TUESDAY, JULY 25, 1893

A young man of 18 has joined the 40-day fasters in Portland, becoming imbued with that species of religious fervor, amounting to insanity, which defies all physical laws. Anderson and his wife are still fasting. When some years ago Dr. Tanner fasted 40 days he did so for a scientific purpose, and abstained as well from exercise, late hours and excitement. Not so these religious fanatics. Their misguided faith induces them to make heavy demands upon their vital forces, working their usual number of hours, and sitting up far into the night, attending their frenzied meetings. Being unsupported by vulgar bread and meat, they are reduced to skeletons and several of them have died, and the only reward they get from their own co-believers is a curse and a trumped-up excuse that they had eaten something else in the meantime, for which they were struck with death for disobeying. If their saint-like leader would only starve herself to death, it might save a good many lives, for perhaps their eyes would then become open to the fact that whereas spirit may exist without material sustenance, the body must have its natural food and rest. The age of miracles is past, and if not the tendency would be not to diminish, but to multiply the loaves and fishes, as of old.

There is every probability of a war, in which the largest nations of the old world may become involved, if France's demands upon Siam are not modified. France will rely for support upon Russia, and the Siamese upon China and England. Germany of course will not be long in showing her hand, with an ambitious young emperor who has not yet won his spurs, and spoiling for a chance to show his prowess, and as the fight waxes warm there is no guessing where it will stop. Prof. Totten will argue from it the speedy wind-up of things terrestrial, and so in truth it would be for tens of thousands of poor wights who would die in complete ignorance of the territory they are fighting for as Totten is as to the day set for the beginning of the millennium.

The financial situation is undoubtedly improving from this point of view. A greatly decreased number of failing banks are being reported to the comptroller of the treasury, and a number of those which suspended are applying to resume operations. Money is becoming easier, and lenders are regaining confidence. It now looks as if the financial conditions will be vastly better by the time congress convenes in extra session.

New York has an infant prodigy of 8 years who has been expounding the gospel for twelve months. Boy preachers have been known before, but baby preachers are new. The suggestion that the phenomenon be spanked and put to bed is thrown out for what it is worth, and it is worth more than the parents seem to realize.

The abolition of seed distribution through members of congress and the charging of the cost of meat inspection upon the packers are likely to be two of the leading recommendations in the annual report of Secretary Morton of the department of agriculture.

The Telegram is now a folio. Hard times have forced the cut from six pages. The Telegram is one of the brightest papers on the coast, and it is to be greatly regretted this action was necessary. We hope to soon note its enlargement again.

More is expected from the special session of congress soon to meet than ever before. There is no dodging the issue and if it is possible for congress to restore quiet and confidence, no less than that will be demanded.

A Seattle Sensation.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 22.—[Special]—Again Lake Washington is the scene of an accident which calls forth the sympathies as well as the indignation of the citizens of Seattle. Only a few weeks ago Nellie Holgate caused great excitement and much expense by leaving in a boat from one of the pleasure resorts and disappearing from all her friends to let the people of Seattle hear from her only when she reached her home in the east. This time the lake swallows up its victims, and buries them in over five hundred feet of water. A strange story of love and crime is supposed to linger about the lives of the two victims. Last evening about 6 o'clock in the presence of several witnesses and only about a mile from shore, the two parties jumped overboard, and their bodies have not yet been recovered. The boat was not upset, nor did it give signs of any struggle at all between the parties, as there was no water in the boat whatever. This, it is presumed, will remain a hidden mystery as it is seldom that a body is ever recovered from Lake Washington owing to the fact that the bodies never float. It is not known who the parties are, yet it is generally supposed that there is some deep hidden mystery connected with these lives which has made them unite in blotting out their shame and crimes by this effort to blot out their existence. Thus far no one has been missed from the city, which fact adds greater mystery to the entire affair.

The annual Chautauqua meeting of the Northwest, which is held each year at Chautauqua, on Vashon Island, only 12 miles from this city, is now in session. It has proven this year, as in all others, to be one of the grandest means of education in the way of a camp meeting that has ever been inaugurated. Chautauqua, on Vashon Island, is in one of the most beautiful little coves on Puget sound. It is a place of pleasure and of health. The beautiful grounds, together with the broad beach from which the campers and Chautauquans get clams and oysters, adds interest to the gathering. Thousands of people gather at this place during the Chautauqua session from all parts of the Sound and the Northwest. Some of the most noted lecturers of the United States are secured each year to deliver series of lectures before the assembly.

The Great Northern Railway Company has completed arrangements with Samuel Sabin & Co., of London for a Trans-Pacific steamship line, with its American part at Seattle. There are about twenty-four vessels engaged for the traffic, and which will bring the produce of China and Japan, Australia and India to this country and send them from this port over the Great Northern to the eastern market. Wharfrage and docking have been secured at the wharf of the Sackman-Phillips Investment Company. This, together with the steamship lines to San Francisco, Alaska and other ports, and together with the freight trade with various nations, gives Seattle a great boon in the way of trans-oceanic traffic.

Elder S. S. Beaver, of McAllisterville, Juniata Co., Pa., says his wife is subject to cramp in the stomach. She has since used it whenever necessary and found that it never fails. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists.

THE NEW TOWN has been platted on the old camp ground, at the Forks and Falls of Hood river, with large, slightly lots, broad streets and alleys, good soil and pure water, with shade in position, perfect drainage, delightful mountain climate, the central attraction as a mountain summer resort for all Oregon, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is unparalleled as a manufacturing center, being the natural center for 150 square miles of the best coal and fire timber, possessing millions of horse power in its rushing streams and waterfalls, easily harnessed. Where cheap electric power exists, there the manufacturing will center, surrounded by soil and climate that cannot be excelled anywhere for fruit and agriculture, and with transportation already assured you will find this the place to make a perfect home or a paying investment.
