PREPARING FOR WAR

France Is Extending Her Frontier Defenses.

MEN ARE AT WORK NIGHT AND DAY May Be Intended to Influence the German Elections—Another Battle in Brazil.

BERLIN, May 15.—The Wolf News Agency asserts on semi-official authority that the reinforcement of French troops stationed on the eastern frontier of France is proceeding with method and regularity. The French government, according to the same authority, is likewise extending and strengthening its military lines adjoining the German frontier, planning with a view to prompt and effective contraction. The barracks at the entrenched camp have been greatly enlarged at Epinal, and two new barracks built and an addition made to the garrison. On the same semi-official authority, it is stated that men are at work night and day laying double lines of rails on the line of the Paris & Nancy railway, between Biesme and Revigny, in order to hasten the mobilization of French troops.

The Frankfort Zeitung, commenting upon the foregoing and others with official news dispatches of similar character, states that reports of this kind are obviously intended to influence the electors in the coming election for the reichstag in favor of the candidates who will support the army bill.

Justice Brewer Dissents.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—At the conclusion of Justice Gray's opinion, Justice Brewer announced that he was compelled to dissent from the view of a majority of the court. He read his views at some length, declaring in substance that the act of 1892 was unconstitutional; that if upheld there was no guarantee that similar treatment might not be accorded other classes of our population. Justice Field, who delivered the opinion of the supreme court in the first case under the exclusion act, also read a dissenting opinion. He held there was a wide difference between the exclusion of immigrants and the deportations of alien residents, and characterized the act in the strongest language as inhuman, brutal and a violation of the constitution in every section. He regretted to say the decision of the court, to his mind, was fraught with the gravest dangers to constitutional liberty.

After the court concluded the announcement of the opinions, Ashton, of counsel for the Chinese, moved a rehearing and an argument before the full bench at the next term. At present the court stands 5 to 3 in support of the law, Justice Harlan being absent. The court took the motion under advisement, the effect of which is to postpone proceedings under the judgment announced today.

LAST OF HER TRIBE.

Death of Old Jennie, of the Rogue River Indians. JACKSONVILLE, Or., May 14.—Old Jennie, the last of the famous tribe of Rogue Rivers, died here this morning after a protracted illness, aged about 65 years. Old Jennie, it will be remembered, anticipating her death, prepared with her own hands, in the most costly elaborate manner, her burial robe, the material of which is of buckskin handsomely ornamented with many colored beads, sea shells, Indian money, beautiful transparent pebbles, etc., the whole weighing nearly 50 pounds. This death closes the last act in the sad drama of an historic tribe, than which no braver or more determined ever confronted and fell before the superior forces of civilization. Old Jennie was laid to rest in her burial robe this evening.

A Chinaman's View.

PORTLAND, May 15.—Seid Back, as one of the leading Chinese merchants and the best-informed Chinaman on American affairs in Portland, was asked for his opinion on the matter. On being assured that it was a "good law," thinking at first that the reporter was quizzing him, Seid remarked: "Well, that settles it, I suppose. Your highest authority in the land says the law is good. I don't think we have anything to say. It rests with the Six Companies in San Francisco as to what will be done. If they say resist, why the Chinese will resist."

"If the Chinese resist being sent away," the merchant said smiling, "there will probably be a Chinese war. There are about 5,000 laborers in this city who will come under the law. Others than laborers, you know, are not included in the law."

Regarding a telegraphic dispatch from China, published this morning, that the Chinese government would retaliate by deporting Americans from that country, Seid Back said that such would assuredly be the case, and that if any bloodshed was split here the Americans in China would pay dearly for it.

The War in Brazil.

VALPARAISO, May 15.—Two stories have reached your correspondent concerning the result of a battle which took place Saturday near Inhanduy, between the Castilista troops and revolutionists in Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil. The account of the engagement received from San Engenie says that the battle was indecisive. General Tille and a large body of Castilista troops are now encamped near Santa Ana, which is one of the rebel strongholds. He is short of horses, but intends to attack the town and then join in the regular fight to destroy Tavarez and Salgado and their troublesome revolutionary army.

American Machinery in Chili.

VALPARAISO, May 15.—A request has been made by Chilean mineowners to the government to send a transport to San Francisco for the purpose of bringing exhibits from the United States to the exposition which will be held at Santiago next year. It is proposed to secure many of the machinery displays now on exhibition at Chicago, bring them to Chili and return them to San Francisco free of charge. The project is favorably regarded by the government. It is hoped through the exposition at Santiago that American machinery can be introduced into the mines of Chili.

The Plankington Bank.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 15.—The Plankington bank opened an hour earlier than usual this morning. There was no renewal of Saturday's run, and the flurry seems entirely subsided. The deposits far exceed the withdrawals this morning.

Run on a Minneapolis Bank.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 15.—A run on the Farmers' & Mechanics' Savings bank began this morning, chiefly by small depositors. It is considered one of the strongest banks in the state. There are no fears of its safety.

MAY WRIGHT SEWALL.

A Woman Who Reflects Great Credit on Her Country.

Among the features of the world's fair celebrations will be a congress of representative women from all parts of the world. This congress will have no specific object beyond bringing together from all parts of the world individuals and organizations laboring for the same ends or interested in any department of intellectual activity, in philanthropy or reform.

The chairman of this committee is Mrs. May Wright Sewall, whose name, says the Illustrated American, is as familiar to the west as that of Mrs. Polter Palmer. Mrs. Sewall is already on the board of commissioners for the world's fair, and deserves her place by virtue of her acquirements and her services for the benefit of the public.

Born in Milwaukee, Mrs. Sewall's chief characteristics and special sympathies are western. She was graduated from the Northwestern university in Illinois, and at once began her apprenticeship as an educator by teaching in the different schools in Michigan. In 1880 she became the wife of Theodore Sewall, himself a prominent educator at Indianapolis, and for several years she devoted her entire attention to her home and to society.

Mrs. Sewall is widely and actively connected with organizations throughout the country. She was one of the founders of the Woman's club at Indianapolis and is still an enthusiastic member. In the Ramabai circle and in the Indiana Suffrage society she is a moving spirit; she has also a large interest in the Propyrium, a woman's stock company which has erected a handsome building for club meetings and public entertainments. The building has been a profitable investment, and its success is largely due to Mrs. Sewall's business tact and skillful management. She is an enthusiastic member of the Indianapolis Art association, which holds yearly exhibitions and is exercising a wide influence in cultivating artistic taste.

Mrs. Sewall is a warm advocate of the political rights of women. She is president of the National Council of Women, vice president of the National Federation of Women's clubs and one of the vice presidents of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae. She is a member of Sorosis, of the Association for the Advancement of Women, of the American Historical Society and of the Industrial Council of Women.

In 1889 Mrs. Sewall was a delegate to the Woman's congress in Paris, and made an address in French which received unstinted praise for its eloquence from M. Jules Simon. At that time she was made an honorary member of the "Union Internationale des Sciences et des Arts," of Paris.

REMARKABLE HELEN KELLAR.

The Little Girl Whose Case Parallels That of Laura Bridgman.

Helen Kellar, the remarkable child who, although born blind and deaf and dumb in Alabama, has accomplished so much that is beautiful and inspiring, numbers among her friends many persons of royal station in European courts who never saw her. One of these, says the Boston Post, is the queen of Greece, who learned of Helen through Michael Anagnos, the director of the institution for the blind, when he visited Greece some time ago. The interest which the queen took in Helen was so intense that she exacted from Mr. Anagnos a promise that he would let her read every letter that Helen wrote to him while she was at the Greek capital, and when he was about to return to this country she induced him to permit her to retain several of the letters that she had read, which are treasured very highly at the court. The queen expressed on more than one occasion her surprise that Helen, who is not yet in her teens, should have so remarkable a command of the purest English, and hinted that the child might have had some assistance in the preparation of her wonderful letters. But Mr. Anagnos disposed of that thought by informing her majesty that there was no person connected with the institution who could write English so faultlessly sweet and pure as Helen wrote, since the little girl never had had an opportunity to form acquaintance with any but the loftiest models of the language. Helen has learned to articulate and can speak as freely and fully as any unaffected person. When she wishes to hold a long conversation with anybody dear to her she places one finger across the lips of the speaker and another on the throat at the larynx. In this way she understands every word that is uttered as rapidly as could be understood by a person with good eyesight and hearing.

CONUNDRUMS.

WHAT tree bears the most toothsome fruit? Dentistry.

WHEN do we find a grain of truth? When we cereal facts.

WHY does Cupid carry an arrow? Because it is a weapon for the beau.

WHY should consumptives avoid Java? Because it is a coffee place.

WHY do people shout when they go into caves? They are hollow places.

WHEN people are quarreling out-of-doors what should they do? Co-in-side.
