JUNE JOTTINGS.

Fifth and Point Paragraphed by Our Fencil Pushers.

Columbus stood an egg on end four hundred years ago. By slightly breaking its frail shell—A simple trick, you know; And Mrs. Potter Palmer now Has to his level soared. By driving straight a nail into A hole already bored. —Kansas City Journal.

Circuit court adjourned yesterday for the term.

The Portland city council now stands six democrats, four republicans and one populist.

In the suit of Floyd vs. Monahan, for the recovery of a horse the jury rendered a verdict for the plaintiff.

Rev. C. Buchler of Portland will preach in the German Lutheran church, on Ninth street, this evening at 8 o'clock.

The commencement exercises of St. Mary's academy will take place in The Dalles on Thursday, June 15th, at 2 o'clock p. m.

The salmon pack for the season to May 31st, according to the most reliable sources of information, is almost 80,000 cases, or about 24,000 cases short, last year's pack for the same time being 104,000.

A vein of coal four feet and two inches thick has been opened up eight miles from Alba in the Camas prairie country. Portland parties are interesting themselves in the newly-discovered coal fields.

Wm. Walker and brother of Sherman county called this morning and report prospects very encouraging. They say that the winds have not injured grain so far, and since cooler weather is predicted for next few days the crops will be entirely out of danger.

News comes almost daily of the drowning of fishermen at Astoria. These individuals take foolish chances to increase their catch of fish and thus often lose their lives. The lesson seems to be lost upon the remainder, who take the same desperate chances with angry waves as their luckless predecessors.

Pat Kine of Pendleton raised two hogs born last July which weighed 670 pounds, and two others 650 pounds. The other day he sold a couple that were a little more than a year old and weighed 950 pounds. Cannot some Wasco county hog raiser furnish The CHRONICLE with a report as good. The Pendleton man's statement is not accompanied with an affidavit.

The high wind today lashed the waves of the Columbia into a fury, and the little sail boats tossed over them like corks, making the sport of boat riding quite exhilarating if a trifle dangerous.

Senator Cogswell's bill, making it obligatory upon the part of stockmen to record their brands, provides that all brands of cattle shall be recorded in the county where the owner resides or where such animals usually range; and no evidence of ownership by brand shall be permitted in any court of this state on or after Nov. 1, 1894, unless such brand shall have been recorded.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

John Booth Has Both Legs Badly Injured.

Yesterday morning Jos. Booth, aged 65 years, and employed as a carpenter in the Union Pacific works, met with a terrible accident. He was engaged at some work in the yard when a heavy transfer table came in his direction, striking both of his legs. One was completely fractured below the knee, and the calf of the other was so badly lacerated that it bore the appearance as if it had been chewed by a dog.

Mr. Booth suffered intense pain, and was conveyed to St. Vincent's hospital for treatment. He is a widower and has two daughters living in Albina.—Tele-gram.

Mr. Booth is well and favorably known in this city, having resided here for years, and is a member of the A. O. U. W. and K. of P. lodges of this city. From the report it does not look possible that he will survive his injury, and if not his body will probably be shipped to The Dalles for interment, as his wife is already buried here.

LATER—A dispatch from Portland, received by Frank Menefee, states that Mr. Booth died last night, and that his body will be shipped to The Dalles Saturday night, the funeral taking place on Sunday.

Attention Knights!

A Friend of Mr. Curtis.

I am quite sure you will find that the Rev. James Reob, mentioned in your dispatches and editorial of yesterday, is Rev. James H. Eoob. He is an intimate friend of mine, and his action is perfectly consistent with all his antecedents. He is a thorough scholar and an able preacher, and is loyal to the Scriptures and to our evangelical faith. Congregationalists will be more than happy to welcome him back to our fold. W. C. CURTIS.

PORTLAND, OR., Dec. 6, 1892. O. W. R. Mfg. Co., 315 Front st., city: Gentlemen—I recently sustained a bad fall while carrying two heavy cans, and my back was severely strained. #### COLD STORAGE.

A Good Chance to Make Money With Small Capital.

A cold storage warehouse would not be a bad investment for some enterprising capitalist to engage in at The Dalles. These have been fixtures in the east for many years, but only lately has the west taken to them, a notable example near home being Portland. This is one of the most universally prosperous institutions that could be found by the most careful seeking and gives many other persons of yet smaller capital a chance to gain by the fluctuation of markets between summer and winter. For instance, a man with a very little capital can go into a butter, eggs, and cheese speculation. He buys from the farmers and at once has the butter, eggs and chickens sent to the cold storage warehouse. He goes to the owner of the warehouse and gets a loan of 80 per cent. of the value of his storage certificates on payment of the storage and the brokerage fee for getting the loan. He gives a note for the loan, which the warehouse man endorse, and deposit with the storage certificates in their bank. With this money the buyer can go back and get more butter, eggs and chickens until he has enough stored to feed a country town for six months. The bank carries the loans on until winter.

Then when the rural supply of butter, eggs and chickens begins to diminish and the market prices increase the produce man gradually unloads his holdings, making sales from samples. As fast as he makes a sale he gives an order for the goods on the cold storage warehouse man. The cold storage warehouse man receives the money and takes up the storage certificates from the bank. When all the loans are taken up the produce man owns absolutely the rest of the things he has stored and he can do with them what he pleases.

Some produce men enlarge this speculation by making contracts with their customers by the year. They agree on a price from month to month, and at those prices they agree to furnish a fixed quantity. The market quotations may be higher or lower than the agreement. The produce man's profits come in the difference between the prices at which he buys in the summer, plus his warehouse bill and interest charges and the price he gets.

Occasionally perhaps, a man who tries to carry too much would fail, but where he agrees to deliver future eggs and chickens, he should have them in his cold storage warehouse at the time and make the price based on the market quotations of that day and the storage charge.

Mosier News.

MOSIER, June 5, 1893.

As the Mosier tide seemed to be receding, I thought I could come in without danger.

The weather is very pleasant now, and many beautiful fields of grain are waving in the breeze, which is a joy to the owners, causing them to wear a smile.

A little over a week ago there was an ice cream festival at the house of Mr. Mosier for the purpose of raising funds to procure an organ for the newly organized Sunday school in district No. 52, which was quite a success; soon there will be another one. Instead of ice cream there will be strawberries. It is not expected that the guests will get fat or rich. There is much musical talent in some of the children in this district and it is desirable to give them an opportunity to improve it by placing within their reach an instrument.

The Rev. Frank Ireland has moved into his new dwelling on one of Mosier's slightly bluffs. This part of the city is settling up with some very good people, which is an honor to any neighborhood or community.

The Rev. Mr. Stark, superintendent of the Sunday school, an upright, straightforward man, bids fair to lead the Sunday school in paths of peace and harmony. It is hoped ere long to have a large band of Juvenile Templars, equipped with all the grace and refinement that go to make society attractive and agreeable. X. Y.
