"DON'T MONKEY WITH THE TARIFF."

Mr. Grosvenor's (of Ohio) speech is reported in the Congressional Record. In it he has offered a resolution that "it is not the intention of the Fifty-third congress to make radical or important changes in the principles of tariff taxation, and it is hereby solemnly declared that congress will not undertake a sweeping revision of the tariff laws, nor will it remove from American products, either of the farm, the mine, or the shop, that protection which now stands between the American producer and the foreign producers; and especially is it hereby declared that congress will not remove from the products of agricultural industries the full measure of protection now afforded by law, to the end that wages may be maintained at present rates and the producer be rewarded for his labor and capital by adequate prices."

He continues as follows:
 "This declaration is demanded by the business interests of the whole country. This declaration by congress would loosen the crippled wheels of industry. The cry comes up from all over the country, 'Let alone the tariff; let the McKinley law stand where it is.' The cry comes—"From forges where no fires burn.
 From mills where wheels no longer turn.
 From looms o'er which no shuttles leap.
 From merchants shops—where sherrifs keep—
 From banks gone up, from stocks gone down.
 From God-made country, man-made town.
 From Wall street men, from sons of toil.
 From the bronzed tillers of the soil,
 From north, from south, from east, from west,
 Business is crying with a zest—
 "Don't monkey with the tariff!"

Gov. Penneyer is too hard on President Cleveland when he says "if we had nominated any honest democrat in the United States, we would not have had these hard times."

Rider Haggard's new novel "Montezuma" is now running as a serial story in some of the eastern papers. This is the novel, material for which he secured by a long absence in Mexico and the border states.

Senator Mitchell is conducting a fight against the appointment of senators which state legislatures failed to elect. He believes that several votes will not be according to the honest convictions of the senators, but either for personal or silver considerations.

Mr. Edison does not believe in the reputed value of aluminum for the reason that it has no strength. Speaking of it he says: "You might as well use lead. It is as soft as lead. Its only peculiarity is its lightness, and it will only be useful in making ornamental objects. Having no strength, this new metal, as it has been called, is not available for machinery."

A great many valuable speeches are being delivered at Washington, no doubt, nevertheless the stringency grows tighter and tighter. The first thing done was to set a day two weeks off when they would see what could be done, and now the attainment of any desired end seems farther off than ever. We are in the same plight as a nearly exhausted swimmer, waiting for a boat to reach him, which stops to chatter to a third party. If congress had repealed the Sherman law the first or second day of the session, there would have been much easier times already. The country will go to the demnation how wows while the wise men at Washington are chewing the rag. From the reports from our larger cities, it would seem but a step to anarchy now.

In another column we reprint an article from the Orange Judd Farmer, relative to the exhibit of fruits at the world's fair. Unfortunately for ourselves we cannot import to Chicago a slice of our salubrious, health-giving climate, nor adequately show that we have no blizzards, water-spouts, cyclones, nor any of those air-disturbers which make life precarious in the middle and eastern states. And when it is properly represented that there are thousands of acres yet awaiting the acceptance of the homesteader, each capable of yielding a revenue of from $200 to $500, that the coast digs and coins its own gold and silver, that the cry of starvation is never heard, that natural grasses are luxuriant and capable of supplying feed all the year round to countless thousands of stock, that our timber is inexhaustible and of the finest kinds, it is unaccountable why the population of Oregon is not at least double what it is today.

OREGON HORTICULTURE

At the World's Fair—The State and Its Resources.
 Orange Judd Farmer.

Unfortunately no appropriation was made until in February of this year, and not until the 28th day of March was it fully decided to attempt a show of Oregon's resources at the world's fair. The horticultural exhibit embraces all the hardy varieties of fruits: Apples, peaches, pears, prunes, apricots, cherries, all kinds of berries and a large variety of grapes including bunches of "Flaming Tokay," weighing more than ten pounds. Pears weighing 4 1/4 pounds, apples weighing two pounds, four ounces, and peaches measuring seventeen inches in circumference, are a few of the attractive features of this display. All kinds of nuts are shown. In portions of the state nut culture is fast becoming an important and profitable industry. No money being appropriated in '91 or '92 for a collection of fruits for the world's Columbian exposition, the State Horticultural Society, by private subscription raised money enough in the city of Portland to enable the secretary of the society to put up the principal part of the collection now on exhibition in the Oregon space.

PRUNE CULTURE.

Is extensively carried on and is fast becoming the principal fruit industry. The yield is large, and the fruit the most perfect of its kind, commanding the highest prices. Growing pears and apples is next in extent to prunes, and has proved to be very profitable when wisely managed. Of the different varieties the Bartlett is the most favored here, as is usually the case in other sections, and it attains a magnificent growth, rich color and delicious flavor. Oregon apples are well and favorably known all over the Pacific coast, for size, color, richness of flavor and texture and as yet the production has not been equal to the demand, a fact truly gratifying to the orchardist.

AMONG FAVORITE VARIETIES SHOWN

In the exhibit are the well known Rhode Island Greening, Winesap, Yellow Newtown Pippin, Spitzenberg, Baldwin, Janet, Blue Winter Pearmain, Rome Beauty, Red Cheek Pippin, Roxbury Russett, Maiden Blush, Romanite, Ben Davis and Swaar. The growth of fruit trees in a single season frequently reaches ten feet and the health and vigor is marvelous. Dr. J. K. Cadwell of Portland, president of the state horticultural society, is the able and efficient horticultural commissioner to the world's fair, and his ability and energy have done much towards making the exhibit what it is. Dr. Jay Guy Lewis, general superintendent, assisted by Messrs. Black and Vandever, are entitled to much credit for their skill and energy in arranging and maintaining the exhibit and keeping it up to that high standard of excellence, universally acknowledged by all visitors.

Saw the Circus.

A man came into Salem yesterday to see the circus. His face was clean shaven but his neck was covered with whiskers, cut in such a shape as to make him look like a grin framed in Oregon moss. He stood on the curb when the procession went by and ate peanuts. When the clown came along he laughed so hard that he failed to notice a fellow behind him who was helping himself to the change in his pockets. He is now out about half the profits on his wheat crop, and he will have to hustle like a chinook wind to get coin enough to blow in next circus day.—Salem Independent.

"A Back Number."

This is the slighting remark that is applied to women who try to seem young, though they no longer look so. Sometimes appearances are deceitful. Female weakness, functional troubles, displacements and irregularities will add fifteen years to a woman's looks. These troubles are removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Try this remedy, all you whose beauty and freshness is fading from such causes, and no longer figure in society as a "back number." It's guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it returned. See guarantee on bottle wrapper.

A DEAD SHOT

right at the seat of difficulty, is accomplished by the sure and steady aim of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Don't fool around with a pop-gun, nor a "Flint-lock," when this reliable "Winchester" is within reach!
 Dr. Sage's treatment of Catarrh in the Head is far superior to the ordinary, and when directions are reasonably well followed, results in a permanent cure. Don't longer be indifferent to the veridical claims of this unflinching Remedy. The worst forms of Catarrh disappear with the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties effect a perfect and permanent cure, no matter how bad the case, or of how long standing. It's a remedy that succeeds where everything else has failed. Thousands of such cases can be pointed out. That's the reason its makers back their faith in it with money. They offer $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which they cannot cure.

It's a medicine that allows them to take such a risk. Doesn't common sense lead you to take such a medicine?
 "An advertising fake" you say. Funny, isn't it, how some people prefer sickness to health when the remedy is positive and the guarantee absolute. Wise men don't put money back of "fakes." And "faking" doesn't pay.

Of Des Moines, Iowa, writes under date of March 23, 1893:

S. B. M&D, MFG. Co., Dufur, Oregon.
 Gentlemen: On arriving home last week, I found all well and anxiously awaiting. Our little girl, eight and one-half years old, who had wasted away to 35 pounds, is now well, strong and vigorous, and well fleshed up. S. B. Cough Cure has done its work well. Both of the children like it. Your S. B. Cough Cure has cured and kept away all hoarseness from me. So give it to every one, with greetings for all. Wishing you prosperity, we are Yours, Mr. & Mrs. J. F. Ford.

If you wish to feel fresh and cheerful, and ready for the Spring's work, cleanse your system with the Headache and Liver Cure, by taking two or three doses each week.

THE NEW TOWN has been platted on the old camp ground, at the Forks and Falls of Hood river, with large, slightly lots, broad streets and alleys, good soil and pure water, with shade in profusion, perfect drainage, delightful mountain climate, the central attraction as a mountain summer resort for all Oregon, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is unparalleled as a manufacturing center, being the natural center for 150 square miles of the best cedar and fir timber, possessing millions of horse-power in its dashing streams and waterfalls, easily harnessed. Where cheap motive power exists, there the manufacturing will center, surrounded by soil and climate that cannot be excelled anywhere for fruit and agriculture, and with transportation already assured you will find this the place to make a perfect home or a paying investment.
