AUGUST ANGLINGS.

Small Fry Hooked by Persistent Chronicle Reporters.

The Wasco warehouse received 20,000 rain bags last evening by the Regulator.
Mr. John Marx, who advertised some st horses about two weeks ago, has returned them again, the finder having seen the advertisement in THE CHRONI-CLE.

A 12-horse-power threshing machine left town yesterday and will bring a lot at Mr. Jas. Benson's, where it will resh out Mr. Benson's grain, and then to Mr. Koontz' place.

The stockholders' meeting at the Wasco Independent Academy, for the purpose of electing directors yesterday, was adjourned until Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m., and will meet in the court room.

A telegram received by J. M. Filloon yesterday informs him that the long-expected rock crusher is in Portland, and will be shipped to The Dalles as soon as the transfer can be made. It started from Pennsylvania.

Thos. Adams has realized about $300 from his block of cantaloupes. He reports that some of them brought high as $3.75 per crate in Spokane. The Chronicle office acknowledges the receipt of several choice samples.

John Hull, a former resident of Tygh valley, is lying very low in St. Vincent's hospital, Portland, where he has just undergone an operation for cancer. His friends, of whom he has many in this county, will be pained to learn that he considers his recovery doubtful.

A few nights ago, some one broke into E. B. Wolf's hide house at the East end, and abstracted six otter, eighteen martin, three fisher, and four gray fox skins, which are worth in the main about $120. Mr. Wolf thinks they were taken by Indians, but the more probable conclusion is that they were white slaves or tramps.

Scenes were as lively on Jokers' Row yesterday afternoon as in the famous Midway dance, and the contortions of the actors were fully as serpentine. While the wife was trying to wet Kline from the roof with a bucket of water, Hill went one story higher with another bucket, and drenched the practical joker with his own medicine. This squares Hill with Lytle, but very likely not Lytle with Hill.

A man giving the name of George Murray, who was arrested by Marshal Maloney a day or two since, was adjudged insane this morning by Justice L. S. Davis after an examination by Dr.
Hugh Logan. He gave his age as 44 years and says he came from Walla Walla, where he has friends. He imagines some one is trying to do him bodily harm.

Swallowed Poison.

The 5-year-old granddaughter of Jack Stanleys narrowly escaped death by poison this morning. The folks have a bottle of corrosive sublimate in the house (chloride of mercury) which they use, in conjunction with a syringe, to fight bed bugs with, and the little one, by some mischance, got it and swallowed part of its contents. Luckily for the child, the older ones are endowed with that old-fashioned common sense, now so scarce in these days when dollarrustling is the chief aim and end of existence, and administered as an antidote white of egg and flour and an emetic, and Dr. Eselman, who was called, found little to do upon his arrival. The child was vomiting, and at noon was getting along nicely.

Methodist Conference.

The quarterly conference of the M. E. church of this city closed its fourth session last evening. The report was very satisfactory and encouraging. At the close, the conference unanimously passed a resolution stating that it was the earnest desire of the society that the Rev.
J. Whisler be continued as the pastor of the M. E. church, and that the Columbia conference through its bishop, be urged to recognize the request of the church and society. The Rev. Whisler has endeared himself to this people and is universally loved.

Special Meeting.

The city council held a special meeting last night and appointed Recorder Dufur on the part of the city, to go with the county assessor when fixing values on city property. A resolution was also passed that the committee on streets and public property have full control of the street commissioner, and that he be employed only at such times as said committee may deem necessary. The petition of C. E. Bayard and others for the removal of the fence taking in ten feet of the west side of Court street, was granted.

Taffe's Watch Found.

A letter received this morning from Mrs. Taffe, states that an Indian found young Taffe's watch on an island above Celilo. No theory is satisfactory as to how it came there. The island at the time was about eighteen inches under water and when his body floated past, it may have been loosened by the friction of the sand, or it may have been merely the work of chance in thus restoring a token of his tragic end. The watch was returned to Mrs. Taffe.

This is to certify that I have used Krause's Headache Capsules periodically for over one year, and have very much pleasure in stating that they have always proved beneficial and have relieved me in from ten to fifteen minutes.
I have been a sufferer from headache for many years, and have never found anything to do me as much good as Krause's Headache Capsules.
Yours truly,
LOUIS HERMAN,
214 S. Poplar St., Wichita, Kan.

Laughlin accompanied by Miss Jeanette Meredith, of Salem, returned from Portland last evening.

Mr. J. Schroeder, who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. A. Gehres, in this city for several weeks, departed for his home in San Francisco this morning.

We acknowledge a call from Mr. Clay Neece of Sherman county. Mr. Neece reports that harvesting is nearly over and the threshing machine is at work.

Miss Estella Goodwin, who has been the guest of Misses Annie and Laura Thompson in this city for the past week, left for home in Hillsboro this morning.

Mrs. M. E. French, Mrs. J. Marden and Messrs. H. French, Bert Phelps, John Booth and Ed. Wingate, and Misses Grace Campbell, Aimee Newman and Christine Nickelsen, returned from A Tragedy Averted.

Appropos of sham battles and their attendant dangers, the Fossil Journal relates an incident that has never before appeared in print:

When the Third regiment, O. N. G. was encamped at The Dalles in July, 1891, a sham battle was a feature of the programme arranged to take place on the Fourth. It was to be the drawing card of The Dalles celebration, and was extensively advertised. But, fortunately, it never came off, and those who knew all the circumstances felt sure that a tragedy was averted by the omission of this part of the programme. The encampment had been grossly mismanaged, and the soldiers had received poor rations and treatment, in consequence there was a strong feeling of dissatisfaction among the men towards some of the officers in command—particularly toward Colonel Houghton, who soon afterward resigned. The men were anxious to break camp, and covert threats were heard in some quarters, to be executed in the event of the men being compelled to take part in the sham battle. These coming to the ears of the officers a consultation was held. Governor Penneyer, the commander-in-chief, who happened to be in The Dalles at the time, was approached by Colonel Houghton, who sought his advice regarding the advisability of postponing the fight. Captain Gaffney of E company, of Fossil, one of the most capable officers in the O. N. G., was sent for and introduced to the governor, who asked his opinion regarding the matter. The captain replied that as the men were very tired, and as it was reported that certain threats had been made, he thought it would be wisest and safest to let the battle go by the board. His advice was acted upon, and the wisdom contained in it was made apparent the following day when a company musket, containing a ball cartridge, was found by the conductor on the train at Hood River. It had been carelessly left behind by one of the soldiers. The circumstance was kept quiet, but it leaked out among the officers, and caused at once a thrill of terror and a feeling of intense thankfulness in the hearts of more than one who took part in the first and last encampment of the Third regiment, O. N. G.

A Fractious Individual.

A drunken individual caused considerable trouble today. Marshal Maloney arrested him about 9 o'clock this morning, but he proved so untractable that the services of Matt Schoren and Frank Seeley were called, and the fellow was carried and driven into the city jail. In less than an hour the recorder, hearing an unusual noise, hastened to the cell and found a pretty tableau. In one corner stood a young fellow incarcerated last night, pointing the small end of a broom at the fractious fellow, and old man Cottingham, who is serving 30 days, had a chair poised over his head in the act of striking him. Mr. Dufur yelled "stop" just in time to prevent the blow, which might have killed him.
The recorder, then, assisted by Geo.
Brown, took the unmanageable drunk into another cell and locked him up by himself, and the greatest harm he has since done is yelling at the top of his voice. It is singular what a fool an overdose of whisky makes of a man, and still they call it fun.

"Skipped" From Her Home.

Richard Tregay, a Colorado mining man, arrived here from Denver Saturday in search of his wife and little boy, who he says left their home about three weeks ago. He engaged the Pinkerton agency to work on the case, and yesterday Mrs. Tregay was located in a small cottage on Overton street, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth. She was residing here with her little boy, her two sisters and a railroad man named Frank Peerman, with whom Tregay charges she "skipped" from Denver. Warrants were sworn out for the arrest of Mrs.
Tregay and Peerman, charging them with adultery and also with larceny.
Tregay alleging that before leaving Denver they took about $500 of his money.
Both parties were arrested yesterday afternoon by Detectives Simmons, Holsapple and Griffin and locked up in the city jail. Mrs. Tregay admits taking the $500 from her husband before leaving Denver, which she states was just half the amount of money he had in the house.

Both she and Peerman claim the latter was boarding with her, and that there was nothing criminal in their relations. Mrs. Tregay says she will have nothing more to do with her husband, and her husband says he will have nothing more to do with Mrs. Tregay.
