AUGUST ANGLINGS.

Small Fry Hooked by Perseverent Chronicle Reporters.

The signs of the present hard times we see in various ways. For even the weeks of the month are running with shorter days.

Harvest operations are now in full blast. A full average yield is reported from most sections.

Mr. I. J. Powell, who brought in the first load of wheat, is from Boyd, Wasco county, instead of from Sherman county, as erroneously stated yesterday.

In the beauty show at Chicago there are handsome women of all nationalities. The Celestial female who represents the Orient is a Chinese woman whose former home was Portland.

Hon. W. R. Ellis writes to Col. Sinton stating that if there are any parties who want public documents or farmers who will try seeds, he will make a special effort to obtain them if they will state what they want.

A social will be given by the Juvenile Temple on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at the academy grounds for the purpose of raising funds to secure an appropriate banner for the Temple. Ice cream and cake will be served, for which 10 cents will be charged. Everyone is invited.

A full discussion of the financial situation is called for tonight by the Portland chamber of commerce. It was decided to urge all members of the chamber, and ask all residents of the city who had business with the banks, to attend the meeting, the main object of which is to secure the opening of the suspended banks.

A petition will be presented to the city council asking that the ten feet of the street which is fenced on Court, between Ninth and Tenth, be thrown open for the convenience of travelers and a sidewalk laid. This strip was originally fenced to protect the growing young poplar trees. They have now increased to large-sized trees and such protection is unnecessary.

A citizen while excavating this morning for a basement, dug up a bottle of old rye whiskey, which had been cached for some time. It is thought to have been concealed by an Indian before the city was laid off into a townsite, as the lot before the fire is one of the oldest in use in the city. As each year adds about 20 per cent. to the value of liquor, this quart of whiskey is probably worth about $25. We may get this worth about the price, but "we don't care if we do."

More News.

Harvest is in full blast. Headers can be seen in all directions cutting down the golden grain, and with a prospect for a goodly quantity of grain. The farmers appear very cheerful, except when a thought passes their minds that if prices continue so low, all their hard work is for naught as far as they are concerned. What a shame that the farmer must pay as dear as ever for what he buys, and sell his produce for just enough to pay for harvesting, and he must haul it to market, in order to get a chance to give it away. Well we hope for better times and toil away.

Mr. Sutton of Dayton, delivered a lecture on prohibition Saturday evening, which was very good. There was a good audience for this time of the year. Sunday evening Elder Morrison preached a temperance sermon to a fair sized congregation. Mr. Adams, a U. B. minister, preceded him with a few remarks on the same subject.

Robert Ginn was quite seriously injured Friday evening in attempting to reach a bon fire that had been kindled for the purpose of testing the alacrity of the fire company. He fell and became unconscious, and remained in this condition half an hour. Dr. Beers of Wasco was summoned, in the absence of Dr. Smith, and he soon recovered. News is very scarce so I must close.

Advertising Oregon.

People who are fortunate enough to obtain peaches from the "Peachblow Paradise Orchards" of Max Pracht this year will be fully apprised of the celestial character of the fruit, no matter in how distant a clime it may be unpacked and eaten. Mr. Pracht has just had nearly 100,000 peach wrappers printed, each bearing in blue ink on white paper his orchard trademark, designed by himself. It advertises the climate of Southern Oregon, the city of Ashland and the orchard business of Mr. Pracht, and there will be no danger of retail dealers in Oregon, Washington, Montana or elsewhere selling his peaches as "California fruit." Neither will there be any likelihood of any scrubby peaches being shipped in those wrappers.

Mr. Pracht's method of paying the strictest attention to the details of selection, packing and marketing proves its value from the fact that he is able to ask and receive for his peaches 25 per cent above the market price. The farmers of the state should have their attention called to this fact, and much good to Oregon would undoubtedly result if his example were to be generally followed. One of the most striking instances of the injustice he seeks to correct by advertising is the fact that Rogue river apples, pronounced by connoisseurs the finest by long odds on the coast, are shipped to eastern markets branded "California fruit."—Oregonian.

All members of committees on State Fireman's meeting on September 4th, are requested to meet at council rooms Thursday evening at 8 p. m.

At the Cascades.

The strike of the stone cutters is still on at the Cascade Locks, but the delay is not necessarily harmful for the prosecution of work. There is enough stone cut to more than half complete the locks, and fifteen to twenty cars are being hauled in daily. As soon as the water gets below the bulkhead, which it is expected to do within ten days, pumping will commence, to exhaust the water out of the canal. The pump has already been placed. A large force of men will then be set to work laying rock for the walls.

I. N. Day, wife and child and J. F. Keane arrived Monday from San Francisco.

Crop Weather Bulletin.

WESTERN OREGON.

WEATHER—The temperature during the past week has been cooler by four degrees than it was the preceding week; the sunshine was about normal. On the 12th the sky became cloudy and the temperature began to fall. Sunday, the 13th, was cloudy, cool and fresh winds, with rain along the northwest coast and along the Columbia river to Hood River. A light sprinkle of rain, not sufficient to lay the dust, fell in the Willamette valley, southward to Linn county, principally close to the river. Smoke, from forest fires, is appearing in the atmosphere, being more dense in the southern counties.

CROPS—A good soaking rain would be of great benefit to the hops, corn, late grain and fruit, gardens and pastures. The winds are dry, making the soil very dry and hard. Hops have good growth; they are very clean, there being few lice; but the burr is small, produced by lack of rain. An improvement in the size is anticipated. Peach plums, the early peaches and apples are ripening quite rapidly; usually they are ripe by July 10th. The codlin moth is developing rapidly and damage will be done by them to the apple and pear crop. Green corn and tomatoes are in the market. The potato crop is generally good, though it would yet be improved by rain. Harvesting of fall wheat and oats continues. Threshing will begin this week. The correspondents all agree that the grain is turning out much better than was expected. Some little threshing has been done, which yielded from 28 to 42 bushels per acre. Spring sown grain does not show much improvement; it will not be harvested for ten days or more. It indicates a yield below the average; not more than 12 to 16 bushels of wheat and 30 bushels of oats to the acre are expected.

EASTERN OREGON.

WEATHER—The fore part of the week was warm, but the latter part was decidedly cooler, with light frosts on the higher elevations; an occasional sprinkle of rain fell, though practically there was no rainfall. The mean temperature varied from 62 to 70 degrees, as against 68 to 72 degrees the preceding week.

CROPS—Harvesting is in progress throughout the Columbia river counties, in Union and in part of Baker county. In the counties to the south it will begin next week. Some threshing has been done and the yield is beyond all expectations. The wheat, oats and barley crop will be excellent, the total product fully equal to or greater than that of any former year. The quality will be good too. Some farmers are troubled how to get the money to have their grain harvested, and how to get the sacks to sack it.

The alfalfa crops are good and the reports indicate a plentiful hay crop for next winter. The fruit is ripening nicely and will be freer than usual from insects.

The compiler of these bulletins, B. S. Pague, leaves on the 16th for Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the American Association of State Weather Services, of which he is the first vice president, and also to attend the international meeting of the Meteorologists. He will be absent about three weeks and during his absence the usual work of the office will be continued by Mr. S. M. Blandford, chief clerk.

The Bingham Springs.

A party composed of Supt. A. J. Borie, Mr. R. Gemmel, Mrs. Dr. Gemmel, Dr. Vincent and wife, Conductor H. Fowler, Misses Ida Wattle and Effie Frazier of Pendleton, Supt. N. J. O'Brien, Misses Bessie and Frances O'Brien of Walla Walla, Misses Minnie and Rose Michell of this city, spent Saturday and Sunday at Bingham hot springs, about thirty miles from Pendleton, in the Blue mountains. The party were more than delighted with the beauty of the location, and the accommodations were beyond anything they had anticipated. Dr. Bingham has spared no expense in fitting up the grounds, and the hotel is superintended by Mr. and Mrs. Perkins of Pendleton. In the immediate vicinity is a good sized hotel and a large sanitarium, which at present are well filled, besides several cottages. An amusement hall has recently been built, on one side of which is a bowling alley, so that guests may either exercise their muscles or, as was the case Saturday evening, "dance the happy hours away." The principal place of resort is the swimming pool, which is about 80x60 feet large, situated at the foot of a large mountain and surrounded by trees. The pool is supplied with warm mineral water by two large pipes, making bathing comfortable at any hour of the day. Bath houses are also near at hand.

The grounds are covered with an immense growth of trees, and a clear, cool stream runs through them, and besides there are two large springs—one of hot mineral water and the other ice cold. It is indeed an ideal summer resort in every sense of the word.
