To our store, Saturday, we heard praises of

Our Vantine Department.

Owing to the rush, we were unable to give many as much attention as we wished, and hope to see them again, as we shall constantly replenish this stock.

The new wares shown in this Department amply repay a visit to our store.

ALL GOODS MARKED IN PLAIN FIGURES.

PEASE & MAYS.

The Dalles Daily Chronicle.

Entered at the Postoffice at The Dalles, Oregon, as second-class matter.

WEDNESDAY, APR. 19, 1893

Weather Forecast.

Official forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 5 p. m. tomorrow.

Wednesday occasional rains. Thursday clearing weather and stationary temperature.

WEATHER.

Maximum temperature, 58°. Minimum temperature, 42°. River, 7-7 feet above zero. Rainfall, .00.

APRIL APHORISMS.

And Other Sawed-off Paragraphs Hastily Constructed.

"Make me a new joke," the fond father said. "Tim looked at his worn shoes with fun. 'How can I?' he said. 'The wise man spoke truth: 'There's nothing new under the sun.'"

"Mosier Musings" and other interesting local matter on second page.

Miss Trumble arrived on the noon train and will speak tonight at the convention.

The number of school children in Linn county is 7,792. The amount apportioned in April was $20,200.

Mr. Means of this city, has received a letter, stating that Daniel Hoffman, a veteran soldier, is entitled to a pension of $8 a month and $200 back pay. The man Hoffman is unknown here, so far as can be learned, and he cannot be located.

Frank Hickey Bowen, who is accused of killing Col. Clayton, of Arkansas, is believed to be the individual who was in the Dalles at the very time of the murder and today C. H. Hight made affidavit that Bowen worked at his restaurant at the time of the killing.

The ladies of the Good Intent desire to thank most cordially all those who assisted in making the "Deestrick Skule" such a pleasing and laughable entertainment. They desire especially to remember Mr. C. L. Phillips, who filled so well the difficult position of school master, also the Mandolin and Guitar club.

The Physicians.

The State Medical Association will hold their annual convention in The Dalles some time next June. This will be the first meeting of these gentlemen ever held outside of Salem, where they have met heretofore for many years. The trustees of the Congregational church have kindly volunteered the use of the church building.

Fine Fruit.

P. J. Ambler of Grant county arrived last evening with 42 boxes of apples, which have been hauled a distance altogether of 180 miles. They were in fine condition and are beautiful. They were sold in town and this morning were shipped by steamer Regulator to Portland. Mr. Ambler cleared $1.60 per box for them.

I. O. O. F. Excursion.

Columbia Lodge No. 5, I. O. O. F. of this city will celebrate the 74th anniversary of the Order by an excursion and basket picnic by Steamer Regulator to the Cascade Locks, on Wednesday April 26th. Fare for round trip

Agricultural.

Mr. W. H. Sharp of 3-Mile called on THE CHRONICLE office today. Mr. Sharp informs us that the late-sown winter wheat has rotted in the ground and that he has been compelled to reseed it all over. His opinion of the rotting is owing to the continued cold weather and the cold condition of the soil. Until the last few days the growth of grain has been much retarded, but now is springing into more favorable conditions. The fruit outlook is all right. Favored localities will furnish a fair crop of peaches. All other fruit looks very promising.

In Justice Court.

In the case of the State vs. Stegman, accused of obstructing public highways, it appearing that action was brought without cause; defendant was discharged from custody by Justice Davis yesterday.

In the case of the state of Oregon vs. Frank Adams, accused of assault and battery, defendant plead "not guilty." The trial was set for Thursday the 20th, at 10 o'clock p. m. The defendant was placed under bonds for his appearance.

Killed Himself.

This morning at 7:25 o'clock in the Portland yards a man was observed walking near the track in a desultory sort of way, but they were horrified a moment later to observe that just before the switch engine reached him, he threw himself in front of it, and was cut to pieces. The remains were gathered up and taken to the morgue. His name could not be learned.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. H. Mahear gave the CHRONICLE a pleasant call today.

L. A. Esteb and Chas. Richmond left for Portland last night.

Mrs. Thos. Harlan is in town visiting Mr. and Mrs. Milton Harlan.

Mrs. G. Foster nee Cecile Leary has returned to her future home in Portland.

J. C. Woods of the Washington meat market, returned from Portland today.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Silver of Portland, formerly of The Dalles, passed through today en route to Chicago.

R. E. Williams' little boy, who was reported suffering with spinal meningitis, is entirely out of danger.

Miss Elizabeth FitzGerald came in yesterday from Sherar's Bridge, and will remain during the summer months.

Levi Christman went today to the Chamberlins in Washington to look at a band of cattle for market purposes.

Mrs. Herman Frinn and Mrs. Laport of Monterey, Cal., arrived today and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frinn, of this city.

Rev. G. W. Grannis, pastor of the Centenary church in East Portland, is in the city today on his way home, after attending the G. A. R. reunion in Pendleton.

THE BEST YET.

A Plan to Advertise Oregon Deserving Hearty Co-Operation.

J. M. Hagerty of Portland was in the city today in the interest of an "Illustrated Prospectus of Oregon," descriptive of the entire state and its resources. This work is gotten out under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce of Portland, and is indorsed by the world's fair commission. We cannot do better in this connection than to publish the letter of Geo. T. Meyers, president of the commission:

PORTLAND, Or., April 18, 1893. GENTLEMEN:—Owing to the fact that the appropriation made by the legislature for the exhibition of Oregon products at the world's fair was too small to issue a suitable publication in quantities and quality demanded for the occasion, a work to be published under the auspices of the Portland Chamber of Commerce was indorsed by the world's fair commissioners, and will be distributed under the direction of the commissioner at Chicago. This work will be descriptive of the natural resources, advantages and general industries of this state. Fifty thousand copies will be distributed at the world's fair. As every portion of the state will be asked to support the work so that a large number of books may be issued, each section will be represented in an impartial manner. The work will be beautifully illustrated, and will contain reading matter calculated to induce a desirable immigration to our state. We ask you to give it as favorable consideration and support as possible. Respectfully,
Geo. T. MEYERS,
Pres. O. W. F. C.

Mr. Hagerty will go to Celilo today and Cascade Locks tomorrow, returning here tomorrow afternoon to meet a committee of business men in reference to the matter.

Lively at the East End.

East End is full of life today. There are the largest number of freight teams in, after freight for interior merchants that has made their appearance this season.

At The Dalles Mercantile Co.'s yards are Mr. Lee Wilson with an eight-horse team with two wagons, loading for Mitchell; C. McPherson, one large team loading for Crosskeys; Charles Bethel, loading for Gray Creek; A. Smith, loading for Prineville; Nina Pots with two teams loading for the Warm Spring agency.

At the Lochhead yard are P. A. Ambler, who brought a load of apples to the city from the John Day country, is loading freight for merchants in Grant county.

Fred Tims is loading his wagons for Dayville, Grant county.

In conversation with some of these gentlemen, it is learned that the roads are in good condition with the exception of some places near Prineville, and the Camp Watson county.

A woman to whom the ordinary, dust collecting, moth breeding carpet was an abomination and who could not afford to have all her rooms refloored in hard woods, adopted this expedient for some of the seldom used ones. She selected at a paperhanger's heavy wall paper, dark in color and conventional in design. She laid the floor first with brown paper. Then she put down the wall paper by first coating it with paste and smoothing it down. When the floor was all paper she sized and varnished it with dark blue and common varnish, which deepened the color. When it was dry she scattered a few rugs about, and her paper carpets have lasted for years.

Shiloh's cure, the Great Cough and Croup Cure, is for sale by Snipes & Kinersly. Pocket size contains twenty-five doses, only 25c. Children love it. Fold

"DEESTRICK SKULE."

The Performance Last Evening Greeted by a Full House.

The "Deestrick Skule," as presented at Wingate's hall last night proved to be all that was claimed for it. As a representation of the old-fashioned school it was true to life, and the odd, original answers of the children were as mirth-provoking as were the local hits and puns. Following is the

When school began the audience were first convulsed with laughter by the odd costumes of the characters that came trooping upon the stage. Dignified business men, neat and careful in their every detail of daily action and dress, were attired in knickerbockers or pinafores, and the novel sight was presented of the leading women of church and society in short dresses and pantalettes. From this time on the amusement of the audience was unbounded. The primer class gave a character song, in which the words "this is the way we milk our cows," was accompanied by the vigorous gesture of pumping water by "Mike O'Flynn." In the grammar class "Tom Sawyer" made out that cow was a pronoun because it stood for Mary, and rope was a conjunction because it connected the horse and the fence. In the reading class the crying girl was convulsed with tears about some individual greasing her knee, while the irrepressible giggling girl next to her could not but see it to be funny. The boy who gestured was a telling take-off, and the pandemonium caused by their reading in concert was one of the best things of the evening. In the "gogfry" class, "Hepsibah Smith" mentioned as one of the seven wonders of the world, the North Dalles shoe factory, and a volcano was said by "Jerusha Ann Rose" to be a mountain gone on a bust, while the definition of a dormant volcano by "Samantha Ann Butterworth," was one that didn't act in public.

Miss Rose Mitchell, as the hoidenish girl, was remarkably fine. She succeeded in thoroughly losing her actual identity to the audience by her exceptionally clever acting. Mrs. Stephens did equally as well as "Sally Lickskillet," though the demands of her character, as well as all the rest, were less. The crying girl by Mrs. Briggs, was well taken and her sniffling and final breakdown were so true to life as to bring down the house. John Parrott, as "Zedekiah Honeysuckle," kept the audience laughing at his booby antics. Mrs. Dr. Rinehart as "Mrs. Honeysuckle" gave a clever piece of character acting, as the wife of the committeeman and mother of the "Honeysuckle" twins. Her verses were delivered in a stilted style peculiar to that queer mixture of timidity and egotism of a backwoods-woman who knows enough to read and write. Hayward Riddell, the "Committee-man," unloaded himself creditably of the ignorance and importance of that typical individual, while "Theophilus Grout," both in make-up and delivery, was a model school-master of the old school.

Bill Jones, in "Casablanca," was all that could have been done by a professional comedian, and S. L. Brooks, as "Mike O'Flynn;" W. C. Curtis, as "Timothy Truck," and C. H. Brown, as "Sylvester Pennoyer," at intervals as regular as clockwork convulsed the audience with some odd, unique, and unexpected remark.

The "Deestrick Skule," as presented last night, will rank first among the numerous entertainments of the past many years, and no one of the large audience who attended last night will say but that they received more than an equivalent for the admission fee charged. From a financial standpoint the production was all that could be desired, and even more than was expected, for which the Ladies Good Intent Society in another column thank the generous public. The hall was one of the most discouraging features of the event, which could not be helped, but which made its successful rendition a most difficult task.

The costumes were mostly true to the style of our worthy Hoosier mothers forty years ago. We are informed that in those days the bifurcated garment of wool or muslin was unknown, warmth being supplied by shirts quilted for about eighteen inches from the bottom, which were very heavy and cumbersome. The pantalettes were separate garments about 18 inches long fastened tightly below the knees and around the ankle. Corsets were also a luxury, being usually home made, and with a piece of steel four inches wide and twelve long, extending from below the neck to the waist. Those who could not afford steel prevailed upon their husband or big brother to whistle a thin stay out of hickory.

J. F. FORD, Evangelist,

Of Des Moines, Iowa, writes under date of March 23, 1893:

S. B. MED. MFG. CO.,
Dufur, Oregon.

Gentlemen: On arriving home last week, I found all well and anxiously awaiting. Our little girl, eight and one-half years old, who had wasted away to 38 pounds, is now well, strong and vigorous, and well fleshed up. S. B. Cough Cure has done its work well. Both of the children like it. Your S. B. Cough Cure has cured and kept away all hoarseness from me. So give it to every one, with greetings for all. Wishing you prosperity, we are,
Yours,
Mr. & Mrs. J. F. Ford.
