JULY JULEPS.

The Local News Field in Homoeopathic Doses.

The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la! have nothing to do with the earth. They bloom in the milliner's shop, tra-la! and cost fifty times what they're worth.

The Villard house in Pendleton burned yesterday afternoon. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

A small child died a few days ago near Portland from the poisonous effects of eating a small piece of a green pencil.

Marriage licenses were granted to David D. Nelson and Johanna Stewart, and John Knox and Elizabeth Bartsch.

The officers of the war ship Monterey will visit The Dalles on Saturday morning by the way of the D. P. & A. N. Co. steamers.

Stockmen should offer a standing reward of $500 for a cattle thief. It would be worth more than that to them to bring one of them to justice.

Mrs. E. Wingate's new residence, which is being built just east of her home, is nearing completion. When finished it will be an ornament in that part of the city.

Matthias Koshland was sentenced by Judge Munly yesterday to pay a fine of $5,000 for issuing a warehouse check without a license, and to stand committed until the same was paid.

The Missionary Subeams will give a lawn social at the former residence of Capt. Coffin tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Ice cream and cake will be served. Admission 10 cents.

The peach crop will be short this year. They were overburdened last season with their weight of fruit and must have their rest. Prudent growers who picked a share of the fruit last year before maturity will get high prices for their load this year.

M. M. Buschke sustained the injury of a broken arm today while driving to the city from Mill creek. The wagon, loaded with wheat, overturned, throwing Mr. Buschke to the ground. Dr. Rinehart was called, who found that the arm had been dislocated at the elbow joint.

The salmon run during the past week has been very light. The pack this year will be about one-half of last. As last year's pack was only about one-half of the preceding year, the public can form some idea of the effect of the fish traps on the Columbia river. The Herald has always maintained that the fish traps were destroying the salmon industry, and its statements are being borne out each year. The present year will probably wind up the salmon business on the Columbia river.—Astoria Herald.

A committee appointed by the Lane county Farmer's Alliance for the purpose of investigating the county records, commenced work yesterday. They are assisted by two attorneys, and it is thought they will occupy several weeks in looking through the books of the county. The object of the investigation is to ascertain how the money collected for taxes has been expended and the reason for the present debt of the county. Here is the cue for some good work to be done in other places besides Lane county. Perhaps the people of Wasco county would like to know to whom they owe $130,000, and for what.

ACCIDENTAL DROWNING.

No Say the Coroner's Jury in the Case of Johann Wetzki.

An inquest was held this morning over the remains of Johann Wetzki, the German boy who was drowned in Snipes' lake Sunday afternoon.

The drowning occurred about 5 o'clock. Wetzki and James McCown had been in the lake since 4 o'clock swimming horses and being told by Henry Snipes, who was on the bank, to go after the cows, they started across on the horses, carrying with them their shirts. Wetzki dropped his, and turning to get it, fell from his horse. The horse then swam to the shore where they had started. Snipes shouted to McCown to turn back and save him; he was about ten feet in advance. He turned back and made an ineffectual attempt to seize the drowning boy by the hair. His head at this time was partly out of water, but he quickly sank. The boy was about sixty feet away from Snipes, but neither of the party could swim. They had often crossed the slough before in this way and no danger was apprehended.

The following is the verdict of the coroner's jury:

We, the jury empanelled by the coroner of Wasco county, to inquire into the cause of the death of Johann Heinrich Christian Wetzki, find that his death was caused by drowning in Snipes' lake while trying to swim a horse across said lake; and that it was purely accidental.

Wetzki had been working for Mr. Snipes about a month. He was passing through with his father when the boy was employed at the wages of $10 a month.

They poulticed her feet and poulticed her head, and blistered her back till 'twas smarting and red.

Tried tonics, elixirs, pain-killers and salves. (Though grandma declared it was nothing but "nerves.")

The poor woman thought she must certainly die. Till "Favorite Prescription" she happened to try.

No wonder its praises so loudly they speak; she grew better at once, and was well in a week. The torturing pains and distressing nervousness which accompany, at times, certain forms of female weakness, yield like magic to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and adapted to the delicate organization of woman. It allays and subdues the nervous symptoms and relieves the pain accompanying functional and organic troubles. Guarantee printed on bottle-wrapper, and faithfully carried out for many years.

Two Ladies Hurt.

Mrs. Theodore Liebe and Mrs. Frank Botefuhr, accompanied by Mrs. Liebe's son, were out driving on the White House road Saturday afternoon, about two miles south of Portland, when the horse they were driving became frightened at some object on the roadside, and started to run southward. The animal became entirely unmanageable and the buggy was overturned and the ladies were thrown down an embankment. Mrs. Liebe was bruised considerably on her right side, and Mrs. Botefuhr sustained painful injuries to one of her arms and shoulders. Mrs. Liebe's son escaped without being hurt at all.

A Second Edition of Sanger-Lent.

The small boys about town have had a powerful ambition ever since the circus left to give an exhibition. "Sylvester & Co." showed last week, and now a rival organization is in the field, which is intended to eclipse all competitors. Clowns, tumblers, tight rope walkers and ventriloquists have been practicing for weeks. One boy is practicing on the shell game and has become fairly dextrous, while another believes he could change a $10 bill so as to gain $5 from what practice he has had with strips of paper the size of greenbacks. Young America, of The Dalles, is progressive.

A DESPERATE THIEF.

Ed. Henderson Fires at Deputy J. H. Jackson and Escapes.

Platt M. Corbaley of Waterville, Douglas county, Wash., came to this city with a warrant for the arrest of Ed. Henderson of Dufur for the larceny of thirty-six head of cattle. Deputy Sheriff J. H. Jackson went in company with him to make the arrest.

They unexpectedly met Henderson at Tygh Valley, and Mr. Jackson informed him that they had a warrant for his arrest. Henderson said he would go anywhere with them, completely throwing the officers off their guard. Jackson had hold of Henderson's horse's bridle and he told him to dismount. Henderson made a move to get off, as Jackson thought, but instead drew his revolver and fired two shots at Jackson, holding his gun very close to Jackson's head. Mr. Corbaley then shot Henderson's horse, but the horse rallied and carried Henderson away, Jackson and Corbaley each firing one shot after him and Henderson firing once back at them. He went in the direction of Barlow's gate, but will most likely swing round by Wapinitia and head for Idaho, where he has lately been with a drove of horses, and where he has an uncle living.

Henderson has been looked upon for some time as the ringleader of a band of thieves that have been stealing all kinds of stock in the country.

Douglas county offers a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of Henderson for stealing the cattle that the arrest was being made for.

Messrs. Jackson and Corbaley feel very much humiliated in failing to bag their game, but there is no question but that they made a good effort, and under all ordinary circumstances would have succeeded.

The Columbia River Fruit Co.

A visit yesterday to the farm of the Columbia River Fruit company shows that there will be an enormous yield of fruit. There is not a suspicion of irrigation upon any of it, yet the manner in which the limbs are loaded would seem to indicate forcing in some way. This is not the case. The ground is sandy, but has never been enriched only from that primal richness bequeathed by nature, which being non-artificial, gives a flavor to the fruit which is unsurpassed. Two twenty-two-acre tracts of grapes only two years old will furnish many tons of grapes this year. Acres of prune trees showing high cultivation have literally showers of fruit upon them, of uniformly large size, and just beginning to tint with the colors of maturity. Apples, pears and peach plums are all heavily represented, and on trees so young that the result seems marvelous. Something over 2500 acres are owned by this company, all of which it is contemplated, will be set to fruit trees within two or three years. The reporter who was driven to the farms yesterday by Rev. O. D. Taylor, has never seen its equal. There are fortunes on our rolling hills surer than a gold mine, and the advantage lies in this, that anybody can develop them. No prospecting is required. In the two essentials of quantity and quality Wasco county excels any known region on the earth.

Mexican Silver stove polish causes no dust.

Last fall I was taken with a kind of summer complaint, accompanied with a wonderful diarrhea. Soon after my wife's sister, who lives with us, was taken in the same way. We used almost everything without benefit. Then I said, let us try Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy, which we did, and that cured us right away. I think much of it, as it did for me what it was recommended to do. John Hertzler, Bethel, Berks Co., Pa. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.
