AUGUST ANGLINGS.

Small Fry Hooked by Persistent Chronicle Reporters.

Lives of cranky men remind us that with proper chance to climb, we may leave a name behind us. Thundering down the sands of time—
A name that perchance another, looking for a chance to sport, a democrat or populist brother, seeing, may arise and shout.
Let us then be up and doing, report and blow at any rate. Turn it loose while mischief's brewing. Learn to Penneyer and to Waite.
—Oregonian.

Ice 1/2 a cent a pound from now on by Charles Allison.

Skies are clear again, indicating that recent rains must have put out the forest fires.

The people of Klickitat are jubilant over big crop prospects, which will prove about the best ever grown there.

The Columbia has been withdrawn between Portland and San Francisco, as announced a few days ago by THE CHRONICLE.

A force of mechanics under the superintendency of Mr. C. J. Crandall, are at work on the electric power plant, and will have the building up in a few days.

The police court is running light. Only one small drunk was in the toils last evening, and on paying a fine this morning was discharged. Hobos are scarce since Street Commissioner Maddron puts them at work breaking stones and clearing the streets.

In conversation with Mr. Kerr, of Kerr & Buckley, who resides in Grass Valley, Sherman county, we learn the grain crop is first class and harvesting is nearly half over. He says the low price of wheat and the high price of sacks will be hard on the farmers as well as the country.

Mr. Gabriele Deckert of 10-Mile has laid us under obligations for a fine sample of Hales early peaches. One peach measures nine and one-third inches in circumference. The lot are marvels of beauty and excellence. Mr. Deckert has an extensive fruit farm, his fruits are put in to the market in fine condition and he always gets the top price.

A certain boy in The Dalles rides a handsome black pony, which he lashes unmercifully and without provocation. There are wails on the animal which show he has been whipped severely and often. Even a boy should realize that it is a great wrong to inflict unmerited punishment upon a dumb brute which merely circumstance makes him the master of. One having such a disposition is either thoughtless or brutal, and so laws are made to hedge against the vicious and the ignorant. There is a law in Oregon against cruelty to animals, punishable by fine and imprisonment, and the youngster in mind would not look near so smart behind the bars as whipping the horse that others may see him prance.

The Government Wins.

Judge Bellinger's opinion in the O. & C. forfeited land claims begins with a careful resume of the case in hand, and shows how the dispute arose, going back to the original acts passed by congress. In the next to the last paragraph of the opinion the following statement was made: "The terms of the granting act in this case are unmistakable. They provide for a continuous grant or single line of road from Portland to Astoria, with a second or branch line from a junction at Forest Grove to the Yamhill river. The theory of the government as to the continuity of these lines cannot be more explicitly stated than the act states it." The final words of the opinion are: "I conclude that the lands in the quadrant are included in the lands forfeited to the government by the act of January 31st, 1885, and such will be the decree."

Judge Williams and District Attorney Mays argued the complaint for the government, and Fenton and Bronaugh for the defendant. The defendant will probably appeal to the United States court of appeal.

Sound Over.

Richard Brookhouse et al. were held under $200 bonds to appear before the grand jury on a charge, preferred by Horace Rice, of driving one of his horses more than ten miles from the range and claiming such animal as their property. Testimony was given on the part of defendant that he attempted to separate the animal in question from the herd in which it was being driven and, failing in this, drove it to a corral, where it was finally turned out with other animals not belonging to defendant. This corral, it is claimed, is more than ten miles from the range, but it is believed this fact cannot be proven, unless, by taking advantage of an extremely circuitous road, as by air line, it is not over six miles.

Forest Fires.

Section 4 of the laws of Oregon reads as follows: "Any person or persons who shall willfully set fire to any wooded country, or forest belonging to the United States, or to any person or persons, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction before a court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars, or imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; provided that nothing herein contained shall apply to any person who in good faith sets a back fire to prevent the extension of a fire already burning."

New Game Law.

The new game law, now in force, prohibits the sale of any part of the deer at any time. On page 91 of the Session Laws of 1893 the new law can be found. In reference to this matter it reads: "Every person who shall at any time after the passage of this act, sell or offer for sale the hide or horns or meat of any deer, either in a fresh, salted, dried, smoked or jerked condition, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor." The law also fixes a penalty for the violation of this act as follows: "Every person convicted of a violation of any provision of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $300, or imprisonment in the county jail of the county where the offense was committed for not less than three months, or both such fine and imprisonment. Half of such money collected for fines for violation of the provisions of this act shall be paid to the informer, and the rest into the county treasury of the county in which the offense was committed."

Mr. J. C. Boswell, one of the best known and most respected citizens of Brownwood, Texas, suffered with diarrhoea for a long time and tried many different remedies without benefit, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was used; that relieved him at once. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, Druggists. 1m.

MOSIER MUSINGS.

Campmeeting in Full Blast—Other News Notes.

Grouse hunting is good in the mountains farther back.

Campmeeting will probably hold out 'till the early '93 chicken is no more.

Geo. Sellinger has shipped 1,000 boxes of peach plums here, while A. Root has sent out 1,800 boxes to eastern markets.

The prune crop is exceptionally good. There will be tons of this fruit dried and shipped from this place.

Testimony was being taken here last week in the school district division case, lawyers Bennett and Huntington from The Dalles being present.

"Happy on the way," are the new recruits which are being gradually mustered in at the campmeeting now. Dotted here and there in a beautiful grove on Mosier creek a short distance above the county bridge are the tents of the campers. Here, saint and sinner may meet and clasp hands, for this is neutral ground for all. A platform and benches near by for the benefit of those who expound and those who listen to the scriptures are erected. Morning, afternoon and night the speakers earnestly invite those forward who will come to "partake of the water of life." The old melodious campmeeting shout, the hallelujahs and hosannahs reverberating 'mong trees and hills causes a feeling of reverence to come over the most indifferent, due a Creator just and good. Rev. C. M. Aleridge, evangelist, is here and laboring earnestly for the cause he champions. Twelve years ago Mr. Aleridge could not read his primer, much less read and expound the scriptures. Those twelve years have made a man of him. Earnestly, fluently and fearlessly he presents the cause for which he labors. His pathos move many to tears, his earnestness prove him a good man, and his fluency prove twelve years of hard study and practice. J. W. Rigby, pastor of the church, is lovingly working for the cause he thinks right. Who could do more? Evangelist Mrs. Golden, Rev. Frank Ireland and many others are also "in the harvest field." While your correspondent cannot believe in the doctrine of destruction and damnation, we like these people because of their earnestness. However, we believe in a Creator, just and good, who will make all things right when "the mists have rolled away." SUB.

Can't Get the Paper.

A week ago the Moro Observer spoke of the difficulty of getting the Mountaineer and THE CHRONICLE. We did not notice the item locally, believing there may have been an excuse somehow, but the Antelope Herald this week says: "One of the best changes in postmasters we know of will be made at The Dalles some time this fall. We do not know who will apply for the position yet, but most any one could find wonderful room to improve over the present management. About once a week The Dalles Mountaineer and CHRONICLE (dailies) come together, and the rest of the time one comes and sometimes none at all. Very often the papers that are mailed in The Dalles office do not reach us for over a week. This is unmitigated carelessness, and whoever is mixing the mail like this should be fired out in short order. Put someone in that will attend to his business properly and promptly."

Democrats in congress do not take kindly to Mr. Cleveland's departure. They do not hesitate to say that it was as much his duty to stay here and help his party reach a decision on the silver question as it is the duty of members of congress to stay. Before leaving Mr. Cleveland spoke his mind freely to several prominent members of his party. He told them among other things, that unless something unexpected occurred to make him change his mind he did not intend making any more appointments until congress had acted upon the silver question, and that he did not intend to stay in Washington to listen to the men who are more anxious to get a few appointments for their friends than to relieve the financial distress of the country.
