Arrests of Chinamen will be made in Washington today to test the Geary act. Law is a good deal like a colt. Somebody has to break it to find out whether it is any good or not.

A "hammer and nail" social will be given Wednesday evening at the Methodist church. Ice cream and cake will be served and the usual good social time will doubtless be enjoyed.

August Smythe and Fred Dee, two citizens of Klickitat county, had an altercation Tuesday, resulting in Smythe drawing a pocket-knife and made a vicious stab at Dee with it. The thrust was warded off by Dee throwing up his arm, when Smythe cooled down. The trouble was over the occupancy of range. No arrests.

The proceedings of the 12th annual encampment, G. A. R., held at Pendleton, April 13, will be ready for distribution in about 10 days. This is a new departure in the affairs of the G. A. R. in this state, as it has usually heretofore taken from four to six months to get out the proceedings of these annual meetings.

A Seattle resident who has been visiting in Salem, went home recently and told the following to a Seattle paper: Salem is the funniest town I ever saw. They pave the streets with mud down place they shovel it upon a wagon and haul it around to some other street and dump it out so as to have the mud the same depth all over town."

Dennis Bunnell's new sign is a novel attraction. It is in the shape of a letter S and when the wind strikes it takes a gait faster than a weather bureau man's wind gauge. A moderate breeze shows it to have painted on one side "Dennis Bunnell" and on the other "Pipe Works."

In Justice Davis' court yesterday, the case of C. L. Richmond vs. Wm. Riley was compromised. Mr. Richmond paying the costs. Another suit was entered against Wm. Gov. Pennoyer telegraphed an answer to Gresham's dispatch to watch out for trouble over the Chinese exclusion act, as follows: "I will attend to my business; let the president attend to his." The promise of Pennoyer is quite encouraging, in view of the fact that we are waiting with bated breath for a decision on the asylum location.

The Chinese Passive.

The Chinese at The Dalles have refused to register, without exception. Wednesday a red button magnate was in the city, who communicated to them something of the reasons why they should not do so and the wishes of the Chinese government in the matter. That they are fully and generally informed is not a matter of doubt. President Cleveland has given it out that he believes the law unconstitutional. It will be as well, perhaps, that the Geary act sink into oblivion, the sooner the better. Until the time under which the treaty now in force expires or a mutual agreement is made between the two nations, prohibition against the Chinese cannot be legally enforced.

Fiske Wins.

The board of examiners for the West Point cadetship composed of Hon. W. R. Ellis, member of congress-elect, Troy Shelley, school superintendent, and H. S. Wilson, attorney, finished their labors at 10 o'clock this morning, resulting in the selection of Harold B. Fiske, a son of the late Dr. Fiske, who was a member of the medical college at Salem. Fiske is 21 years of age. He was one of the applicants for the cadetship three years ago at Salem, and scored second in that contest. His alternate is E. Neale Johnston who is a son of Col. W. H. Johnston, formerly a pay-master in the U. S. army. Both young men are fine scholars and very bright young men.

Birthday Party.

Little "Billy" Johnson, the 5-year-old hero who figured alone in a runaway a few weeks since, celebrated his fifth birthday by a party yesterday, at which the following little folks were guests: George Johnson, Clara Hall, George Obarr, Lulu Blakensy, Mamie, Jenny, Judy and Henry Fortin, Eddie Francisco, Maggie Stevens, Bonnie Briggs, Ned Briggs, Lena Sandrock, Bruce John-

Poisoned Dough.

A rumor reached this office last week that an attempt had been made to poison Wm. Gibson, who lives in the Gorman Butte neighborhood, on the John Day river. Mr. Gibson lives alone and does his own cooking, and before going out for the day he prepared some dough so as to have it ready for baking in the evening on his return. The same evening when he came home he commenced preparations for supper, but not liking the appearance of the dough, he threw it outdoors, and prepared some fresh dough. Shortly afterwards a dog which ate some of the dough that had been thrown out died from the effects of it, and several mice and rats also died after partaking of the dough. It is therefore surmised that there must have been poison in the dough, but how it came there unless by criminal means, has not yet been made clear. This is a very serious matter and it is to be hoped that more light will be thrown upon it. -More Observer.

The Fish Exhibit.

The closed salmon season has somewhat delayed the work of preparing the fish exhibit to be made by this state at the world's fair, but three carloads will go forward within a few days. President George T. Myers, of the Oregon world's fair commission, is hard at work on this exhibit, with the assistance of Captain S. S. Douglas, the taxidermist, who is preparing the exhibit of aquatic animals. The collection includes a monster fur-bearing seal, weighing 1,500 pounds, which was caught at Tillamook. There is also a live crocodile and a hair seal. The preserved salmon are the largest that could be secured in the United States, being as long as three feet and nine inches in diameter. There will be about 50 or 60 salmon in all. -Telegram.

Pleasures of Life in India.

A band of poisoners is believed to be at work on the railways in the Northwest Provinces, says a Bombay paper. There have been during the past few months a large number of deaths in passengers among the native third-class carriers traveling on the East Indian railway. The bodies are handed over by the railway authorities to the police, who dispose of them as expeditiously as possible. In most cases there is little or no property found on the bodies, not even railway tickets, and generally they are found in an empty carriage. These facts do not appear to have awakened the suspicions of the police, or perhaps they have recognized their incompetence to prevent or detect such crimes. As, however, the native passengers contribute over ninety per cent. of coaching receipts, it is high time some efforts were made to afford them protection for their life and property.

The Chinese Advised.

A Telegram reporter in an interview with Col. Weidler, collector of internal revenue, asked:

"What is the circular of the Six Companies?"

"It is a circular ordering them to ignore the law entirely. A translation of it is as follows:

From the Six Companies to our Chinese Brethren in Astoria: You are forbidden to register with the white officials, or to have anything to do with them. Our imperial government is watching this matter and protecting our people. We have engaged Mr. Riordan, the San Francisco lawyer, and another in San Francisco, one in Washington, the United States capital, and one in New York. May 5th four prominent Chinese brothers in New York are to be arrested by the government for not registering, and their case will be tried by one of the high courts in the country May 12th. Our minister has asked the president of the United States not to arrest any other Chinamen in this country because they do not register until this case is tried. The American president has graciously said: "Let this be so." You will, therefore, not register under the heaviest penalties if you disobey.

AXES UNDER THEIR COATS.

San Francisco Police Carry Them to Smash the Doors of Fan-Tan Dens.

The policemen's sledge hammers and axes have recently been busy in Chinatown among the fan-tan gambling-houses, and the Chinese gamblers are in a state of demoralization, says the San Francisco Examiner. Nothing remains of twenty gambling dens but a vast wreck of doors and furniture. Inside the Mongolians sit most of the time in gloomy silence, contemplating the wreckage about them and occasionally heaping all imaginable anathemas upon the head of Chief Crowley and his men. This onslaught of the officers has caused consternation throughout the Chinese quarters and what may come of it is considered a grave question. The Chinese hint darkly at revenge, but on whom or how it can be wreaked is not mentioned. Sergt. Gillin and his squad have made kindling wood of gambling tables and apparatus and have chopped down dozens of massive iron-bolted oak and Australian iron-wood doors. At present they carry axes under their coats, always ready for an emergency in case they should find fan-tan doors closed against them. But there is not a game in operation, according to reports. A tour of inspection through the gambling alleys and houses of Chinatown will yield surprises, and the strange sights and cunning devices met at every turn are interesting. Side doors and trap doors, passages and halls interminable make the strongest impression, but the policeman's work of destruction is too striking a reality to be missed. The doors, although constructed of double planking studded with bolts, have been hewn in parts or torn from their fastenings by crowbars. All that remains of the interior furnishings are piles of broken lumber on the floor. Before gaining an entrance into many places the police had to cut through three of these barricades. There was never before such a condition of affairs in the Chinese quarters are now. The Chinese who conduct these games live and sleep in back rooms that open on passages leading to the gambling-rooms. As the policeman will cut down any door locked against them in the approaches, all gambling places must be left open at night as well as by day, and the result is clocks and other portable articles have been stolen. The Chinese, however, are now keeping watchmen on the doors all night long, not as look-outs, but to protect the property.
