THOUSANDS ARE DEAD
Awful Details of the Recent Terrific Storm.
BURYING THE DEAD IN GROUPS
No Attention Paid to Coffins—The Condition of the Survivors Very Pitiable.
SAVANNAH, Sept. 2.—S. G. Friedling, of the wholesale grocery firm of S.
Guckenheimer & Son, returned from Beaufort last night on a special tug.
Mr. Friedling says that at least 800 persons were drowned off the islands in that vicinity, and that when all reports are in, upwards of 1000 persons will be found to have perished. The coroner had held inquests on 300 bodies, 37 of which were buried in one pit and 50 in another. It is impossible to procure coffins. Capt. H. B. Elliott's place on Cane Island suffered severely from the storm. As it grew worse Captain Elliott brought his family out of the house and fastened them to trees with lifelines. I. I. Densler lost his building and contents on Paris island, and he and his wife spent four hours on the top of a tree.
The aggregate loss at Beaufort will exceed $500,000. The phosphate industry near Beaufort has been ruined, and the crops on the sea islands are a complete loss. Unless immediate relief comes, the suffering will be indescrib-le. Attempt at identification of the bodies has been abandoned. All that is desired now is to get the bodies out of the way as quickly as possible to prevent epidemics resulting from their rapid decomposition. No very accurate record is kept of the number of dead, and the statistics of the disaster will never be known. On each island and mainland the survivors are burying all the remains of the victims that can be found. Coroner's certificates are out of the question. Searching parties make their way around the plantations and houses, and as soon as a body is found it is put under ground. Wherever any whites are with these parties some sort of a record is kept, but the greater number of burials are made by negroes.
The black belt on the coast has lost not less than 1,000 of its negroes, with a probability that it is over that number.
It will be a week before all the dead are found, as there is overflowed water on the island beneath which are undoubtedly many bodies. The sea is slowly giving up its dead. The condition of the survivors is pitiable in the extreme.

NEWS NOTES.
The cholera outbreak in Jersey City has caused a scare among the congressmen. It may do much toward shortening the session. Officials of the marine hospital service do not fear a general outbreak.
Mrs. Blackburn, widow of the late Geo. Luke Blackburn, is very angry because Congressman Breckinridge introduced his mistress, Miss Pollard into society through her, and declares that were her husband alive he would hold Breckinridge personally accountable for the indignity and insult she had been offered.
The Sherman repeal bill has been informally laid aside in the senate, but before that was done the chairman of the finance committee, indicating his determination to press forward all next week with the real and earnest purpose of bringing the senate to a formal vote with as little delay as is consistent from full discussion.
Secretary Carlisle has about made up his mind to ask congress to authorize the coinage of the silver bullion at present lying in the treasury. This amounts to $52,000,000 in round numbers. By its coinage the government would escape the deficit which now threatens, and have enough money to tide it over to the time when the income will once more equal or exceed the expenditures.
The secretary does not believe there will be much opposition to the request.
Senator Peffer has introduced a bill which is in the nature of an amendment to the constitution. It directs the secretary of the treasury to print and issue to state governments $5,000,000 for each 100,000 inhabitants, or at the rate of $20 per capita. States are prohibited from lending it in excess of an interest charge of 3 per cent. No person shall borrow more than $2000. Corporations are not allowed to lend money. The time for which the money is lent is 16 years, and one-fourth is to be paid every four years.
Interest will be collected at the end of each year. No fees or commissions shall

A DENIAL.
Capt. Blowers States the Facts in Regard to the "Loaded Gun."
HOOD RIVER, Or., Sept. 4th, 1893.
EDITOR DALLES CHRONICLE: My attention having been called to an article in your paper of the 29th ult., headed a tragedy averted; and as I had the honor of commanding D company of Hood River at the time, and as said article reflects somewhat upon my company as myself, I feel duty bound to take exceptions to it.
To begin with, it is nearly, if not all untrue; and the writer of it either knows it to be so, or has been misinformed, and knows nothing about it. In either case, I think he is deserving of the severest censure at least. The sham battle was to have been a part of the programme at The Dalles, and I believe would have been carried out so far as Col. Houghton was concerned, or any advice from any captain in the regiment given the governor, if the men could have been assembled after dinner. But when we broke ranks at The Dalles, the men scattered, and although Col. Houghton had the assembly call blown and ordered every captain to get his company out for the sham battle, they could not be gathered together, and I do not believe a captain in the regiment tried to get his company out. But, on the contrary, told them to keep out of sight where they could not find them, or they would have to give up. I know Col. Houghton did not go out until he saw it was utterly impossible to get the men together. He then gave it up very reluctantly, because the citizens of The Dalles were clamoring for it, and kicking the colonel on every side for not carrying out the programme as adver-tized. I will leave it to any officer in the regiment who knew anything about it, if it is not correct.
As to the management of the camp, will say it was not conducted exactly up to my ideas of a military camp, but as I served my time in the United States army, I perhaps, expected too much from militia officers. I believe Col.
Houghton done the very best that he could, and as well as any other man could have done who had no more experience than he had.

Mr. Thomas Batte, editor of the Graphic, Texarkana, Arkansas, has found what he believes to be the best remedy in existence for the flux. His experience is well worth remembering.
He says: "Last summer I had a very severe attack of flux. I tried almost every known remedy, none giving relief.
Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended to me.
I purchased a bottle and received almost immediate relief. I continued to use the medicine and was entirely cured.
I take pleasure in recommending this remedy to any person suffering with such a disease, as in my opinion it is the best medicine in existence." 25 and 50

Allow me to say that they are splendid; never Britton, Marshall county, all promised me to get them and keep them in stock. I am going to among the miners, nearly all of whom suffer from headaches in that high altitude.
