most serious grown person must be interested. At half past 4 the lions are fed! Long before the time visitors begin to pour into the building where, in large cages against the wall, lions, tigers and leopards are pacing restlessly up and down.

The creatures themselves need no watches to tell them dinner time is near. watches to tell them dinner time is near.

The liou seizes them in his paws and lies contentedly down, to gnaw and lies contentedly down, to gnaw and lies them with the deliberation of a well fed animal.

So the programme goes on, until one voice after another is silenced and the barrow is empty. One very interesting fact is always to be observed. The animals do not, on receiving their first piece of meat, retire to devour it; they wait for the second and then turn away with both held securely in their paws. There is the chimpanzee "Sally," who will count five for her keeper by passing him the requisite number of straws, and who, at request, will eat with her fingers, as she "used to do," and then with a fork, as she does now that she is civilized. A determined German brought the officials of a New Jersey railroad company to terms. So crowded was a local train on the Morris and Essex railroad that many of the passengers could not find seats. As the train started, an indignant Teuton stopped the train by pulling the bell cord and demanded that an empty car on the track be attached. The other passengers sustained him, but the demands were not heeded. When the train started again the German once more pulled the bell cord and announced that he would pull it every time the train started unless another car was: ttached. After considerable dispute and railroad officials gave in, backed cown the train, attached another car, and thus furnished seats for all its passengers.-Yankee Blade.

A Meteor with Gold in It. fornia, is of unusual interest. The meteorite in question is about the size of a man's fist, and around a good portion of it is a solid film of gold. In one part the metal is about an inch square. Gold has never before been found in connection with meteoric iron, and it demonstrates, says Mr. Turner, "that there is gold in the worlds of space."—New York Recorder.

Found No Indians.

A New Haven small boy who ran away from home four years ago to slay Indians was heard from the first time the other day, when he wrote to his parents. According to his letter he had traveled over nearly every state west of the Mississippi, and had endured untold privations, but had not succeeded in his undertaking. He is said to be on his way home, heartily sick of his wild life.-Ex-

There are a number of societies in the world that bear strange names, but probably one of the most curious was a club founded in 1735 by an English actor. It was called "The Sublime Society of Beefsteaks," and had among its The S. B. Headache and Liver Cure. royal personages. They met in the painting room of the Covent Garden theater, and dined upon beefsteaks The club was in existence for more than a hundred years, and became quite noted because of its old customs. Another strange nate was that of the "Scriblerus club." which Swift founded in 1714, and to which Pope, Gay and other literary men belonged.—Harper's

Mrs. Million's Ride.

When Mrs. Million goes to ride she travels forth in state,
Her horses, full of fire and pride, go prancing from the gate:
But all the beauties of the day she views with languid eye,
Her flesh in weakness wastes away, her voice is but a sigh.

For Mrs. Million is in an advanced stage of catarrh, and all the luxuries that wealth can buy fail to give her comfort. She envies her rosy waiting-maid, and would give all her riches for that young woman's pare breath and blooming health. Now, if some true and disinterested friend would advise Mrs. Million of the wonderful merits of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, she would learn that her case is not past help. $500 reward is offered by the manufacurers for a case of catarrh in the head

I would respectfully inform the public that I have been able to procure a pretty fair outfit for raising or moving houses, and am willing to do that kind of work at reasonable figures. But I do wish it distinctly understood that, after looking at a job, I am to be the sole judge of the price to be set upon the work that I am to undertake, or may do. If there is any person who may think that there is big money to be made at house moving in The Dalles, by doing CORNER OF SECONL AND WASHINGTON. work for less than I can do it, I would advise him to prepare himself, by buying tools, and reap some of the rich harvest. In conclusion I will say that if I am called upon to do any work in my line. I shall endeavor, in the future, as in the past, to give entire satisfaction in all respects to my employer.

Most Respectfully, ANDREW VELARDE.
