BETTER FEELING AT SPOKANE.

Indications Are That the Worst Is Over.

SPOKANE, June 7.—A better feeling prevails today, with indications that the storm has passed. The Exchange National bank was open at 7 o'clock this morning, and the other banks opened on time and announce that they are prepared for all comers. There is no crowd at either of the banks. It is impossible to obtain statements of the exact liabilities and assets of the suspended banks. Bank Examiner Wilson is here and the book-keepers are at work preparing information, but for the present the officers refuse to give out the exact figures. All say, however, that the assets largely exceed the liabilities, and this is believed by every one here. Merchants and others are offering to take certificates of deposit or checks on any of the suspended banks at par, and depositors refuse to take less. As time clears up the situation, it becomes more and more apparent that the flurry was unjustifiable. The suspensions were purely accidental.

King George's Troubles.

The disturbance between France and Greece is said to be very serious, and a revolution and the overthrow of George I., of Greece, are feared. The enemies of the monarchy have seized upon King George's well meant patriotic declarations that he would rather abdicate than allow foreign control of finances or a reduction of the coupon, as a weapon against himself, and proclaim that he is individually responsible for the financial situation. King George is the second son of Christian IX., of Denmark, and was born December 24, 1845. In 1863 he was invited to accept the throne of Greece. In 1867 he married the Princess Olga, daughter of the Grand Duke Constantine, of Russia.

CANNERYMEN DISCOURAGED.

They Consider the Salmon Situation as Hopeless.

ASTORIA, Or., June 6.—During the last two days, fish have not been running as well as expected, and the total pack for the whole river up to tonight is 88,500 cases. Today 300 boats came in to the Astoria canneries with an average of eight fish each, weighing 26 pounds. The canneries are looking at the situation as utterly hopeless for this year, and while it may not be as bad as that, prospects seem anything but encouraging. If the pack during the next ten days does not pick up considerably the total river shortage at the end of the season will be fully 74,000 cases. However, there is a probability of a very heavy run within the next week. If that comes, matters will improve a good deal.

A Mindreader Lost.

HOT SPRINGS, S. D., June 7.—Paul Johnson, the mindreader, who went with a party of five into the big wind cave to find a pin that had been secreted by a member of the committee, is still in the cave. It is 48 hours since the party went in, and there are the gravest fears for their safety, as they only expected to be gone 12 or 13 hours, and did not have a very large supply of food. His manager, Rice, spent last night in the cave searching for the party, but found nothing except the place where they had slept Sunday night. A searching party has been organized to go after them.

The Brazil Troubles.

VALPARAISO, June 7.—News has been received of the arrival at Rio Grande do Sul of reinforcements from the government troops. These troops were hurried forward when word was received by the government that the revolutionists were preparing to resume the fighting. In Porto Alegre, the meeting place of the revolutionary sympathizers has been torn down. Several persons were injured. The correspondent in Montevideo telegraphs that the Uruguayan government has ordered the frontier troops to repel at any cost the further invasion of Uruguay by Brazilian troops.

Run in Chicago About Over.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The flurry among savings bank depositors about run its course this morning. At the savings institutions, where there is still enough of a gathering to be called a crowd, there was no sign of the panicky unreasonable alarm which beset depositors Monday, and before the closing hour this afternoon it is thought the run will have wholly subsided.

English Comment on Sherman Law.

tle this morning the Times says: "It may be safely assumed that the Sherman law will be repealed by the end of the year. The act has proven to be an expensive experiment which no nation but America could stand without involving itself in much more serious trouble. The mischief already done cannot be repaired quickly, but the attitude of suspicion so long maintained by investors and speculators toward American railroads is likely to be gradually modified."

Regarding the Gold Reserve.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The Star says: "President Cleveland's statement as to the time when he proposes to call congress together and the reasons which will lead him to do so, is clearly interpretable as indicating a determination on his part to continue using the gold reserve to the extent necessary, and not to issue bonds. He desires the full gravity of the situation to be apparent at the time of the meeting of congress, so the legislative branch of the government shall have the duty pressing upon them to correct the laws protecting finances."

New Y. M. C. A. President.

Mr. George N. Bierce, of Dayton, O., is the new president of the International Y. M. C. A. He was born at Nelson, Ohio, in 1842. When the war of the rebellion broke out he enlisted in the 93d Ohio Volunteer Infantry, serving as a private for 18 months, when disability necessitated his discharge. After recovering he again enlisted, this time as adjutant of the 131st Regiment, and served until the close of the war. M. Bierce is secretary of the Stillwell-Bierce and Smith Valle Co., engineers and machinists, of Dayton O. He is president of the Consolidated Roller Mill Co., having its headquarters at Chicago, and is also president of the Buckeye Building and Loan Association of Dayton, O. He has for years taken an active interest in the Y. M. C. A.

Joseph Booth's Death.

The coroner's jury in rendering the verdict on the death of Joseph Booth were unanimous in censuring both the management of the hospital for not notifying the coroner of the death of Booth, and the undertaker for the part taken by him in the disposition of the body before an inquest or examination had been held.

The jury found the Union Pacific Company negligent in not placing a signal on their transfer table, such as a bell which would ring, or a whistle to blow, when the table was in motion in the pit. This pit is about 30 feet in width and about 100 yards long, and the table extends the entire width of it, leaving but about 3 inches at either side between the ends of the table and the walls of the pit.

The engineer, Gust Liedtke, was engaged in transferring a car from a track at the lower end of the pit to another at the upper end, leading to carhouse No. 3. Booth was working at the side of the pit, and when he saw the table approaching, driven by a steam engine, endeavored to climb up the side of the wall, but he was too late, and his legs were caught between the wall and the table, crushing them horribly.—Telegram.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 26th of May, while in Des Moines en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to travelling often produce a diarrhoea. Every one should procure a bottle of this Remedy before leaving home. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

LEO THE THIRTEENTH.

A Mail Account of the Jubilee in His Honor.

One of the Most Gorgeous and Pathetic Ceremonies Ever Witnessed—Thirty Thousand Pilgrims Assembled at St. Peter's in Rome.

It is estimated that 80,000 persons, of whom 30,000 were pilgrims, assembled at St. Peter's, at Rome, a few Sundays ago, to witness the celebration by Pope Leo XIII. of the fiftieth anniversary of his elevation to the episcopate. The streets leading to the church were crowded with people as early as five o'clock in the morning, and the English, Irish and Scottish pilgrims were in their places in the church by six. The Austrian and the Hungarian pilgrims were also present. The total number of the Italian pilgrims is estimated at 16,000, who made their entry in procession somewhat later. The enthusiasm of this vast multitude was simply indescribable. The pope, both on his arrival and departure, was greeted with the warmest acclamations. The manifestation was altogether quite as hearty and enthusiastic as on the occasion of the first jubilee. For the "Te Deum" and mass St. Peter's was decorated with the rich crimson hangings used on state occasions, and several of the altars were dressed with exquisite flowers, sent by some ladies of the Roman aristocracy. The ceremony was the same as that adopted five years ago, on the occasion of the pope's jubilee as a priest. From his own apartments the pope descended to the chapel of the Sacrament, where he was robed. Then ascending the sedia gestatoria, he was born aloft up the nave to the high altar, where he celebrated mass. A brilliant procession was formed of richly-robed and jeweled cardinals, noble guards in their picturesque uniforms, and innumerable Vatican functionaries in varied dresses. At first the pope was of almost death-like pallor, and his voice was inaudible at a short distance; but he appeared to gain strength as he proceeded, and when, at the conclusion, he intoned the "Antifona" and pronounced the benediction, which he did from the sedia gestatoria after leaving the altar, he was heard across the immense width of the church, and used strong and surprising gestures in the act of blessing. There was great cheering both on the pope's entrance and departure, and the usual cries of "Viva il Papa Re" from the more enthusiastic of the pilgrims. All passed off well. There were five stations within the church where medical aid might be obtained in case of illness or accident. The arrangements made by the government for keeping order outside and for regulating the traffic, by means of troops and police, were admirable. The old palace in the Borgo at Rome, which had been placed at the disposal of Cardinal Vaughan by Princess Bandini, and in which his eminence held a reception for the British pilgrims, has an interest of its own derived from the fact that it belonged to this country in old Catholic times, and was the abode of the English ambassador. The palace given by Henry VIII. to Cardinal Campeggio. The family of Giustiniani-Bandini, it may be mentioned, is one of the most illustrious and ancient of the princely houses of Italy. Prince Bandini is also earl of Newburgh in the peerage of England, and is allied with the Cliffords of Chudleigh, the Courtneys of Devon, the Livingstones of Scotland and other great historic families, and claims direct descent from King Edward I.

POPE LEO THE THIRTEENTH.

The proprietor of a millinery establishment in Milwaukee, whose daughter was his chief assistant, learned that she had married. He threw her trunk and clothing into the street, nailed a crape rosette on the store door, and announced that his daughter was dead.
