The advancing years seem to produce an increase rather than a diminution in the number of gigantic schemes. We have all heard of the scheme for expending $40,000,000 in the construction of a monster dam in the vicinity of Newfoundland that would turn the gut stream back on itself and give New England a tropical climate, so that the granite state boys could climb palm trees to shake off the succulent cocoon on their own bleak hillsides, while the Rhode Islanders would offer scant encouragement to the peripatetic Italian banana vender, as each and all of them would have a banana tree in close proximity to his own back porch. A more recent scheme is the bridging of the English channel between Dover and Calais. It is said that this scheme has gone so far that a company has been formed to secure the necessary concessions from the British and French governments. The cost of this bridge is something like $240,000,000. The latest scheme is one for roofing London and other large cities, and thus doing away with the umbrella trust. The projector has not yet considered any such vulgar and insignificant detail as the matter of cost, and hence has not enlightened the public on this point. Such schemes are, adds the American Artisan, of course, largely visionary; but they indicate a tendency to grapple with the most stupendous undertakings that is in a manner characteristic of the nervous and progressive age in which we live.

The repeal of the state bank tax does not deserve a second thought. With this tax repealed a vast sum of irresponsible money will be thrown into circulation, and to be safe every bill must be carefully scrutinized, the standing of every banking institution must be known, and even then, with the utmost care, one is liable to become the last holder of some worthless money, and those who are not possessed of such particular information are apt to lose a great deal. This system was abolished during the administration of Lincoln, and it should never be resurrected. Since then the U. S. government stands at the back and is responsible for every dollar of paper currency, and a bill is never inspected only out of curiosity. The state bank tax is one of those good old republican measures that deserves to live, and it has the experience and age to back it.

The establishment of a woolen factory in Wallowa county seems now to be among the assured possibilities of the county. A company is being organized for that purpose. Subscriptions toward shares in the company are being solicited and the people of the county are responding favorably. This is the first gleam of light to follow the darkness of capital tied up waiting for a policy. May it be the usher of the broad daylight of prosperity in its fullest measure.

Vice-President Stevenson is expected in Portland soon and the Dispatch says the metropolis should give him a becoming reception. Portland never does anything by halves, and she will do the nice thing. When she is done with him send him to The Dalles by the D. P. & A. N. Co. and we will give him a royal greeting. He won't be satisfied, anyhow, unless he sees the locks and the salmon fisheries.

The run of salmon is lighter at this point than it has been for the past four years, and what are caught are mostly small ones, ranging from twelve to twenty-four inches in length. The large class of fish have been scarce all the season. It is apprehended that should this small size of fish continue to be caught the salmon industry will be a thing of the past.

The rain of last week might be designated as a million dollar rain, for it will do that much good at least to the growing crops, and it is just as well to be optimistic once in a while. A million dollar fire and a billion dollar congress sounds bad; what's the matter with a million dollar rain?

WILL FOLLOW BRIGGS.

Presbyterian Minister Secedes from the General Assembly.

IRVINGTON, N. Y., July 10.—The action of the last general assembly of the Presbyterian church at Washington, in condemning the doctrines held by Professor C. A. Briggs has led to another secession from the ranks of the church. The position assumed by the highest court of Presbyterianism is such that the Rev. Dr. John Penman, of this place, can no longer remain in his pulpit. He has resigned his pastorate, and declares his inability to sustain longer and subscribe to the "system of doctrine" of his church. Pastor Penman was one of the commissioners to the general assembly which tried and condemned Dr. Briggs. He voted with the minority in favor of Dr. Briggs. In a letter to his congregation giving his reasons for this action on his part, Dr. Penman says: "I had hoped, up to the last general assembly, that the Presbyterian church would declare itself in favor of progress in doctrine and liberty of investigation, but that hope is now shattered. I hold that the Bible contains the word of God. I yield to none in my reverence and my love for it. I believe that the Bible is the fountain of Divine love which is able to make men wise unto salvation, and bring them into touch with Him who is the life and light of men."

The Silver Question.

MONTEREY, Mexico, July 10.—The Monterey smelters are in full blast and there is no indication of cessation. William Guggenheim, general manager of the great National smelter, the largest silver lead plant in this country, said today:

"The white metal is all right and there is no cause for alarm. The future of silver is now in the hands of England and the United States. England has already intimated that she will take care of white metal exclusive of the United States product. She wants to close the mines of the United States. The repeal of the Sherman act will practically leave England alone to protect silver, except for such assistance as might come from Japan. England is obliged to buy silver, as India must use it or fall back on gold, which England can't spare. The question now arises, What will the United States do for silver? What the reasonable supporters of the white metal demand is not free coinage, but a staple condition protecting it from fluctuation. Mexico will be able to produce silver profitably at figures that would be ruinous to the United States.

 —the offer made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's a reward of $500 cash for an incurable case of catarrh, no matter how bad, or of how long standing. They'll carry it out, too. It's one thing to make the offer. It's a very different thing to make it good. It couldn't be done, except with an extraordinary medicine. But that's what they have. By its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Remedy cures the worst cases. It doesn't simply palliate for a time, or drive the disease to the lungs. It produces a perfect and permanent cure. Try it and see.

If you can't be cured, you'll be paid.
 The only question is—are you willing to make the test, if the makers are willing to take the risk?
 If so, the rest is easy. You pay your druggist fifty cents and the trial begins.
 If you're wanting the $500 you'll get something better—a cure!
