TODAY'S DATES OREGON

Our Daily Chronicle
The Foreigners have stopped talking to their ship's bell.

The best gift that any American city has made to the cruiser named after it was San Francisco's service of plate to the beautiful ship of that name. There is no match of this great and costly set of plates, says the New York Sun, than the collars containing it are found above and below stairs in the admiral's and captain's quarters and in the wardroom. All the pieces are large and heavy, the largest being a huge punch bowl of great beauty and design. Every lid in the service is mounted by a solid gold base, the symbol of California, and the effect of the bright yellow on the white silver is very pleasing. Philadelphia did very poorly by her ship, now the flagship of Rear Admiral Gherardi. This gift is a great bronze clock that won't keep time. Indeed it won't go. It bears the name of a Philadelphia firm of jewelers, who would be wise either to put the thing in order or chisel the firm name off. This clock is not beautiful. Its design is artistic, but does not work out effectively in bronze.

If the silver bell that this city is to give to the new cruiser New York is as melodious as a silver bell should be the gift will be prized. Few know it, but the bells that ring out the hours and half hours in our white squadron were the delight of our foreign naval visitors here and in Hampton Roads. All the bells on the white ships contain a great deal of silver, and produce clear, sweet and true musical notes. Sir John O. Hopkins, the British vice-admiral, would stop his own ship in a conversation at any time on his quarter deck on the Blake to listen to the bells of our Yankee ships. He said that they were the sweetest bells he had ever heard and he wished they had such ones in the British navy. In that navy the bells go from ship to ship, as shadows in water change and on some ship using the bell that rang out the time for Nelson or for Blake is tolling away as it did in its hour of glory. One of Nelson's bells may be on the Australian or the Pacific, but alas! the British do not know the dates and names of the ships on their bells and so their especial memories lost. The old bells are thrown in the dock-yards and kept there until one is needed for a new vessel. They are deep-voiced, gruff bells, whose sound soon dies out, while the silvery peals of our bells ring to the air and reach far out upon the waters.

Baby Statistics.

If all the babies born in one year were laid in a line, head to foot, they would stretch from New York to Hong Kong. If they could walk past a corner at the rate of twenty per minute it would take them six years to pass.

They pouted her feet and pointed her nose and then took the new something else.

Then grandpa declared it was nothing but a "spit."

The poor mother thought the gasconade of the favorite prescription she happened to try.

No wonder her pants are losing their gait.

She grew out of one and was well in another. The torturing pains and distressing nervousness which accompany at times certain forms of female weakness yield like magic to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and adapted to the delicate organization of woman. It relieves and subdues the nervous symptoms and relieves the pain accompanying functional and organic troubles. Guarantees printed on bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

"My little boy was very bad off for two months with diarrhea. We used various medicines, also called in two doctors, but nothing done him any good until we used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, which gave immediate relief and soon cured him. I consider it the best medicine made and can conscientiously recommend it to all who need a diarrhea or colic medicine. J. E.
