Excessive Freight Rates.
 Mr. W. E. Henrici of Sauvies island, 25 miles below Portland, who recently bought the Rice farm on 15-Mile, will move at once upon his property and engage in the hog-raising business. He purposed to ship eight head of stock by the Regulator at once, which would have cost less than $2 a head. Finding that the lower boat was temporarily disabled, he applied for rates to the Union Pacific and was informed the charges would be $9 per head. As he considered this too expensive, he took all of his stock back to the island, except two horses, which he was compelled to have here. Through the interposition of a friend he secured a reduction of fifty cents each on the two, but which yet rendered the figure excessive. He now informs the CHRONICLE that he will wait for the boat if it takes two years.
 Mr. Henrici believes the people of The Dalles should be proud of their boat line, and has the highest opinion of the gentlemanly conduct of the boat men, "from the deck hands up to the pilot house," which, he says, is in striking contrast with the treatment he received at the hands of the railroad officials in Portland, who, he affirms, are educated past the stage which dictates autocratic boorishness, but do not nevertheless practice gentlemanly manners.

Musical.
 A very pleasant musical entertainment was given last evening by the young ladies of Mrs. Rinehart's Sunday school class at the residence of Dr. Rinehart. At an early hour the parlors were filled to overflowing with the invited guests, and ice cream and cake were served during the evening. The following programme was given:
 Song by class, "My Old Cabin Home."
 Song by class, "The Man With the Elephant on His Hands."
 Recitation, Miss Fredden.
 Song by class, "I'm going Home to Chloe."
 Song by class, "My Old Kentucky Home."
 Instrumental duet, Misses Brooks and Laura Thompson.
 Vocal duet, Misses Ruth Cooper and Brooks.
 Instrumental solo, Miss Fredden.
 Reading, Miss Sterling.
 Song by class, "Nellie Gray."
 Round by class.
The Lover's Lament.
 Your face is like a drooping flower,
 Sweetheart!
 I see you fading, hour by hour,
 Sweetheart!
 Your rounded outlines waste away,
 In vain I weep, in vain I pray,
 What power Death's cruel hand can stay?
 Sweetheart, Sweetheart!
 Why, nothing but Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It imparts strength to the failing system, cures organic troubles, and for debilitated and feeble women generally, is unequalled. It dispels melancholy and nervousness, and builds up both flesh and strength. Guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it refunded.

Notice.
 Owing to the present stage of water we have been compelled to discontinue through connection to Portland. Steamer Regulator will make a trip, Dalles to Cascades and return, every Saturday. Through business will be resumed as soon as possible. D. F. & A. N. Co.
 Go to N. Harris for fine prints; 20 yards for $1.

A LIVELY ROW.
 Followed This Morning by a Laughable Incident.
 A row occurred last night at Wiseman's saloon wherein Tom Strickland, a tough character, had a racket with "Rocky" the bartender. He threatened to kill him, and began throwing whisky glasses, the cigar lighter, etc., at the head of "Rocky." After being hit twice on the head, "Rocky" commenced to get a little wrathful and, grabbing a gun, ran around from behind the bar saying: "Now you have threatened to kill me, if you don't get out immediately I will shoot you." At this juncture Officer Gibson opportunely arrived and arrested Strickland, taking him to the city jail. Some time in the night he escaped out of a small hole.
 A humorous incident occurred in this connection. A crowd gathered looking at the twisted bars and the small hole through which it seemed miraculous any ordinary 140 pound man could escape, and Thos. Joles, believing that holes in general are larger than they seem, offered to bet $20 that he could get through the same hole. The bet was promptly accepted by W. E. Garretson. Joles, who is one of our largest men and who could get the portfolio of state if he tried, just for ponderosity, pulled off his coat and started in. First he thrust one leg through, which shut out the daylight completely. Then he tried to push his head through, but the hole was one size too small. With a despairing glance downward at his stomach, he wheeled around and said: "Take the stakes: I'm no eel."
PERSONAL MENTION.
 Rev. W. C. Curtis goes to Hood River today.

THE PIONEER ASSOCIATION.
 Plans for a Good Time—Circular Asks for Replies.
 The Twentieth annual reunion of the Oregon Pioneer Association begins at Portland in June. The circular in reference to the meeting says: "Plans are being made for a good time and nothing but the absence of pioneers will prevent this being a most enjoyable occasion. Those who were present two years ago will remember the special feature of the evening of pioneer day. The auxiliary committee of pioneer ladies of this city are preparing something similar this year, but even more interesting, so that those who are not present will miss a rare treat. Reduced rates have been secured over the Southern Pacific Co.'s lines, and it is believed that other lines entering Portland will grant reductions. Hon. N. L. Butler of Dallas, Polk county, has consented to deliver the annual address, and Hon. Seymour W. Condon of Eugene, Lane county, the occasional address."
 The circular further says: "Fellow pioneers, death is thinning our ranks rapidly. There are many among you who have not as yet identified yourselves with this association. You are earnestly urged to come and have your name and a brief history of your life enrolled on the association register. All who came prior to 1855 may become members. Let us who survive come together in our annual meeting to renew the friendships formed in the times that tried us, and recall the experiences of the early days by which it became possible to found a great and prosperous commonwealth—our own loved Oregon. Those having relics of pioneer life of any kind—cooking utensils, farming implements, looms, spinning wheels, old letters—anything used in pioneer days or brought across the plains—are earnestly requested to inform the secretary of the fact, and if agreeable he will forward blank descriptive circular, by which a history of the article may be obtained, and also a tag which will secure free transportation to this city. The purpose of this is to secure a permanent collection of such articles for the association, and to make it a feature of each annual reunion. A number of articles have already been secured; among other things a wagon that was brought across the plains in 1852 will be on exhibition."
