OREGON'S ASSESSORS.

They Hold a Meeting in Portland and Talk Over the Situation.

A meeting of county assessors was held in Portland recently, at which was present the assessors of Multnomah, Clatsop, Linn, Clackamas, Douglas, Morrow, Union, Lane, Baker, Sherman and Washington counties.

A good many grievances were aired and there is no doubt the meeting was productive of much good. Chief among them was the matter of the state board of equalization raising the assessment of It is a fact which has caused much disthis town to our knowledge being assessed $1,500 for a piece of property he had tried unsuccessfully to sell for $1,200. Mr. Sterling of Douglas said that he has had to assess cattle and hogs at $3.20 which could be bought for $1,50. He would like to have the state board of equalization get a front view of the live stock in this county. "We are called county assessors," he said; "we are really county guessers, and the way the state board now acts we are virtually county listers, and the board sets the Assessor Hendricks of Sherman queried: How could the assessors get out of the plain provisions of the law, which declares that assessors must list moneys, notes and accounts? He believed that no credits should be taxed, but the law was plain. Mr. Sears claimed that while one part of the existing law provided for the assessment of notes, another expressly provides that no double taxation can occur, and that a failure to list mortgage notes had therefore as much justification as it had opposition in the statute. Mr. Hendricks said if all would abstain from taxing credits of every sort, he would agree to it; but it would not be fair for notes secured by real estate to escape when a note secured by a horse, for instance, would be duly assessed. Mr. Clark felt the same way. He said that not a nickel of evidence of debt was taxed but what was double taxation, but he could not see his way clear as an assessor to make himself a judge of the law. Sterling said: "If there is to be litigation, let it come. I propose to assess everything in sight. Bargains though I will not search the records for evidences of debt." Several agreed to Bargains

Mr. Sears, being asked how he Bargains managed bank property, replied that in the use of private banks he had guessed at them high enough, so that they Bargains would either have to acquiesce or go before the county court and swear to their true holdings, and in the case of national banks he had divided the stock among

The Dog Was Not Touched.

In a parlor car on an eastern train sat a richly-dressed young woman, tenderly holding a very small poodle. "Madam," said the conductor, as he punched her ticket, "I am very sorry, but you can't have your dog in this car It's against the rules." "I shall hold him in my lap all the way," she re plied, "and he will disturb no one." "That makes no difference," said the conductor; "I couldn't allow my own dog here. Dogs must ride in the baggage car. I'll fasten him all right for "Don't you touch my dog, sir!" said the young woman, excitedly; "I will trust him to no one!" and with indignant tread she marched to the baggage car, tied her dog and returned. About fifty miles further on, when the conductor came along she asked him: "Will you tell me if my dog is all right?" "I am very sorry," said the conductor, politely, "but you tied him to a trunk, and he was thrown off with it at the last station."—Chicago News.

Speaking of the remarkable feats of marine engineers, the Marine Journal recalls the achievement of Richard Peck, who at one time had charge of the single engine of the old City of Vera Cruz coming up from Havana. South of Hatteras the piston rod went to smash, breaking into three pieces. But Peck, after twenty-four hours of continuous labor, actually mended that piston so that it was strong and true nough to do its part with the rest of the machinery, and he brought his ship into New York harbor steaming six knots. This was a deed which, in the opinion of the Boston Journal, quite eclipses even the recent notable per-formance of Engineer Tomlinson, of the
