A FIENDISH MURDER
An Old Lady in Seattle Beaten to Death.
A STOVE LID THE WEAPON USED
Terrible Midnight Struggle in an Isolated Shanty—Her Son Grief-Stricken.
SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 5.—Within the four hours preceding midnight last night there was committed in South Seattle one of the most brutal murders in the history of the city. An old woman, 80 years of age, named Charlotte Fetting, had her brains beaten out with an iron stove-plate, and her little trunk was robbed of the savings of herself and son for years, $790 in gold coin. The fiend or fiends who committed the deed are unknown and have probably left the city with the gold for which a gray-haired mother's life was sacrificed. Mrs. Fetting, with her son, Earnest Fetting, lived in the southern part of the city, in what is known as "Shantytown." They are Germans. The son is a tall, innocent-looking man, about 30 years of age, with flaxen hair and blue eyes, and is a woodcutter. Yesterday evening at 7 o'clock Earnest Fetting and James King, a son-in-law, left the little shack and went to the People's theater. They were the last persons who saw the old lady alive. When they returned at 2 o'clock this morning they found the door unlocked and partly open. Fetting exclaimed, "I have been robbed." King replied that perhaps it was not so, and pushed back the door. On the floor, between the low bed and a small cook stove, standing in the center of the room, lay the poor old woman. Her face was turned sideways, pressing against the oven door. It was a mass of clotted blood, while her gray hair streamed in tangled bloody strings over her shoulders. Several large gashes were visible, but were filled with clotted blood. In her mouth was stuffed a large cotton handkerchief, and a strap passing the handkerchief and under the chin formed a gag. She was in her night dress, which was of white cotton and not much disarranged. The little room had been simply turned upside down, and nothing was left in place. The garments hanging on the wall had been torn down and the trunk had been emptied, the chairs had all been overturned and there was ample evidence of a terrible struggle. When the two men realized what had taken place, the son for a moment was stunned. Walking mechanically over to his dead mother, he lifted her in his arms and placed her on the bed. Then he gave way to a fit of grief which was heartrending. The condition in which the room was found seems to bear out this theory of the murder: The old lady had retired, but was expecting her son back. When the demons who murdered her came, she arose from the bed and unlocked and opened the door. Then the men, for there must have been more than one, threw a cloth over her face and shut out her cry of alarm. Then gagging her they beat her head to a jelly with the iron stove plate found near her. After doing this, they ransacked the room for the money they knew she had concealed. In her trunk they found it and then fled. The detectives will not say whether or not they have a clue. The son says no one but Charles Ott, a neighbor, knew of the money being in the house, and he only within a few days. People who live in the hundreds of little shacks huddled around on the hillside within a radius of 300 yards of the cabin, several being but 30 or 40 feet away, heard not the slightest sound.

CROPS AND WEATHER.
Fruit, Hay, Grain and Produce Throughout Oregon.
The Oregon state weather bureau, in co-operation with the weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture, the central office of which is in Portland, has issued the following crop and weather bulletin for the week ending Sept. 5, 1893:
WESTERN OREGON.
Weather—A remarkably warm wave passed over during the first of the week, August 21st was the warmest day of the year, the temperature reading 90 degrees at many places. The latter part of the week was decidedly cooler. The mean temperature ranged from 58 degrees at places on the immediate coast, to 66 degrees at inland places. The atmosphere was smoky, due to numerous forest fires. The smoke was particularly dense in the Willamette and Rogue river valleys. Falling ashes became objectionable to pedestrians on the streets of Portland, where the deposit was sufficiently thick to attract attention. There was about the average amount of sunshine, and no rain occurred.
Crops—Harvest is nearing completion, being principally confined to late sown spring wheat and oats. Early sown spring wheat was a good crop, more than realizing expectations, while late sown grain was practically a failure. The grain failed to mature and many oat crops were cut for hay. The second crop of clover was light.
Hops—The hop crop is demanding the attention of the public. Preparations are being made for picking and securing large yields. From the first propitious weather that predominated resulted in securing to the hop grower an excellent stand. Now the vines are laden with burrs, of good average size and of excellent quality. Picking will commence in some sections on the 7th of September. The warm, dry weather of the past week caused the lice to multiply, especially on bottom lands where the vines are green. The crop is so far advanced towards maturity that there is little fear of any material injury being done by insects should the weather be sufficiently warm to assist them in increasing.
Fruits and vegetables—Fruit is plentiful in market. Plums and pears are of excellent quality. Much fruit is being shipped to eastern markets. Apples are plentiful, but inferior, being injured by codlin moth. Peaches are plentiful in the southern and interior counties. The crop in northern counties suffered from curl-leaf, and in some sections was an entire failure. Some fine specimens of vegetables are being shipped to market. Vegetables are plentiful for home consumption. Potatoes will average well; the crop has suffered from drouth, more rain would have matured an enormous crop. Corn continues green, with good growth; the ears are not maturing. More rain is necessary to make an average crop in all sections, except in the southern counties of Josephine and Jackson, where the essential climatic condition is warm nights.

EASTERN OREGON.
Weather—No rain fell during the past week, and the temperature was decidedly warm during the first days, and became much cooler during the close of the week. Many mountain fires caused the atmosphere to be smoky. The sunshine was about the average.
Crops—Harvest is nearly over and threshing is far advanced in the Columbia river valley. Spring sown grain is yielding below the average, as was expected. Late sown spring grain is a poor crop, yielding from 12 to 15 bushels per acre. All fall sown grain has been threshed and the yields were more satisfactory; also the quality of the grain is superior. The second crop of alfalfa is being cut. It is a light crop. Farmers will enter the winter season well supplied with hay, as the first crops were large and cured well. Hot, dry winds, which occurred on Sept. 1st, injured corn and fruit. Fruits are ripening rapidly. Peaches are not plentiful, but of good quality. Plums are excellent and abundant. Owing to depressed times, there is no sale for produce of any kind. With increased acreage, as much wheat was grown this year as in 1892. A comparison of depot receipts show that the amount of wheat shipped will equal not more than one-third the amount received at this date in 1892.

SHERMAN'S TRICKERY.
Stewart Tells How Silver Was Demonetized.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—Stewart of Nevada spoke today in opposition to repeal. He said that in 1867 the mints of the continent of Europe and those in the United States were open to the free coinage of silver. He then recited the events leading up to the demonetization of silver in 1873. Sherman, he said, introduced a bill prepared by a clique in the treasury department, headed by John J. Knox, professedly to revise and codify the mint laws, but which in reality omitted the standard silver dollar from the list of coins. After two days' debate, the bill which was reported by Sherman from the finance committee passed, Sherman, he said, voting in the negative. Sherman very well knew, said Stewart, before his name was reached in the calling of the roll, that the bill would pass by an overwhelming majority. The history of the bill in the house of representatives was suggestive. After it was developed that the bill demonetized silver, Hooper of Massachusetts, in charge of the bill, affected to abandon it. Some days afterward, in the absence of Representative Potter, of New York, who had discovered the fact that the bill demonetized silver, Hooper presented a substitute for the bill which he falsely claimed contained none of the objectionable features of the original bill. The substitute was passed under the erroneous belief produced by Hooper's statements, that the substitute was devoid of the objectionable provisions of the original bill. The substitute, as it came from the house, contained in the 6th section a provision for a dollar of 384 grains.

OREGON NEWS.
R. C. Cochran, a wealthy farmer living near Brownsville, committed suicide at his home Monday.
A fire in Albany destroyed the Delmonico restaurant and a feed store adjoining. Loss $2,300; light insurance.
Hundreds of hoppickers have congregated at Independence, and there is plenty of work. No Chinamen are being employed.
The Chinese hop pickers of Butteville and vicinity were evicted by an orderly crowd of whites, who departed about 75 of them, and will very likely take their places in the fields.
Fall fishing on the outside rivers of Oregon and Washington still continues poor. At Tillamook and Siuslaw the fish are somewhat behind last year's catch, and like discouraging reports come from every other fall cannery.
Frank Sloan, one of the two men robbed near Heppner last week, has been arrested on a warrant sworn out by Thompson, the other party robbed, who charges Sloan with being an accomplice to the robbery. Frank and New Jones have also been arrested. They engaged Judge Bennett of The Dalles to conduct their defense.
Zephin and B. R. Job, partners in a private bank of Hamilton, Job & Co., Corvallis, which suspended June 9th, were arraigned yesterday in a justice court for having failed to pay on demand county funds to the amount of $11,000, on deposit when the bank suspended. They waived examination, and were released on $4,000 bonds to await the action of the grand jury.
Ed Rains of Prineville came nearly losing his life in the mountains recently. Darkness overtook him while near the summit of a rugged mountain, and while descending it he slipped and fell down a steep place and brought up at the verge of a perpendicular cliff about forty feet in height. His legs were over, but he saved his body from following suit by clutching at some brush and checking himself. The next morning he found his hat and gun at the foot of the cliff and for the first time realized his peril.
"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator with successful effect in bilious colic and dyspepsia. It is an excellent remedy and certainly a public blessing." C. MASTERSON, Sheriff of Bibb Co., Ga.

PAUL KREFF,
Chairman of Committee on Streets and Public Property.
Dated at Dalles City, Oregon, this 20th day of August, 1893.
Among the incidents of childhood that stand out in bold relief, as our memory reverts to the days when we were young, none are more prominent than severe sickness. The young mother vividly remembers that it was the Chamberlain's Cough Remedy cured her of croup, and in turn administers it to her own offspring and always with the best results. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton, 214 Mexican Silver Stove Polish.
