SAN FRANCISCO WINS

A Reason Assigned For the Victories in Hampton Roads.

DUE TO CALISTHENIC EXERCISE
The Navy Department Asks for Designs for a Submarine Torpedo Boat.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The string of continuous victories by the crews of the cruiser San Francisco in the recent boat races at Hampton Roads has caused the naval officials to put on their thinking caps to discover the reason for so much glory to one particular ship. One valuable lesson is taught by the results, according to the views of the officials, and that is that to much attention cannot be given the subject of calisthenics aboardship. Commodore Sampson, who commanded the San Francisco before she left the Pacific coast, says that special pains were taken by the officers of that vessel to give the men plenty of athletic exercise. The result of the recent races he attributes largely to the care taken in this direction. Another reason assigned for the many victories of the San Francisco's crews is that there have been practically no changes in the complement of that vessel since the men joined her at San Francisco three years ago. None of the other American ships, the department officials say, show such a homogenous complement of men as this vessel. The changes have been so frequent on other vessels that there were necessarily a number of green men in the other crews. The department officials also consider that the superiority of the American small boats is fully shown by the recent contests.

Submarine Torpedo Boat.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The navy department has invited the submission of designs for a submarine torpedo boat, authorized by the last congress together with an additional appropriation for conducting experiments with the vessel. Bids will also be received from builders on plans submitted by them, but designs unaccompanied by such bids will be carefully considered. The boat designed is required to possess such a reserve of buoyancy, as to make certain that she will rise to the surface in case of accident to her machinery or otherwise. She must also carry an ample supply of air for the crew when submerged for the maximum length of time intended. The strength must be ample to resist without leaking, the water pressure to a depth of 150 feet and for a considerable period of time. A submergence below a certain depth must be prevented by automatic means. Arrangements must be provided for quick rising and lowering, for remaining stationary and for going on a straight line backward and forward, when submerged. This displacement of the vessel is not to exceed 150 tons, and it should be capable of carrying five automobile torpedoes, fitted to fire two at a time, whether on the surface or submerged. All material for the boat is to be of domestic workmanship.

WHAT I KNOW ABOUT FARMING.

An Okanogan Editor Tells How It is Carried On Near Oro.
Farmers in the vicinity of Oro neglect their opportunities. A little hay, a jag of wood and a big crop of wild oats, which some of them have been industriously sowing since kid hood, is the output of the "farm."
Scattered over the surrounding hills are their live stock—when it isn't a hard winter—then it is dead stock. With thousands of acres of wild hay that can be had for the cutting, they still persist in depending upon that old chestnut, "The Lord tempers the wind to the shorn lamb," and when there is nary a temper and the cattle have ceased from troubling, the antique relic of forgotten days meekly murmurs, "The Lord gave, and the Lord hath taken away, hallelujah."
I know of one case where a man owning a large band of cattle kept them corralled on short rations and watered them when the spirit moved him. Loss, reported heavy—hard winter.
Hard! The snow in the valley was at no time last winter over seven inches deep, and the cold spell did not exceed three weeks!
Last summer it was too hot to cut hay; this winter too cold to cut brush; now they are too tired to skin the dead stock. Nearly every pound of butter we use comes from Iowa, 50 cents a pound; bacon, lard and hams, from the east; potatoes, cabbage, oats, wheat, etc., from the reservation; cheese, we have none; milk, nearly all condensed. This will change, but some of you will not be in it. The ranges will be converted into fine farms; the maverick branding industry will be discouraged; railroads will take our products; land that can be had for the taking up now will be valuable; laws will be past compelling a few of you to feed your stock, and the rest of you will be working for wages and telling about the hard winter "when it went 'way down to zero, and stayed there a whole week, by darn."

—Madre d'Oro.

SOME WEAK POINTS.

Carter Continues His Behring Sea Argument.

PARIS, April 21.—J. C. Carter, counsel for the United States in the Behring sea tribunal of arbitration, continued his argument in behalf of the American claims. Carter criticized the weak points of the case presented in behalf of Great Britain. He admitted that the United States asked for a monopoly of the seals, but a monopoly, he argued, could only be injurious when artificial prices were induced by it. In the present instance that was impossible. On the contrary, the monopoly asked for by the United States would encourage production, and be beneficial to humanity the same as the laws providing for patents and copyrights. Carter proceeded to refute the British argument that seals devoured the British fish in the waters of British Columbia. The fish in those waters, Carter said, were the property of the world. Carter quoted from the joint report of the commissioners of Great Britain and the United States, appointed to investigate the condition of seal life in the North Pacific ocean to sustain his position that pelagic sealing was wrong. The United States, Carter said, would tolerate the right of the Indians to pursue seals for personal sustenance, but not for commercial purposes.

A Case of Leprosy.

FORT WAYNE, Ind., April 22.—A case which several physicians, who had an examination, unhesitatingly pronounce genuine Asiatic leprosy, has made its appearance in this city. This afternoon a Syrian woman, giving her name as Schantznes E. Onchlet, called at the office of Dr. Storgis for treatment. Her face was yellow, shrunken and bore disgusting blotches, such as unmistakably mark lepers and distinguishes leprosy from any other disease. When the woman held out her left hand, it was seen that all the fingers had rotted off as far as the first joint and the index finger bone protruded where the flesh had sloughed off. She said she did not want any medicine, but asked the doctor to remove the dead bone, which interfered with her business, that of notion peddler. The bone was removed, as it was already rotten. The case was reported to the authorities, who immediately took steps to take care of the woman. She arrived in this city three weeks ago from the Pacific coast, and states that she passed a year on the islands of the Pacific ocean and contracted the disease on one of the Hawaiian islands. She will be sent to Syria, where she desires to go that she may die on her native soil.

Secretary Herbert and Mrs. Manning.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 22.—The Appeal-Avalanche's special from Washington says the goings on of the capital are telling a pretty story about Secretary of the Navy Herbert and Mrs. Manning, widow of Daniel Manning, secretary of the treasury under Cleveland's first administration. The story is to the effect that these two will be the contracting parties in a wedding soon to take place. The presence of Mrs. Manning on the Dolphin, now at Fortress Monroe, as the guest of Secretary Herbert, gives color to the rumor. Secretary Herbert is a widower, and the honors of his house are done by his daughter, Miss Leila Herbert.

Mr. Booth Much Better.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Dr. Smith said, after a 5 o'clock call today, that Booth was much better than he had been at any time since his present attack. At midnight his condition had not changed. The breaking of the $100,000,000 gold reserve was unaccompanied by any financial disaster.

REDEMPTION IN GOLD

President Cleveland Declares the Financial Policy of the Government.

PAYMENT OF TREASURY NOTES
Their Redemption, Except in Gold, Has Never Been Contemplated by Any One at Any Time.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—To a representative of the press the president said to night:
"The inclination on the part of the public to accept newspaper reports concerning the intentions of those charged with the management of our national finances seems to justify my emphatic contradiction of the statement that the redemption of any kind of treasury notes, except in gold, has at any time been determined upon, or contemplated by the secretary of the treasury, or any other member of the present administration. The president and his cabinet are absolutely harmonious in the determination to exercise every power conferred upon them to maintain the public credit, to keep the public faith and to preserve the parity between gold and silver and between all finance obligations of the government. While the law of 1890, forcing the purchase of a fixed amount of silver every month, provides that the secretary of the treasury, in his discretion, may redeem in gold or silver the treasury notes, given in payment of silver purchases, yet the declaration of the policy of the government, to maintain the parity between the two metals, seem so clearly to regulate this discretion as to dictate their redemption in gold. Of course perplexity and difficulties have grown out of an unfortunate financial policy which we found in vogue and embarrassments have arisen from ill-advised financial legislation facing us at every turn, but with a cheerful confidence among the people and a patriotic disposition to co-operate, the threatened dangers will be averted, pending a legislative return to a better and sounder financial plan. The strong credit of the country is still unimpaired and the good sense of our people, which has never failed in the time of need, is at hand to save us from disaster."
The president's only visitors today were Secretaries Carlisle and Lamont.

Has Two Years Yet.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—Dan Murphy has been informed that Collector Lotan's term will expire at the end of four years from the time he was appointed, unless charges against which can be sustained, are made. This will mean that no democratic collector will be appointed for two years. Probably when an appointment is made it will be a dark horse and neither Black nor Myer will be named. Myer leaves for home tomorrow.
Henry Grey feels quite sure of being appointed collector of Alaska. His hopes are based upon a report that Colonel Lane had withdrawn from the race.

Persons who are subject to attacks of bilious colic can almost invariably tell, by their feelings, when to expect an attack. If Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is taken as soon as these symptoms appear, they can ward off the disease. Such persons should always keep the Remedy at hand, ready for immediate use when needed. Two or three doses of it at the right time will save them much suffering.
