TELEGRAPHING EN ROUTE.

A Fruitful Cause of Railway Accidents May Now Be Removed.

Telegraphing from a train in motion has for some years been practiced in this country, but in this as in many other electrical applications America is ahead of European practice. All Europe stood horror-stricken not long ago at the awfulness of a railway accident on the Riviera. The station-master dispatched a train on the wrong line to its doom of rushing into another train and crashing over the precipice. Helms were rung and people shouted, but there was no means of stopping the train wrongly started, and the station-master shot himself as he heard the crash.

This and other accidents more or less similar, says the Pittsburgh Dispatch, have appealed so strongly to railway directors for the necessity of establishing a means of communication from trains in motion that European engineers are now engaged in testing various systems whereby this can be effected. Some recent trials at Algeria are said to have been most successful. The tests included the exchange of telegrams between a train in motion and the station; between two trains in motion; the telegraphic stoppage of a train; started and out of sight, it was ordered to stop, start again, and return to the station; two trains started on the same track, and approaching each other at an express speed of nearly one and one-quarter miles a minute, avoided collision by mutually and automatically warning each other by an indication of their direction, and the position, according to kilometer posts, which they had attained. The signaling arrangements are carried out by M. Etienne, the well-known inventor. The fact was established that every train can be kept within call of the station at any point in its route, and thus one of the most fertile causes of frightful accidents may now be removed.

Feminine Undertakers.

There are about three hundred women undertakers in the United States.

Mr. Thomas Bette, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering. He says: "Last summer I had a very severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me. I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured. I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists, 1m.

The success of Mrs. Annie M. Bean, of McKeesport, Pennsylvania, in the treatment of diarrhoea in her children will undoubtedly be of interest to many mothers. She says: "I spent several weeks in Johnstown, Pa., after the great flood, on account of my husband being employed there. We had several children with us, two of whom took the diarrhoea very badly. I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists, 1m.

HAS A FAMILY OF 2000 READERS.
They read The Chronicle to get the latest and most reliable news. And they read every line that is in the paper. That is what makes this Chronicle an invaluable advertising medium. The newspaper that goes to the family firesides is the one that the advertiser of today patronizes when they desire to reach the people. When they want your trade their announcements will be found in the paper. Look over our columns and observe the verification of the truth of this assertion. Remember, a trade of a family of two thousand is worth asking for through these columns, especially so at our very cheap advertising rates.

THE DALLES
Wasco County, Oregon.
The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.
ITS TERRITORY.
It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.
The Largest Wool Market.
The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.
The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.
The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.
The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.
ITS WEALTH.
It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.
Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.

THE DALLES CHRONICLE,
Daily and Weekly Editions.
THE CHRONICLE was established for the express purpose of faithfully representing The Dalles and the surrounding country, and the satisfying effect of its mission is everywhere apparent. It now leads all other publications in Wasco, Sherman, Gilliam, a large part of Crook, Morrow and Grant counties, as well as Klickitat and other regions north of The Dalles, hence it is the best medium for advertisers in the Inland Empire.
The DAILY CHRONICLE is published every evening in the week Sundays excepted at $6.00 per annum. The WEEKLY CHRONICLE on Fridays of each week at $1.50 per annum.
