Three days is a very short time in which to cure a bad case of rheumatism; but it can be done, if the proper treatment is adopted...

The Average Life is Thirty-eight Years. The annual mortality of the entire human race amounts, roughly speaking, to 33,000,000 persons.

The strongest recommendation that any article can have is the endorsement of the mothers of the town. When the mothers recommend it you may know that that article has more than ordinary merit.

More than two-thirds of the agricultural implements, aggregating $130,000 imported into Natal, South Africa last year, were from the United States.

Mrs. Million's Ride. When Mrs. Million goes to ride she travels forth in state. Her horses, full of fire and pride, go prancing from the gate.

For Mrs. Million is in an advanced stage of catarrh, and all the luxuries that wealth can buy fail to give her comfort. She envies her rosy waiting-maid, and would give all her riches for that young woman's pure breath and blooming health.

The Missing Bride.

The girl, Belle Ogg, who was married last Saturday night to Thomas Orby White and decamped the next day, came back to Pendleton on Thursday's W. & C. R. R. train. Her story to her parents, as related by her stepfather, was to the effect that herself and companion, Julia Latimer, occupied room 28 Sunday night at the Golden Rule hotel, their meals being carried up to them.

Paper Floors That Will Not Burn. Paper properly treated with chemicals and then subjected to great pressure is being used for flooring material and for general use in building as a fire resisting substance.

"The people of this vicinity insist on having Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and do not want any other," says John V. Bishop, of Portland Mills, Indiana. That is right. They know it to be superior to any other for colds, and as a preventive and cure for croup, and why should they not insist upon having it.

"Lighthouses are very expensive," remarked Mrs. Dimling, looking up from a government report. "Yes, any theatrical manager will tell you that," replied her husband.

These figures represent the number of bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, which were sold in the United States from March, '91 to March, '92. Two million, two hundred and twenty-eight thousand, six hundred and seventy-two bottles sold in one year, and each and every bottle was sold on a positive guarantee that money would be refunded if satisfactory results did not follow its use.

A MATTER OF COMPLEXION.

Blond Women Said to Be Growing Scarcer. Giving Place to Brunettes.

"Blond women are becoming scarcer every year," said an eminent anthropologist. "You have not lived long enough to remark the fact, but women with blue eyes and light hair are gradually passing away as a type. In each successive generation there are fewer of them than in the last. Already such a thing as a real blond, purely such, is so rarely seen in this country as to excite remark. Golden tresses are so very infrequent that real ones are usually suspected of being dyed. In short, it has become evident that before very long there will be no blond women any more."

"The same thing is true of men. Among their sex light hair and blue eyes are fast disappearing. You may judge how rapidly they are going when you consider the fact that wherever a brunet marries a blond woman or vice versa, 99 per cent. of the children born have dark hair and eyes. At that rate not very many centuries will be required to wipe out the blond type altogether. You wonder how this matter has been determined with such accuracy? Simply by including such statistical observation in the census of nations. In Germany and France the very school children are examined and have their characters recorded from an anthropological standpoint.

"Observations made in this way so as to cover millions of persons of both sexes have resulted in the discovery that the dark people bring more children into the world than do the light people. Furthermore, they have greater muscular vigor and they live longer. Thus in every point which has to do with the perpetuation of a species they are superior. The rule in nature seems to be that pigment which produces the color of the hair and eyes is an indication of force. Albinos among animals and pallid plants are always weak."

"After all, there are comparatively few light people in the world. All the straight haired races are dark. All the aboriginal Americans are dark, from the arctic circle to Cape Horn. All the Asiatics are dark. All the Oceanic people are dark. All the Africans are dark, except a few blond tribes in the Barbary states. Likewise all the southern Europeans are dark. The dark people have the great advantage of being able to stand any climate, while the light complexioned races cannot endure the heat of the tropics."

"An apparent contradiction to all this is afforded by the fact that wherever the light haired and blue eyed peoples have come into conflict with races of dark complexion the latter have always been defeated. The light people govern the world today. Queen Victoria has blue eyes, and the sun never sets on her dominions. Descendants of Anglo-Saxons dominate the New World. Even South America, Africa and the civilized part of Asia are fairly run by the English and Germans. Germany leads all the nations of the earth in science and learning, and three-fourths of her population are blue eyed. The yellow haired Swedes, Danes and Norwegians furnish the sailors of the world. English is the language of the globe. French has often been called the 'universal language,' but it is in fact merely a court language outside of France. The Chinese have a 'pidgin' English, but not a 'pidgin' French. All the modern jargons of the world, for trade purposes, are modifications of English."

"The blue eyed and light haired people are by far the most brave of the moderns. By their superior intelligence and bravery they have conquered the world, but their task in accomplishing this has implied an enormous strain upon their powers. So great a strain has not been conducive to the prolongation of their existence and to the perpetuation of their kind. Races of people are like breeds of horses and cattle, or like stocks in plants. They last for awhile, but not forever, disappearing sooner or later. If a severe strain is put upon them in one way or another, they will pass away so much the more quickly. The high culture we are giving our children, stimulating their mental activities to the utmost, has the effect of reducing the number and physical strength of their offspring, thus shortening the life of their race."

"So, owing to such causes as these, we find that the blue eyed and light haired people are diminishing in numbers at a very rapid rate. We take notice of it in the women particularly. Soon must we say, 'Farewell, ye golden tresses and violet orbs!' During centuries to come the dark people are destined to achieve and hold domination in the world, until, as is very likely, the cycle of complexion has gone around and the blond shall rule again." - Washington Star.
