OREGON AT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The following is a list of the superintendents of the different departments of the World's Fair Commission. Anyone who has any article to exhibit should call upon the proper officer, one of the following:

- W. L. MATLOCK, department of agriculture, forestry and forest products, and live stock; Portland.
- C. W. AYRES, department of mines, mining and metallurgy; Astoria.
- D. J. R. GARDWELL, department of horticulture, including floriculture and viticulture; Portland.
- GEO. T. MYERS, department of fishing and fishing apparatus, manufactures, electrical and mechanical inventions; Portland.
- MRS. J. PAXTON, 815 1/2 Ave. (July 1, 1893) and Mrs. E. W. ALLEN, Pol. Jaud (July 1, 1893), department of woman's work, including the fine arts, household economy and products thereof.
- E. B. McELROY, department of education, including educational exhibits, literary, special, general, music etc.; Salem.
- GEO. W. McBRIDE, department of civil government, including state and county; Salem.

THE GREAT FAIR.

Chicago may well be proud today. A city that has attained in fifty years a growth that entitles it to entertain the guests of the world has reason for self-congratulation. That the world's fair opened today is the greatest exhibit ever made in the history of the world is certain. Never before has there been aggregated at one locality so many grand and curious things, all that is noteworthy of invention in an age of invention; and certainly never before has there been so much rapid transit of millions of tons of exhibits and humanity as in the last two years has returned in the countless iron arteries and veins to the great heart at Chicago.

Chicago has been aptly called the marvel of city building of the world. It seems scarcely credible that on March 4th, 1837, it celebrated its fifty-sixth anniversary as a corporation, and that in this half century it has grown from a little village to the second city of the country, with a population, according to the United States census of 1890, of 1,208,669. The sky-scraping business buildings, palatial residences, great manufacturing, magnificent streets, and imposing public institutions will at once impress visitors with the true greatness of this metropolis of the west.

Yet the purpose of the world's fair cannot be said to be merely a love of pomp and vanities. Commercial rivalry is not less strong among nations than it is among individuals, and that ambition to excel, for substantial reward, as well as for honor, possesses and animates the integer, just as it does the fractional part of the political unit. The utilitarian spirit of the age is toward commercial gain, but while desire for greater riches is a confessedly powerful motive, the underlying ambition of nations that most largely prompts these displays is a sincere hope, crystallized in effort, to advance and improve the social condition, to educate, inspire, encourage; for in these ambitions only can national glory be attained.

Attorney General Olney was the chief legal adviser of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway company and also of the Boston & Maine. Mr. Olney has been holding office under President Cleveland for six weeks and he has not resigned his legal positions with the roads named. On the contrary he has been consulted by them in the last few days. Mr. Olney's new position should make him invaluable to the corporations named and they should increase his salary. It cannot be said that such entanglements will add to his efficiency as the attorney general of the United States.

Miss Mabel Jenness will lecture in various coast cities on dress reform. She is reported to be handsome, refined and graceful, without any of the extreme woman's rights mannerisms which give a man the cold chills. She believes there is room for improvement in woman's dress; that woman can be attractive and beautiful in the eyes of man without making herself uncomfortable or feel that she is in danger of bursting a stay and scattering herself around promiscuously.

Mississippi is now almost a prohibition state. By a new law in that state the electorate is confined to persons of intelligence and capacity. It is found that the liquor element belong to the ignorant class and are disfranchised and counties that have formerly gone "wet" now go "dry."

The daily reports of Booth's condition indicate that he is a very sick man and probably he will not see the end of the week. Booth was a most painstaking actor, though it is said he possessed less natural talent than his father, whose brilliancy was thought to be due to a certain per cent. of madness.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego, Cal., says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50 cts. Sold by Snipes & Kinsley.

Why Hand Organs Are Sent Here.

Italy has had no national anthem, for neither the "Garibaldi Hymn" nor the "Royal March" can justly lay claim to this title. Germany does not possess a national song in the true sense of the word. Kovener's "Sword Song" is famous because of the romantic circumstances under which it was composed; while the "Wacht am Rhein" owes its popularity to its applicability during the Franco-German war. Some, however, consider "Heil dir im Siegerkranz," which is none other than the air "God Save the Queen," as the national anthem of the fatherland. Spain is not more fortunate than Italy or Germany. She has many pretty songs, but none of them can be said to breathe a purely national feeling.

My wife was confined to her bed for over two months with a very severe attack of rheumatism. We could get nothing that would afford her any relief, and as a last resort gave Chamberlain's Pain Balm a trial. To our great surprise she began to improve after the first application, and by using it regularly she was soon able to get up and attend to her house work. E. H. Johnson, of C. J. Knutson & Co., Kensington, Minn. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

A Souvenir of Grant.
 It is related of Gen. Grant that while engaged in an animated argument with Mrs. John A. Logan on one occasion, he opened his cigar case, offered her a cigar, and took one himself. He lit his own, and proceeded with the discussion. Mrs. Logan quietly accepted one, too, but secreted it without attracting attention, and she now values it highly as a souvenir.

Large Travel Expected.

TACOMA, April 29.—The Northern Pacific and Union Pacific passenger agents announce that, despite the fact that world's fair rates are not so low as was expected, all the east-bound Pullman sleeping car accommodations have been reserved for two and three weeks ahead. Indications point to a very large travel from Puget sound eastward for some time to come.
