AFTER all, the woman's pocket is but an index to the mind feminine. No mere man can ever hope to fathom its mysteries.—San Francisco News Letter.

Deserving Prizes.
We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, as we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. There remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Snipes & Kinnersly's druggists.

AN Indian princess, the daughter of a Pawnee chief, and whose name in English is Rose Howell, does the housework for a Denver family. She was educated at the Carlisle school.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to her house work. E. H. Johnson, of C. J. Knutson & Co., Kensington, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

A Strength-Giving Drug.
Much has been heard of late of drugs, leaves of plants, etc., with the property of conferring upon mankind the power to withstand fatigue. A pastil which is said to take the place of food and drink was lately tested on a company of Roumanian soldiers who completed a march of seventy-five miles in twenty-seven hours, and whose sole food during that time was in the form of these pastils. First, each man had a pastil every hour, and later on three every hour; at the same time the pastils dissolved in a small quantity of water were supplied to the horses which accompanied the troops. At the conclusion of the march both men and officers declared that they felt no fatigue whatever, and spoke highly of the sustaining powers of the new preparation. The pastils are said to contain a large quantity of caffeine.—Brandon Bucksaw.

Stub Ends of Thought.
It is so much easier to talk too much than it is to think too much.
Nobody hates to see a smile coming. The heart into which no rain falls becomes parched and sterile.
We may love twice, but never the same.
Hope is grease to the wheels of endeavor.
The first offense may be an impulse; the second, never.

Wonderful Snake Charming by an Old Negro Voodoo Woman in Louisiana.
An aged negress of great repute as a "voodoo," or witch doctress, among the negroes of this section, writes a correspondent from Terre Bonne, La., according to the Chicago Times, is attracting much attention, not only from those of her own color, but from the more intelligent portion of the community, and the way in which she does this is to apparently swallow a number of small snakes of a variety unknown in this section. They are of a dusky color, nearly black, pied with a dull green about the flat head, and of a dirty white in the belly. These reptiles remain secreted about old Nance's cabin until she gives a peculiar whistling call, when they will come to her, wriggling in great haste over the floor, up her dress, and run into her open mouth, hissing hideously. They disappear and remain hidden sometimes for minutes. She asserts that they are concealed in her stomach until she recalls them, when they will come pouring out to writhe about her scraggy neck and coil in her bosom.
Where the snakes really go when they vanish in her mouth is a mystery and has puzzled all the physicians about, many having come from New Orleans to witness the phenomenon. Some really believe that the snakes do go down into the stomach, while others are convinced the witch is simply playing some sleight-of-hand trick on them, but if the latter is the case it is so cleverly done that there is no detecting the performance.
The witch presents a most extraordinary and hideous appearance sitting with the snakes darting their flat heads in and out of her toothless mouth, with their little bead-like eyes snapping as if in fury all about their mistress. As nearly as they can be counted there are six or seven of these reptiles, though old Nance says there are many more, but they are all so much of a size and color that they cannot be identified. They are probably of a harmless nature, though old Nance declares they are highly poisonous and no one wishes to experiment with them.
