A Fight Between a Kangaroo and a Hippopotamus.

From "Some Professional Adventures of Karl Hagenbeck," in McClure's Magazine for August.

"Talking of fights, I was once turned out of bed at one o'clock in the morning by one of my keepers, who came in with the news that the big kangaroo had jumped a six-foot fence into the next stable, in which there was a large hippopotamus. When I came down there was the queerest kind of a duel going on. The kangaroo stood up to his belly in water whilst the hippopotamus, with wide-open jaws, snapped at him right and left. However, the kangaroo managed to get in a good right and left with his front legs, and scratched the hippopotamus in the face tremendously. When the amphibian came to close quarters, the kangaroo jumped up, gave him a tremendous blow with his hind legs, and then managed to get on to dry land. I caught the kangaroo with a big net, and after all the fighting there wasn't so very much harm done."

How Veragua Lost His Fortune.

"The Duke of Veragua a few years ago," said a widely traveled American, "was regarded as rich. He had a comfortable income and a large estate. It is not true that he gambled his money away at cards or other games of chance. He lost his fortune at the Paris Exposition of 1889. He opened an arena near the exposition grounds, and made preparations to give real Spanish bull fights on an elaborate scale. At first it drew fairly well, but after the first week he did not take in enough to pay half his expenses. The result was when the exposition closed the duke found himself practically a bankrupt. Having lost his fortune at one exposition I suppose it is only natural that he should endeavor to reconquer himself at another."—N. Y. Press.

I got some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy from Rev. Mr. Chapman. It cured both of them. I knew of several cases where it was equally successful. I think it cannot be excelled and cheerfully recommend it." 25 and 6c cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Bloughton, Druggists.

THE DALLES

Wasco County, Oregon.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.
