JUNE JOTTINGS.
Fifth and Point Paragraphed by Our Pencil Pushers.

the Kanakas send over and borrow the Chinook? "Hyas Klash" fits the general idea pretty well.—Dispatch.

The departure of Chas. Haight will create a vacancy in the city council. The name of H. Herbring has been prominently mentioned for the vacancy. The selection could not be improved. Mr. Herbring is a man of sterling integrity and sound business methods.

A great many citizens of Hood River are in The Dalles today to attend the liquor license case of Chas. Delk, which makes the third hearing of that case before the county court. Attorneys Cradlebaugh and Esteb appear for the petitioners and Attorney Wilson for the remonstrators. It is the attraction of the day at the court house and is a battle upon names.

Hood River has a fruit growers union, which undertakes to secure, for a small commission, continuous high prices for fruit throughout the whole season, by avoiding the flooding of any market. Hence, while at the present time raisers who depend upon the local market are glad to get five cents a box for their berries, Hood River producers are getting fifteen cents. The moral is too obvious to indicate it. Imitation is better than nothing.

In Justice Davis' court yesterday in the case of the state of Oregon vs. Chas. Casson, the defendant was discharged and costs taxed to I. C. Matney private prosecutor. This case was about that Mill creek road again. It appears to be the custom out there to fence up the county road whenever it suits an individual's convenience to do so. Mr. Matney had Mr. Casson arrested for tearing down a fence which it suited his convenience to place across said road.

Reports from Chicago state that Oregon is one of the states that will receive daily shipments of fruit and vegetables in season. The first shipment of strawberries arrived yesterday, and came out crisp and fresh as the day they were picked. Oregon inaugurated a daily telegraphic statement of the crop prospects and conditions in the state, and it proved quite an interesting feature. In the flour tests in the agricultural building, Oregon flour was found to be superior for whiteness and amount of gluten.

Judgment by a Justice.
Attorney J. L. Story filed a motion before Judge Menefee this morning in the case of Myers vs. Godfrey, to recover half the value of a partition fence, to vacate the default judgment granted plaintiff Saturday. Attorney Riddell contended for the validity of the judgment on the proposition that a justice of the peace had no authority to vacate a judgment once granted. He was sustained by his honor, and the judgment is still in effect.

PERSONAL MENTION.
J. C. Cradelbaugh is in town.
S. Bolton of Goldendale is in the city today.
J. W. French returned today from Ilwaco.
Hon. W. H. Biggs of Wasco is in the city today.
Hugh Gourlay was in the city the first of the week.

Messrs. McCoy and Stranahan of Hood River are in the city today. They state that their shipment of berries to Chicago arrived in first class shape, opening up as fresh and handsome as the day they were shipped.
Mrs. W. J. Lander of Antelope left on last night's passenger for a visit to her mother in Burlington, Iowa. She will be a visitor at the world's fair before returning to her home in Oregon.

POISONED SHEEP.
One Hundred of Them Die From a Dose of Salt Petre.

R. H. Guthrie, while driving in a band of sheep for shipment from Sherman county, camped just below the bridge on 15-Mile creek, about half a mile below Jas. Hurst's place. This was Sunday night. The following morning on resuming the drive one hundred of them were found to be dead, and inquiry quickly showed them to have been poisoned by salt petre, which had been scattered for no other purpose than to kill them. This is the second outrage of the kind this year, and it is high time there was a summary stop put to it. These sheep are worth from $2 to $3 per head, and there is no other way to get them to market than to drive them along the public highways. It is presumed that ranchers are afraid the grass will be destroyed and adopt this method to stop the practice, which, of course, is impossible. A reward offered by our county officers might do much to stop this unlawful practice, for if continued it will lead to serious trouble, possibly loss of life. No sheep owner can submit to such outrages as this.

Insurance Companies Retaliate.
The general manager of the Pacific Insurance Union has notified all policy holders that an additional tax of 10 per cent will be charged to cover the additional hazard created by the Oregon policy law. Many reasons are ascribed for this action. The principal one is that fire insurance companies have been losing money in the United States, partly because of such legislation as the valued policy law. Recently they have not been making money in Oregon, and handicapped by the new valued policy law, the prospects for losing money are good. Besides, the insurance companies have to pay a tax of 1 per cent on their net premiums, $62.50 yearly on bonds deposited with the secretary of the state, $5 for a certificate that the bonds are safe under lock and key, $100 state license and $40 city license. These conditions have served to make the insurance business rather unprofitable.

Any Way to Get Them Here.
A Seattle dispatch of the 19th says: The biggest seizure of smuggled Chinese ever recorded on Puget sound was made to-night by Deputy Collector of Customs D. A. McKenzie, who rounded up 32 Chinamen and one white man in a Northern Pacific box-car, which had been sealed and switched ready to be sent to Portland during the night. During last night the British Ina, of Victoria, whose history embraces several changes of name, quietly slipped into the harbor and approached the trestle where cars are switched to the big wheat warehouse and elevator at West Seattle, opposite to and three miles from the city. It is a lonely place, and the steamer safely unloaded her Mongolian freight, who, with C. Dillaway, a white man of Victoria, were stowed in the car. Today the car was switched across the flats to the main yard and sealed, but some railroad employes who were near the car heard voices, which made them suspicious, and reported the case to Mr. McKenzie, who forced the door of the car and jailed the whole crowd.

Dr. M. J. Davis is a prominent physician of Lewis, Cass county, Iowa, and has been actively engaged in the practice of medicine at that place for the past thirty-five years. On the 26th of May, while in Des Moines en route to Chicago, he was suddenly taken with an attack of diarrhoea. Having sold Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for the past seventeen years, and knowing its reliability, he procured a 25 cent bottle, two doses of which completely cured him. The excitement and change of water and diet incident to traveling often produce a diarrhoea. Every one should procure a bottle of this Remedy before leaving home. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

Roses for Portland.
Mrs. John Marden and Mrs. S. L. Brooks yesterday gathered between one and two hundred varieties of roses for the floral auxiliary of the horticultural department, which meets quarterly in Portland. They are very beautiful flowers and were donated by a great many ladies of The Dalles. Miss Jennie Marden, a member of the society, went to Portland yesterday having the roses in charge.

Another "Sucker."
A dispatch from Albany states that Wm. Abrams, a wealthy farmer across the river, made arrangements with two alleged Portland bankers to sell his farm and also buy another. As a part of the arrangements he placed $1,300 in cash with $700 of their money to make up $2,000 needed in the matter in a tin box to keep until morning, when the transaction was to be completed. The box contained bricks in the morning. The men have fled.
