A Fierce Fire Raging in Alleghany, King James' first trip.

MANY BUSINESS BLOCKS BURNED

Engines Sent to the Rescue From Neighboring Cities--- The Steel Ship King James Burned

at Sea.

PITTSBURG, April 4.-A big fire is raging in Alleghany. It started in Godfrey & Clark's warehouse, a fourto Eberhardt & Ober's malthouse, elevator and warehouse. At 3:30 these buildings were entirely destroyed, and the fire is still spreading, with a high wind blowing. The entire fire department is at work, and Fittsburg has been asked for help. Godfrey & Clark lose $65,000; Eberhardt & Ober, dwellings. The lumber-yard of Cupp & pickle works are threatened.

3:50 p. m .- The Hope cotton mills, Cupp & Volghtley's planing mill, Heinz' pickle warehouse are all burning, and leather works, the Globe varnish works, probably go next. The wind is blowing a gale, and sparks are flying in all directions. People for a dozen blocks around are busy extinguishing small fires on

The flames are now spreading toward the river, and 12 large tenement houses are threatened. The occupants are moving out. Engines have been sent from this 4:20 p. m.—The fire is believed to be under control. The rumor that a child was burned to death is not verified.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4 .- A boat containing the first mate, 13 men and two apprentices of the four-masted steel ship the temperature would be greatly below King James, coal laden, from Newcastle, England, for San Francisco, has landed at Point Conception, on the southern California coast. The coal took fire on March 19th. On the 30th an explosion occurred which tore up the deck in all directions, and the ship was soon ablaze. At midnight, seeing the fire was still increasing, the crew abandoned their efforts to control the flames and took to the boats after securing the best of their effects. Captain W. Drummond, his son and 15 men occupied one boat, while the first mate and the others took the second boat. April 1st a gale came up, and after it had spent itself the captain's boat was not in sight. The first mate, William Muldoon, says that Captain Drummond was very cautious, and he would not carry sail to any great extent, and may be heard from at any hour. After leaving the vessel they put themselves in tow of her till 3 a. m., March 31st, when it was decided to abandon the ship and make for Point Conception, which was found by observation to be 258 miles away, or San Francisco, which was but 200 miles. National * Bank, However, northwest winds seemed to be the best course to follow, and they headed southeast, and on the night of April 2 about 7 o'clock the mate came in sight of the Point Conception light. They let go anchor when within three or four miles of the point, and decided to wait until daylight before attempting to make a landing. About 3 in the morning a three-masted steamer passed going north. The first mate ordered a blue light sent up, the last one they had left, but the steamer paid no attention to their signal, although they had to change their course in order to avoid running the boat down. About 5 a. m., while two miles from shore, the steamer Bonita passed going north. All of the sixteen men stood up in the boat and waved their coats to try to attract their attention, but to no avail, so they came on to the shere, south of Point Conception lighthouse, and landed on the Supposed Roslyn Bank Robbers.

Baker City, April 4. - There was a fury of excitement on the streets yesterday afternoon when it became known that Deputy Sheriff Banks, accompanied by Detectives Farley and Eaton of To Fill a Professional Engagement-Washington, arrived in the city to arrest Tom, William and George McCarty, supposed Roslyn bank robbers. The Washington officer called to their assistance Sheriff Conde and his deputies. called at Wm. McCarty's residence. The detective stopped at the gate, and was covered by Winchesters in the hands of Tom and William. The officer was relieved of his rifle and a stepson of William held Conde prisoner posse of men were sent out and are in in the evening with George McCarty 3:40 p. m.—The fire has spread to 12 and lodged him in jail. The Washing-Volghtley is also on fire, and the Heinz individual who robbed the Denver bank of $21,000 two years ago.

TEMPERATURE.

The mean temperature for the month was from two to six degrees before the March normal, the greatest deficiency being at Walla Walla, and the least at Roseburg. The month was devoid of any low temperatures of any note; but had, however, a succession of days when the normal. This closes the fourth consecutive months during which the temperature has been below the normal.

The precipitation has been about the one to two and one-half inches. The precipitation was unusually well distributed, it raining on a greater number I wrote in my last letter that Mr. Clark of days than is usual.

There was an excess of cloudy weather and a marked deficiency in sunshine.

The cool, cloudy weather and frequent rains have retarded the growth of vegetation. Spring plowing and seeding have been delayed. The ground is too wet affection that had been mine during the for garden making. The fruit buds are swelling. Some varieties are showing colored ends of buds, but usually by the 'Father told me I must give you up, close of March the peach, apricot, almond and cherry trees are in full bloom. Winter wheat has rooted and stooled well, there has been little winter frozen; present prospects point to a most successful and prosperous year.

Lambing has commenced in some localities; the stock wintered well and spring opens to the stockmen most favorably, for his winter loss has been ing shrubs and vines, hedge plants, etc., small, his stock in good condition and fair prices rule the market.

A Well-Known Actor Spicides by Jumping Off a Steamship.

WAS COMING TO THE COAST

Killed Himself in a Fit of Despondency.

New York, April 4 .- It was John W. Conde and Francis went to Haines and Summers, the well-known actor, who committed suicide by jumping overboard from a Pacific Mail Steamship on the story building. It spread rapidly upon the sheriff entering the house he passage from Panama to San Diego, Cal., last week. He was born in Kentucky 38 years ago. He went to San Francisco while a youth with the intention of making a fortune in the gold mines, but until his father and uncle escaped. A instead went on the stage. Mr. Summers soon returned to the East, and hot pursuit. Deputy Kinnison and proving himself a clever actor found no Farley went to McEwan and returned difficulty in obtaining good positions in the best theatrical companies. He was a member of A. M. Palmer's Maditon officers believe Tom McCarty is the son Square theater for some time, also one of the Frohman companies. Four years ago, being in Chicago with a play written partly by himself, he became a star. The company was sent to England, where it met with good success in the play, which was termed "A Noble Outcast." Mr. Summers afterward, on his return to this country, changed the name of the play to "Jerry," the name of the part played by himself. Here he met with indifferent success, opening at the Windsor in this city early in the present season; his company was disbanded at the close of the engagement. Mr. Summers concluded to try his fortune again on the Pacific coast, and sailing from here March 10 for the isthmus, was on his way to San Francisco, when, it is supposed in a fit of despondency superinduced by the opium habit, he committed suicide. Mr. Summers was twice married, his first wife being Anna Boyle, from whom he was divorced six months ago. His second wife, also an actress, is at present connected with Smith's Letter to His Mother.

CHICAGO, April 3 .- The inquest on the ody of Ross Smith was held in Evans. ton this afternoon. The facts elicted were those already told by those dispatches. Among the personal effects found upon him was the following letter to his mother:

"I am nearly mad with suffering and I hardly know what I am doing. I am barely able to move about today. My sorrow is more than I can stand. I have asked help from Him on high, but, as usual, I got the opposite of that for which I prayed. The only hope I have of normal, except in the interior valleys of receiving comfort is to get such control western Oregon, where it is below the of my emotions that I can keep thoughts normal and where it is deficient from from entering my mind. As the hours go by and the days pass. I feel I am growing weaker under the awful strain. had only succeeded in separating Effic and me for a matter of time, and that I still have her affections, but now that is gone, a natural result from the position in which Mr. Clark's actions and demand have placed us. I went out to see her this week for the first time since she recieved her father's cruel letter, and she told me she could no longer give me the last five years. I asked her why her love had been withdrawn, and she said, and I can love you no more as I must do his will.' Oh! God, I am thankful my sorrow at this time can come but once in a lifetime. I feel the climax of my life has been reached and my doom is closed. How sweet would have been my sorrow if I had only followed her to the grave."
