JULY JULEPS.

The Local News Field in Homoeopathic Doses.

Of the graduate maiden
It might well be said That she's long on her Latin And short on her bread.

Fine weather for ripening fruit.
The ladies of the Methodist church will serve ice cream in the basement of the church Wednesday evening.

Remember, if you want a good magazine, club with THE DAILY CHRONICLE.
See its advertisement on another column.

The greatest advantage claimed for the far east these days is that one can travel almost anywhere for 50 cents.
Competition among railroads is the case.

Pendleton has in their warehouse, about 1,500,000 pounds of wool. Only 250,000 pounds have been sold, and the remainder is being consigned, securing advances from four to seven cents.
This is about the condition of the wool market all over the northwest.

Anderson and wife, who are starving themselves for forty days, in obedience to the crank church doctrines and faith cure, were pronounced sane enough and allowed to go on with the fasting. They have fasted about fourteen days, and Dr.
Wheeler is of the opinion that they both will be dead before their time is up.

In the society column of the Oregonian appears the following: Pine Rest cottage, which for the past three years has been the Grimes grove headquarters for a jolly crowd of handsome young ladies, will be provided with gallant escorts, well believed next week, and the return of the fair seafarers will be an occasion for rejoicing among their many friends.

"A drop more, a Gallin less," is the cold-blooded way the Grant County News heads the hanging article of the Shaw murderer. The fatal trap was sprung at 2:40 o'clock Friday, while he was uttering a prayer in German. The drop was a little over six feet, and the prisoner's neck was broken by the fall.

OREGON'S BIG RED APPLES.

An Eastern Writer Pays Tribute to the Exhibit From This State.

Apples of the crop of 1892, taken from the cold-storage and exhibited in the horticultural building, are displayed by states and provinces as follows: Maine, New York, New Jersey, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, Colorado, Idaho, Washington, Oregon, California, Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and New South Wales send 10 varieties of the current year's crop. The display of apples from the northwestern states—Idaho, Oregon and Washington—are characterized by fruits of enormous size, high color and remarkable freedom from scab. To an eastern man, says a writer in Garden and Forest, of New York city, the most interesting variety from these states is the yellow Newtown Pippin, which is the leading apple over a great territory there, and which is twice as large as the same apple grown in the Hudson river valley. Blue Pear-main, which is little known in the Eastern states, ranks second in general importance in the Northwest, and specimens on exhibition here measure fourteen inches in circumference. The Oregon exhibit of apples is remarkable for its effective arrangement, the different colors and sizes being alternated and composed for the purpose of giving a general effect.
There are 26 varieties in the exhibit, although the number of plates is much greater. Taken as a whole the apple exhibits do not adequately represent the apple-growing of the country. Most of them were collected hastily and in restricted portions of the various states, and some of them were taken wholly from commercial warehouses or cellars.
Yet it is apparent that even an imperfect exhibit is a great advertisement to the state. The exhibits from Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Minneapolis and Wisconsin, for instance, have attracted much attention and have already dis-abused the minds of thousands of people of disparaging notions which were held in regard to those states.

The Monterey Officers.

The officers of the Monterey arrived on the Regulator Saturday evening about 5 o'clock. They were attired in civilian's clothes, for which they afterwards apologized, saying they had no inkling of the generous entertainment provided for them after reaching the city. They were met by carriages and driven to Dry Hollow and Mill creek, affording them a chance to observe our fruit ranches. At 8:15 a substantial lunch with coffee was served in Fraternity hall. Their time being limited, they returned home Sunday morning, in time to meet the vice-presidential party, scheduled to be in Portland yesterday.
They were much pleased with the beautiful scenery afforded along the Columbia river, and said it would not suffer by comparison with that of the Rhine or the Hudson.

Notice.

All members of The Dalles fire department are requested to meet at the council rooms next Wednesday evening at

Portland's New Depot.

At last it looks as if Portland is to have the Grand Central station so long wished for. The foundations for the station and annex are completed, and work has been actually commenced on the superstructure. The floors of the north wing have been laid, and the steel girders for the next section, as well as a lot of iron pillars and a large number of blocks of sawed sandstone for window sills, etc., are on the ground.
Soon the extensive building, which is to be the finest station west of Chicago, will begin to assume shape. The sand has been filled in around the north half of the foundation nearly to the top, and the work of filling is proceeding rapidly.
The station will, without doubt, be covered in before the commencement of the rainy season.—Oregonian.

Reason Dethroned.

Capt. N. B. Humphrey of Pendleton who had his left foot amputated on July 5th, the result of a railroad accident at Mecham station in the Blue mountains, was brought to the insane asylum this morning by his brother, Geo. C. Humphrey, Deputy U. S. Marshal. He has been suffering intensely since the amputation was performed, and for several days past he was delirious. He was adjudged insane Friday. It appears now that the chances of recovery are against the Captain, although treatment may restore him.—Dispatch.

prospect for gold.

THE TREACHEROUS COLUMBIA.

Believed that W. J. Taffe and James Hogan are Drowned.

A report is current in The Dalles today that W. J. Taffe and James Hogan, an Astoria fisherman, were drowned yesterday in the Columbia. They left Celilo early in the morning for Grants in a small boat, arriving there and spending the day. Towards evening they started on their return trip, and that has been the last seen of them.
Their boat was found bottom side up near Biggs late in the evening, but no trace of its occupants. Searching parties were out all night and today looking for them, but so far without result.
W. J. Taffe is the son of I. H. Taffe, who is well known throughout this country as the owner of large fishing and cannery interests at Celilo.

Gallin's Statement.

The murderer Gallin left the following as his final explanation of the Shaw murder:
"When Shaw came home that evening he called for the lantern and I went out with the lantern. He gave me the saddle horse he was leading and I took it to the barn. When I was taking the saddle off of the horse, Mr. and Mrs. Shaw came to the barn leading the black mare. I took the harness off the mare and fed her. Shaw and her was quarreling. In the quarrel she mixed me in.
The quarrel was by the door. Shaw was facing the door. I went by the door and told them to quit quarreling. I was intending to take the lantern in. That time I mixed in a few words in the quarrel, and Shaw pulled a pistol out of his right hand overcoat pocket, and said he would kill 'the pair of you.' Mrs.
Shaw hallowed to me 'look out, I told you he was going to kill you.' In that time I grabbed a hammer which was lying in a little tool box and I hit him more than once; how many times I don't know exactly, and he dropped the pistol. When he fell he never kicked.
I left him lying and told her 'I will go to town and give myself up.' She said I shouldn't do that. 'Come back and do something with him.' 'I will go to town and give myself up; you will be giving me away.' She said: 'If you are afraid, I will do my share of it.' Then she took the hammer and hit him several times about the head, how many times I don't know. The pair of us went to the house and left him lying there. After a long talk I agreed on her plan to put him in the stall where the station was, when we left the barn door open and went to the house. She said everything would be all right, not to say nothing; that she wouldn't say anything. Burnt the hammer handle out.
After awhile we went to bed. She took the hammer out through the front door in the morning while I dressed myself, and the clothes out of the east kitchen door. Then I helped her cook our breakfast. We ate breakfast together.
Signed: F. W. GALLIN.
In presence of J. D. COMBS, Sheriff and
J. A. POWELL, Deputy.

Dancing Party.

Saturday evening a very pleasant dancing party was given at the residence of Mr. F. Mesplie on Mill creek.
A considerable number from The Dalles were present and a large number of the residents along the creek. A delicious luncheon was served during the early part of the evening and then the merry dance occupied the attention of the guests until a late hour.

Our Old Fire Company.

"That was a gay old company that we belonged to, Joe, away back in '68, when you and I ran with the machine."
Do you remember that big fire in Hotel Row, one freezing night, when fifteen people were pulled out of their burning rooms and came down in their night-clothes; and how 'Dick' Green brought down two 'kids' at once—one in his arms, the other slung on his back?
Poor 'Dick'! He got the catarrh dreadfully from so much exposure, and suffered from it five years or more. We thought once he was going in consumption, sure. But, finally, he heard of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and tried it, and it cured him up as sound as a flint. I tell you, Joe, that catarrh remedy is a great thing. It saved as good a man and as brave a fireman as ever trod shoe leather."
