"We always fry ours in Cottolene."

Our Meat, Fish, Oysters, Saratoga Chips, Eggs, Doughnuts, Vegetables, etc. Like most other people, our folks formerly used lard for all such purposes. When it disagreed with any of the family (which it often did,) we said it was "too rich."

WE finally tried COTTOLENE and not one of us has had an attack of "richness" since. We further found that, unlike lard, Cottolene had no unpleasant odor when cooking, and lastly Mother's favorite and conservative cooking authority came out and gave it a big recommendation which clinched the matter. So that's why we always fry ours in Cottolene.

DEATH IN THE FLAMES

Five Lives Are Lost in a Burning Workshop.
A NUMBER ARE FATALLY INJURED

Thousands of People Destitute by the Recent Storm—A Terrible Condition of Affairs.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—A shop on Fulham road took fire this morning. The blazing stairways prevented persons working in the buildings escaping. Some jumped from the upper windows and were crushed on the pavements, others fell back into the flames, and the firemen rescued the others. Five are known to have perished. The work of rescue is in progress.

Destitute and Starving.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Sept. 4.—Phosphate Inspector Jones returned Saturday night from Beaufort. He reports to Governor Tillman that he believed the number of dead will go away over 1,000. The aggregate loss to the phosphate companies is close to $350,000. With a liberal policy adopted by the state and concessions granted, the Coosaw farmers and Beaufort companies can resume operations in about 60 days, if money and labor can be secured. A large number of the phosphate hands had built their own homes on Coosaw island. With strong glasses, Inspector Jones could not see a single house. There is danger of a water famine all over the islands and even in Beaufort county, as all the wells and cisterns are filled with salt water.

The bodies of the dead are being mutilated by carrion, and are very offensive. They have not begun to find even a portion of the bodies. Some of them are swept up in the marshes where men cannot go. At Caines Neck there are deer, cows, hogs, snakes and all kinds of wild animals piled up together, making the section so offensive that no one can go near it. There are not enough provisions on the islands to last the people a week. They are dying from starvation. It is not money the people want as much as provisions and clothing. Their needs are immediate. Lots of persons had to tie themselves to trees in order to keep from being swept away. The people act like maniacs, and are crying for bread. Some have on nothing but shirts.

A PESSIMISTIC PASTOR.

Renounces the Republican Party and Buries All Hope.
DENVER, Colo., Sept. 3.—The Rev. Robert McIntyre, formerly of Chicago, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, the largest in the west, from which he receives $8,000 a year, formally renounces the republican party and declares a new financial party will be formed and sweep the country. He gives up hope of legislation favorable to silver, and thinks ruin, desolation and riots will come this winter all over the country. The tariff, he believes, will also be removed. He denounces the metropolitan press as a "lars' trust," and says city people of the east seem to hate the west. He says they took opera glasses to his lectures and viewed him as a curiosity. The Rev. Dr. McIntyre was for several years pastor of Grace Methodist Episcopal church of Chicago, and has some reputation as a poet and pulpit orator.

A Steamboat Man Murdered.

SEATTLE, Sept. 3.—News reached here this evening of a brutal murder last evening at Chico, a little town in Kitsap county. William S. Fletcher, a well-known steamboat man, was shot twice and instantly killed by Servius Ratten, a rancher. Ratten shot Fletcher's dog, and the latter went to the cabin where Ratten was and demanded $10 payment for the dog. He cursed Ratten and said he would lick him, and finally told him he must pay for the dog next morning or he would fix him. Ratten thereupon fired both barrels of a shotgun into Fletcher's head and neck, tearing away the side of his head and almost severing the head from the body.

He then ran along the beach about 100 yards, when Captain W. B. Seymour, master of the steamer Grace, on which Fletcher had been mate, ran out and stopped him with a revolver. He put him aboard the boat and washed him to a mast until the sheriff, who was sent for, had arrived. The people in the town gathered around the boat and threatened to lynch Ratten, but Seymour told them he would not permit him to be lynched. When the sheriff arrived he turned over the prisoner. A justice of the peace was sent for and an inquest and preliminary hearing were held. Ratten was brought to Seattle and lodged in jail tonight. Fletcher was a halfbreed but very popular. Ratten is a sullen German.

NEWS NOTES.

A Chinese commercial company has purchased 250,000 acres of land in Mexico, and will establish a colony.

Forty to fifty thousand men paraded Chicago yesterday, Labor day. Mayor Harrison headed the procession as honorary marshal.

A bill of the senate of the repeal bill has been given out as the one submitted to President Cleveland for his personal information: It gives 47 for repeal, 30 against, and 8 doubtful.

Provisions instead of financial aid will in the future be given the New York unemployed by the trade unions, as it was discovered that the landlords got all the benefit of financial aid.

Emin Pasha has been given up for dead. He and his party were attacked by natives, set on by Arabs, while making his way to the coast, and the entire party beheaded and eaten by the savages.

The cholera outbreak in Jersey City has caused a scare among the congressmen. It may do much toward shortening the session. Officials of the marine hospital service do not fear a general outbreak.

An active campaign for woman suffrage has been started in Kansas under the leadership of Susan B. Anthony, Helen Gouger, Mrs. Lease, Anna L. Diges, Mrs. Emma Devoe, Mrs. Sands and others.

Ex-Senator Ingalls has re-entered politics, and his programme is laid down on the most aggressive lines. He will appear before the republican state convention a year hence a candidate for the nomination of governor, and at the close of the term, should he be elected, he will be a candidate for Peffer's seat in the senate.

The Rocky Mountain News today publishes a letter from T. M. Peterson, its editor and part owner, dated Washington, containing a declaration that the cause of silver and the relief of the industries of the west rests with the people's party, and announces his allegiance henceforth to that political organization.

Near Mound Valley, Kan., at 4 o'clock this morning, three men held up the St. Louis & San Francisco passenger train. Express Messenger Chapman was shot and killed. Failing to secure money from the express car the bandits robbed the passengers. It is estimated the amount of booty secured fell not short of $5,000.

It Should Be in Every House

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with pneumonia after an attack of "la grippe," when various other remedies and several physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cookeport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for lung trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free trial bottles at Snipes & Kinnersly's. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

THE HOUSE SPEECHES.

Make Some Excellent Literature—How the Congressmen Dress.

Now that the long roll-beat of oratory in the house has ceased, and the battle is transferred to the senate, the public is beginning to recognize in detail the merits of many of the speeches that have been made. It may not be that they have added materially to the stock of knowledge on the questions at issue, but taken together they exhibit a good average of ability, and the debate has been conducted in a spirit of dignity and good temper which, considering the sharpness of the contention, is as remarkable as it is gratifying.

An unusual feature of the discussion is the earnestness and promptitude with which so many of the new members came to the front in behalf of their respective constituencies. Decided as the innovation may be, it is a good sign that of the 160 or more set speeches made on the silver question since the session met, fully one-third were by members who had never served in the house before.

Talk about the legislators sweltering during this August weather! There is no cooler place they can be at this season than the capitol building, unless they go up on the mountains or get in an ice box. Of course men who leap and plunge like a gymnasium in delirium, in the effort to make an impressive speech, could not keep cool in cold storage. But, as a matter of fact, the capitol building is more comfortable as a working place in the summer than it is in the winter. With its massive marble walls set on the crest of a hill it is almost proof against heat, except when the heat comes from within. In the winter when the air is kept in the building until it has been overheated the building is intolerable; perspiration springs from every pore when the thermometer registers zero outside, and the legislative blood is stagnant and the brain dull.

If the country's legislators are not all quite comfortable it is the fault of their not knowing how to dress. Fully three-fourths of the men seen on the floor of the house and senate are dressed in black, and most of them in rather heavy materials. The most seasonably dressed men are from the North. The suits of Kentucky jeans or tow linen are worn by men from Maine, New York or the shores of Michigan.

It was Tom Reed, from the cool state of Maine, to set an example in thin clothing. While he was speaker of the house he adopted a negligee shirt and sash, and now he wears a tow-linen suit through which sand might be sifted; coat, vest and trousers which wave about his bulky form like a breeze. Fitch of New York is a thing of beauty in a spotless suit of cream flannel. Dr. Everett, the Bostonese who appealed to the silver men not to "deposit" him in the "cavity," has enveloped himself in a yellow negligee shirt adorned with the ugliest checked tie, save one, that mortal ever looked upon. The only less becoming make-up in the house and the only uglier tie adorn the rugged figure of the gentleman from Kansas, Mr. Simpson. He wears a yellow silk negligee shirt with puffed front and a tie with the colors of Joseph's coat badly blended in checks. In the senate dignity and suits of solemn black prevail, but Senators Gray, Platt and Vance have given up their vests. Sherman looks cool without regard to his clothes.

Allow me to say that they are splendid, never failed to cure my headaches and save me a world of suffering. I am recommending them everywhere. The druggists of Aberdeen, Hecla and Britton, Marshall county, all promised me to get them and keep them in stock. I am going to Colorado in June, and I shall do you good there among the miners, nearly all of whom suffer from headaches in that high altitude. Yours, etc., J. H. FLETCHER, Lieut. Gov. South Dakota.
