Most of them were successful. During the construction of the exposition buildings an army of men was employed. But the white city is finished. Building is now limited to the ordinary and normal demands of a growing metropolis, and there are more mechanics available than can be used. Although thousands of men who built the structures at Jackson Park have scattered. many of them returning to their homes in other cities, many have remained here. These men constitute a surplus of labor which will not be absorbed for some time to come. Not all of them can find steady employment and a large percentage will find none at all. Any man who has employment outside of the city should hold on to it. He will not find work here.

Is this a prophecy? More than fifty years ago Carlyle wrote: "The repubthe high road to the direful day. And this scourge will not come amid famine's horrid stride, nor will it come by ordinary punitive judgments. It will come as a hiatus in statecraft, a murderous bungle in policy. It will be when health is intact, crops abundant and the munificent hand open. Then so called statesmen will cry over production, the people will go to the ballot box amid hunger and destitution, but surrounded by the glitter of self rule, and ratify by their ballots the monstrous falsehood, over-production, uttered by misstatesmen and vindicated by the same ballotthe infamous lie over-production, thrown upon the breeze by servile editors through a corrupt press. And thus bring rain upon his country, seridom upon himself and oppression upon his children.

The Telegram contradicts itself in two consecutive sentences:

Two minutes later the pulsing engine came to a stop in the yard of the union depot, and the deafening shouts of the hundreds of people who were assembled there announced that Vice-President Adiai E. Stevenson and party had arrived at Portland. There was no ostentations display or unnecessary ceremony at the depot. Portland's citizens are nothing if not practical.

Now the question agitating THE CHRONICLE is: Did the deafening shouts of hundreds of people come from the throats of an ignorant rabble, or are the citizens of Portland graded?

The Krag-Jorgensen rifle which has recently been adopted for the United States army and navy, will pierce twenty-nine one-inch pine planks at a distance of 250 yards. As shown by this test it would certainly plow its way through half a dozen men standing in

No matter how bad your case, or of how long standing, you can be cured. Incurable cases are rare. It's worth $500 to you, if you have one. The manufacturers of Dr. Sage's Remedy are looking for them. They'll pay you that amount in cash, if they can't cure you. It's a plain square offer from a responsible business house, and they mean it. It seems too one-sided, too much of a risk. It would be-with any other medi-cine behind it. It only goes to prove what's been said : incurable cases are rare-with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Other so-called remedies may palliate for a time; this cures for all time. By its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, it conquers the worst cases. It removes of the sense of taste, smell or hearing, watering or weak eyes, when caused by the violence of Catarrh, as they all frequently are.
