TRAMPS FIGHT.

One Badly Injured—Four of the Gang Captured.

Eugene Guard.
Last night about sundown word reached Sheriff Noland that a tramp had been killed by his fellows on the bank of the river near town. He immediately procured assistance and started to find the body. On the bank of the river opposite Midgely's planing mill he found a man lying unconscious but not dead. His head was badly bruised and cut, apparently with stones and a knife. The officers brought the man to the city in a wagon and Dr. T. W. Harris attended the wounded man, but it was not until this morning that he regained consciousness. The officer also brought the tramp who gave the alarm and who claims he is the injured man's partner. He tells the following story: They, the injured man and himself, had joined each other at Oregon City, and traveled this far together, camping night before last in the brush on the river bank at the point mentioned. Yesterday while they were spending the time peacefully four others came from town down into the brush where they were. This gang brought along a keg of beer and the six proceeded to indulge in the same freely. Late in the afternoon the drunken revelry developed into a fight. The last gang outnumbering the others two to one, naturally came out best in the melee. Stones and knives must have been used freely if one should judge from the appearance of the man most seriously injured. The narrator stated that after this man had been beaten until he became unconscious, the two were left alone. He brought water from the river and attempted to revive his companion and falling in this he supposed that life was extinct and started to give the alarm. When he was nearing the flouring mill he came upon the gang who seized him and threw him off the bridge into the race just below the mill. He managed to reach the bank some distance below and again proceeded to give the alarm as above stated. The doctor thinks the wounds of the injured man are not serious. The officers have caught two supposed members of the gang who committed the outrage and now have them in custody also. One was found at the depot and resisted, but a tap from the butt of Sheriff Noland's 44-calibre pistol reconciled him. The other was found in the brush, near the scene of yesterday's fracas by Deputy Croner early this morning.

A Sad Accident.

A few days ago an infant child of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard, who live on the hill, was frightfully burned. A little two-year-old sister struck a match, which caught the light drapery of the cradle in which the little one was sleeping. Before anything could be done its face was burned so as to permanently disfigure it, and the flesh was burned almost entirely off its fingers on both hands. The baby clenched both hands, and it is believed they can never be straightened out. They are stiffened and charred, and the parents are assured they will always remain so.

PERSONAL MENTION.

T. L. Masters of Goldendale is in the city. Mr. O'Brien of Klickitat came in today. Mary and Isabel McDonald of Grants are in the city. Mrs. A. W. Morgan left this morning on the Regulator for Wyeth. Mr. Geo. Hibbard of Astoria left for his home this morning by the Regulator. Mr. A. H. Jewett of White Salmon was in the city last night and returned home this morning. John Blaser and family leave in the morning for a week's camping trip in the Wind river country. Geo. Noble of Wamie came in yesterday to meet Mrs. Noble, who arrived on the Regulator from Portland. Miss Stella Masters of Goldendale, on her return from Hillsboro, is visiting Miss Anna Thompson of this city. Capt. A. Winans left for Hood River this morning for the purpose of turning over his equipments and paraphernalia belonging to the O. N. G., having resigned the captaincy of company B of the Third Regiment. Mr. Wm. Floyd returned last night from a short trip to Yaquina and Newport. Mr. Floyd says that, comparatively speaking, the seaside at that place has not been visited as formerly by the summer resort hunters, and but few are in camp. Mr. Dan French was again summoned to Portland today on account of the illness of his boy. Another surgical operation was pronounced imperative and the presence of Mr. French was requested. The little fellow has suffered greatly, and the entire community, who have watched the case, has earnestly hoped that he would recover after his latest operation. Mr. and Mrs. Barnett and family, Mrs. L. Dunham, Misses Grace Marden, Grace Campbell, Ruth Cooper, and Messrs. Bert Phelps, Ed Wingate, Roger Sinnott, were off for Collins' landing this morning, and will go into camp at that well known favored spot for a short season. The young gentlemen are expected to supply the table with game and trout which are in great abundance in that region.

Got Half a Bill, Anyway.

Judge Bradshaw and Prosecuting Attorney Wilson, not liking the law constituting the first Monday in June and September the opening of the sessions of the circuit court at Heppner, on account of it interfering with their Sabbath devotions at The Dalles, mutually agreed that one or the other would endeavor to have the law changed to Tuesday at the last session of the legislature. A few days after the session closed they met and both were struck with the thought at the same time. "Did you introduce a bill to change?" said the judge.

"No, I forgot it; I suppose you did, though," replied the attorney. "No, I forgot it myself." It now transpires that unwittingly and without their effort, they are gainers by half the bill, for the last legislature changed labor day to be the first Monday in September, and being a legal holiday, the law specifies that the day following shall be the one for the transaction of business. Consequently the Sunday preceding the first Monday in September they may confidently be looked for in their accustomed pew.

Hungering for Information.

Capt. Lewis, register of the U. S. land office, frequently receives letters similar in import to the following, but having little time to give them the considerable amount of attention demanded, is at a loss for proper means to pursue. It is evident that Wasco county needs a little judicious advertising, and the customary labors of the board of trade would be a good investment:

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug 7, 1893. U. S. Land Office.
DEAR SIR:—I would like to ask if there is any government land to be had in Wasco county, located within a reasonable distance of a market, part of it suitable for orchard. If not, can you inform me if I can purchase 50 or 100 acres at a reasonable price? If I could get 40 acres improved it would do, providing the price is reasonable. Is the wild land covered with timber?
Information on the above will greatly oblige
Yours Respectfully,
F. LERMAN,
506, Emerson Ave.
P. S.—I want to get a place as soon as possible.

Mollie Nichols Found.

Miss Mollie Nichols, about whom there has been considerable anxiety, has been found at last. She was out riding after horses and had crossed the Jolip Day river into Gilliam county, when she was thrown violently from her horse and sustained severe injuries, causing concussion of the brain and temporary unconsciousness. She was found by some parties, who kept her for two weeks. When becoming conscious, she requested that she be taken to Wasco, which was done last Friday. She is now at the Reynolds house, in Wasco, and her mother, Mrs. Sarah Nichols, of Kalama, Wash., is with her.

Concise, Full and Brief.

If the meat of an ox is not condensed in a walnut shell in the following communication from Tygh, then such a thing is impossible. We respectfully submit it to the New York Sun as a model for Charles A. Dana: "Grain in Wamie and Tygh Valley mostly cut and ready for the thrasher. The quality was never better and the yield a long way above the average; coin scarce; times hard; farm produce very low. Cause—free trade administration. Remedy—let Benjamin and McKinley go back to Washington." TYGH.

The reward of $5,000 for the arrest leading to the conviction of the man who tried to wreck a Southern Pacific train, offered by the company, has been equally divided between Sheriff Noland of Lane county and Sheriff Miller of Douglas county.

The school at Wamie will hereafter be graded one. At a recent school meeting the three districts were consolidated and B. Savage, T. J. Driver and F. Farlow were elected as a school board, and Frank Woodcock clerk. The meeting was very harmonious.

Vagrants are being utilized by the mayor in working the streets, but the peculiar listless manner in which they shovel earth, carry it tenderly about eighty feet, throw it down and use it, as if it covered their fondest hopes, makes their value questionable and their services often a luxury.
