Sherman on the Repeal.

Washington, Aug. 30 .- In the senate, the bill for the repeal of the Sherman act was taken up. Sherman was the first speaker. He said if the repeal of the act was the only reason for an extra session, it seemed to him insufficient. It was justified, however, by the existing financial stringency. Con & and the people

It is stated that the Diamond mills are paying 50c per bushel for good new wheat. The warehouses have not made a price yet, but it is thought they will as soon as the wheat begins to move. Sacks are in good request, and the supply is light at prices ranging from 61cc for second-

Hood. Botanists claim that about 300 varieties of wild flowers thrive about the foot of Mt. Hood.

Our County Superintendent Troy Shelley, is one of a numerous party who are enjoying themselves at Lost Lake. A. V. Underwood took his bicycle to Cloud Cap Inn on the 24th of August, and found a good bicycle road all the way from that place to Hood River. Cloud Cap Inn is a very picturesque summer resort, situated as it is about 7,000 feet above sea level, and on the summit of a very high point just facing Elliott glacier, which seems but a few steps away. A former resident of Chili, South America, who thinks of going into the fruit business near The Dalles, took his camera with him to Mt. Hood the other day, and, while at Cloud Cap Inn, took a fine picture of one of the Mt. Hood squirrels.

W. A. Langille and others will meet on the top of Mt. Hood some time in the of organizing an Alpine club. No summit of some snow capped peak will be eligible to membership.

Lewis H. Lamberson of Portland, and Henry Reese and W. A. Langille of Mt. Hood, started from Cloud Cap Inn about half past five, and arrived at the top of Mt. Hood before noon on Friday, August 25th. Mr. Lamberson had his kodak with him, and got several tine views. The distance from Hood River to Mt. Hood is twenty-seven miles, and the road, which is claimed to be far the best mountain road in Oregon, cost the builders, Ladd and Wood, many thousand dollars. The road is wide and smooth, and there is not a stump and hardly a rock in it.
