CARNEGIE'S PREDICTION.

Believes the English-Speaking World Will Unite and Be Supreme.

Andrew Carnegie predicts, in the June number of the North American Review, issued today, the union of all the parts of the English-speaking world, and sets forth the advantages that would follow an Anglo-American combination.

Mr. Carnegie argues that all influences are now working toward a reunion of the separated parts of the English-speaking world. The Americans, Mr. Carnegie claims, differ less from the Briton than the Irishman, Scotchman, or Welshman. The marvelous development in recent times of the facilities of travel, he says, tends to bring into comparatively close proximity countries that are separated only by water. The delegate leaving Liverpool or Southampton for a conference at Washington would reach that city in just about the same time as the delegate from the Pacific coast, or as long as it took members from the north of Scotland to reach London at the time England and Scotland were united.

The factor which Mr. Carnegie deems most important in rendering political reunion possible and in his judgment inevitable is the telegraph, which brings the most widely-separated centers of activity into almost instantaneous communication. Without this agency, it might be doubtful whether one central authority could act for all the scattered parts, but with it, time is no longer to be taken into account, and distance means but little when all can instantly hear of everything that happens.

Canada, he says, would undoubtedly favor reunion. The United States would be favorably disposed toward it. "Let men say what they will," says Mr. Carnegie, "I say that, as surely as the sun in the heavens once shone upon Britain and America united, so surely is it one morning to rise, shine upon and greet again 'The Reunited States.'"

The promptness and certainty of its cures have made Chamberlain's Cough Remedy famous. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping coughs, and is the most effectual remedy known for these diseases. Mr. C. B. Main of Union City, Pa., says: "I have a great sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I warrant every bottle and have never heard of one failing to give entire satisfaction." 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

A Sure Cure for Piles.
Itching piles are known by moisture like perspiration, causing intense itching when warm. This form, as well as blind, bleeding or protruding, yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly on parts affected, absorbs tumors, always itching and effects a permanent cure. 50 cents. Druggists or mail. Circulars free. Dr. Bosanko, 329 Arch St., Philadelphia, Pa. Sold by Blakeley & Houghton.

THE DALLES,

Wasco County, Oregon,

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY. It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market. The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS. The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH. It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.
