The empire's interest requires, especially in view of the end of the septenate next spring, that the bill be passed with the utmost dispatch so that the new recruit calls may be made in the autumn on the new basis. Delay would influence most unfavorably our strength for more than 20 years. "Gentlemen, with a great sacrifice Germany has been united in one empire. The nation honors most those who staked their blood or property on this work which led the Fatherland to prosperity. To safely guard the glorious achievement with which God has blessed us in our battle for independence is our most sacred duty. This duty we can only fulfill if we make ourselves strong enough to remain a surety in striving for these aims." The Bayarian minister called for three cheers for the emperor and they were given with a hearty good will. The uniform worn by the emperor was that of a guarde du corps. The members of the social-democratic and radical people's party and some anti-Semites were not present. Most of the members of the center or Catholic party were present and there was a full attendance of the government groups.
