Weather Forecast.

Official forecast for twenty-four hours ending at 5 p. m. tomorrow Saturday fair, Sunday light rains and slightly cooler.

WEATHER.

Maximum temperature, 79°. Minimum temperature, 47°. River, 24.5 feet above zero. Yesterday 23.3.

MAY MINORS.

Billed Newslets to Be Digested at the Supper Table.

Now, since the seasons are so mixed. It is no real easy thing. To tell the flowers that bloom in the fall from those that bloom in the spring.

Several loads of wool came to the warehouses today.

The world's fair will open tomorrow, being the first Sunday since the fair began.

N. Harris' new store is about completed, and will be a handsome attraction for the East End.

Davis' fish wheel, the Garfield, was towed down to Memorial island by the Regulator this morning.

Four large teams were loaded with merchandise at the Wasco warehouse today for interior merchants.

The catch of fish yesterday was larger than any time this season, encouraging the fishermen quite considerably.

A surprise party was given last night at Mrs. F. T. Esping's in honor of the lady's birthday. It was a thorough surprise and a very enjoyable evening recalled.

Turn out tonight to hear [Jonas Bushnell, the renowned temperance lecturer, on the live issues of the day, said to be both eloquent and humorous. Admission free.

A fine box of prunes, dried with the Chrisman fruit dryer, is on exhibition at the CHRONICLE office. They are very fine and speak volumes for the excellence of the dryer.

James Corbett, "Gentleman Jack," came in with the delayed train on a special car, and after eating dinner, came out upon the platform. He was observed of all observers. He was dressed in a light-colored wool suit, and pendant from his watch chain was a diamond medal.

Supt. R. W. Baxter's special car was attached to the 1 o'clock train today. He says that he anticipates unusually high-water, and that since he believes in the maxim "in time of peace prepare for war," he will look at all points likely to be affected, with a view to insuring them against all danger possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Gourlay entertained the Maginty club this week, Mr. Chrisman carrying off the honors of the evening, and the "district skule master" having one more booby to his credit. At the close of the score all were served with an elegant repast. The members passing the residence of the bride and groom, on the way home, serenaded them and "Charley" says it was fine, especially the solo by Chrisman.

The German Singing Society have chartered the Regulator tomorrow, and are bent on having a good time at their picnic. It will doubtless be highly successful, as the season of the year is peculiarly inviting for a country airing, when all earth is dressed in her prettiest costume, the bright sunshine and gentle breezes inspiring song and praise to the Creator in the hearts of all animals capable of making "a joyful noise."

Business Booming.

THE CHRONICLE is the favorite with the reading public, and by long odds the leader among The Dalles newspapers. It is more widely quoted and is received in a greater number of homes than any paper in Eastern Oregon. If the present ratio of increase in subscriptions is kept up for six months we will be compelled to supply a folding machine to handle our large circulation, and it is possible that before a year has elapsed we will issue a morning, or both morning and evening editions. Just now our advertisers are getting a big benefit in low advertising rates, but it is not immediately in contemplation to change them. Our daily circulation being double the amount of any competitor and our weekly largely in excess of any other paper, we should have the right to charge twice as much for advertisements, but this will not be done, at least at present. But advertisers should remember the old adage to "make hay while the sun shines." Our job department is also running to its fullest capacity. There are 80,000 impressions now on hand to be done, and our presses are going almost constantly. Our patrons are pleased with the grade of work being turned out, as we have one of the most skillful and artistic printers in the west. Our advertisements reflect a neatness and originality all their own, and are being imitated by other papers, which we take it, is the sincerest flattery. THE CHRONICLE certainly "fills a long-felt want."

C. E. Allison's ice wagon is on the street every morning. Leave orders at Chas. Lauer's, which will be promptly attended to.

Two Prisoners.

Wheler and Ash, the Crook county prisoners, were in the county jail until this morning, when they were deported to Salem on the passenger train, in charge of Sheriff Booth, of Crook county, and Special Deputies Geo. Murphy and J. H. Crook. Wheeler looks like a "magnificent brute," and seems to be indifferent of the fate awaiting him, which is imprisonment for life. Ash is an old man who has passed the 70th milestone, feeble and tremulous, and will hardly survive the three years for which he is to be imprisoned. He looked to be sensitive to the ignominy which has been placed upon him and avoided the gaze of the spectators from a sense of shame.

For best quality 10 oz., heavy rivetted overalls at 50 cents per pair go to N. Harris.

Improving the Road.

Joseph Sherar, with a force of men, are making a splendid stretch of road from the head of the draw on the other side of 5-Mile to the top of the grade on this side, skirting along the side of the hills where it will never be influenced by washouts, and reducing the grade to ten inches to the rod, which is scarcely any grade at all.

WOOD, WOOD, WOOD.

Best grades of oak, fir, and slab cord wood, at lowest market rates at Jos. T. Peters & Co. (Office Second and Jefferson streets.)

PERSONAL MENTION.

Otto Bergfeld returned from Portland yesterday.

P. P. Underwood and wife of Boyd are in the city.

Hugh Gourlay left on this morning's stage for Goldendale.

Mr. S. M. Gilmore, who has been ill, is in Goldendale, stopping with his daughter, Mrs. Mary Michell, and his health is improving rapidly.

A Zealous FASTER DEAD.

Another zealous faster has starved to death. His name is Samuel Yaisle. He was a shoemaker, a German, 73 years of age, and resided at Monticello, a suburb east of Portland, near Mount Tabor. Yaisle was a believer in "faith cure" doctrines, and a part of his creed was fasting. He had gone 30 of the regulation 40 days without partaking of solid food, when he succumbed to the law of nature.

A Shady Transaction.

An Illinois conductor tells the following story: "We pulled into Alton one day, and among other passengers to get aboard, were two very large colored people of the common 'persimmon class,' and very ignorant. As I came by taking up tickets, the old gentleman dug out two tickets from the deep recesses of his tattered vest, and, as he handed them up, said: 'One of dese is foh me, the uther is foh her.' I looked at the tickets critically, and then, turning sharply to the old fellow, I asked: 'Which is yours and which is hers?' The old man began stammering something, but the old lady cut him short by hitting him a terrific whack with her fist on the side of the head, exclaiming: 'Dar now, you ignunt nig-gah, I done told yuh yuh'd git us into trouble, and now yuh see yuh done got de law on us.'"

SUICIDE AT WAMIC.

H. Staley, a Paralytic Sufferer, Shoots Himself in the Heart.

H. Staley, a pioneer of Oregon, committed suicide yesterday afternoon at Wamic by shooting himself through the heart with a Winchester rifle. He was left alone between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock in the house of S. B. Driver, with whom he has been stopping for several years, and when Mr. Driver returned Staley was dead.

Mr. Staley has been afflicted for over twenty-five years with paralysis, which was growing gradually worse. For some time his speech has been affected, so that he was no intelligible at all to any but a daily associate. Besides this he suffered constantly, and he must have concluded that life under these conditions was less pleasurable than its release, and so have committed the deed.

He leaves no relatives in this country, his nearest of kin being some brothers and sisters in Virginia. Notwithstanding his great misfortune he has accumulated a small fortune, owning 200 acres of good land, some 50 head of cattle, horse and buggy, etc. Mr. J. D. Driver came in this morning after the coroner and a coffin, having rode all night.

Trials of Passengers.

The burned bridge below Mosier was repaired by 6 o'clock this morning, permitting two passenger trains to proceed eastward. At The Dalles they were again halted, owing to an accident east of here. The west bound train when three miles east of Grants, was partially derailed, the tracks of one of the coaches twisting and tearing up the track for quite a distance. Nothing can be done until the next engine following from the east will pull back the rear end of the train. This will probably be the special train of James Corbett, which was due early in the forenoon. Corbett and party were booked for a matinee and evening performance in the Marquam Grand today, and now the Portlanders will be disappointed as regards the matinee.

The accident was caused by the baggage car leaving the track, and running for about 500 yards astride the track. Arriving at the narrow pass east of Grants, where a high rock wall is upon one side and the river beneath on the other, the baggage car struck a point of rock, knocking it off and allowing the train to come to a standstill gradually. If it had struck a little farther back, the passengers believe they would all have been precipitated in the river.

Electric Light Party.

The Guitars and Mandolin Club gave a boating party in honor of Mrs. Ira F. Powers in Mill creek harbor, which proved to be a very enjoyable event. The magic of night touched with poetic fancy the timbers of the long trestle, and the precipitous banks of the silvery sheet of water, while over its surface was carried the mellow harmonies of the queen of instruments, influencing the mind to feelings more sacred, and inseparably inducing

"The cares that infest the day To fold their tents, like the Arab, And as silently steal away."

Music, night and moonlight (only it was electric light) are powerful agents to soothe and tranquilize the mind, and an occasional party of this kind supplies a demand of human nature which would be incomplete without it.

Whist Party.

A very pleasant whist party was given last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Bayard. Mrs. C. L. Phillips won the first honors and Mrs. S. L. Brooks the second. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Dr. and Mrs. Eehelman, Mr. and Mrs. Gourlay, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Ainsworth, Miss Rowland, Dr. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Bayard.

Reception for Brown.

The Indian wife in The Dalles of Mr. Brown, working at Seufert's cannery, got news from Indian friends last night at 6 o'clock that it was her husband who was drowned, and was quite inconsolable. Mr. Seufert later sent in word that Mr. Brown would be home Saturday night, as usual, and his home-coming this evening will probably amount to a reception, compared to which an eight-piece orchestra would be tame, while he will wonder what in thunder's the matter.
