WAKE UP.

If you wake up in the morning with a bitter or bad taste in your mouth, Languor, Dull Headache, Despondency, Constipation, take Simmons Liver Regulator. It corrects the bilious stomach, sweetens the breath and cleanses the furred tongue. Children as well as adults sometimes eat something that does not digest well, producing Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Restlessness, or Sleeplessness—a good dose of Regulator will give relief. So perfectly harmless is this remedy that it can be taken by the youngest infant or the most delicate person without injury, no matter what the condition of the system may be. It can do no harm if it does no good, but its reputation for 40 years proves it never fails in doing good.

THERE MAY BE WAR

France Ready to Fight to Save Herself From Ridicule.

ENGLAND IS ADVISING SIAM

A Small Island in the Mediterranean

to Be Fortified, Commanding Suez and the Dardanelles.

PARIS, Sept. 9.—The story of fresh complications between France and Siam is fully confirmed today in the utterances of the French press.

There is no doubt France is fretting under the scolding comments of foreign newspapers upon her alleged back-down before England's firm attitude.

There is still less doubt the French government is determined the foreign press shall not easily have another such chance to hold up the republic to ridicule.

Much irritation is felt against England from the fact that it is admitted she is supporting the latter country has assumed, if not advising, Siam in the dilatory in the treatment of the concessions made to France.

In consequence of the French newspapers' spurring the government is to teach England not to interfere with the colonial policies of France.

Not only has Lord Dufferin postponed his proposed vacation in Switzerland, but it is added dispatches of the most important nature were exchanged yesterday between the British foreign office and the British embassy at Paris.

As having a bearing on the Franco-Siamese complications, Figaro makes a most important announcement to the effect that Germany, having been informed that the visit of the Russian fleet to Toulon will result in the establishment of a coaling station for Russian war vessels on the French coast, has obtained as a counterblast the cession by Italy of a small island in the Mediterranean, which is to be fortified, coaled, supplied and used as a rendezvous similar to that used by Great Britain of the island of Malta, and that when done, Germany will maintain a permanent squadron in the Mediterranean.

This action, it is said, was taken after both Italy and Germany had consulted with England. The exact position of the island is not divulged, but it is said to be admirably suited for the purpose, within easy steaming distance of the Dardanelles, and near the Suez canal.

NEWS NOTES.

"Okanogan" Smith (H. F.) died in Seattle Saturday.

Paid admissions for the fair last week numbered 1,119,689.

The home rule bill lost in the house of lords by a large majority.

Mike Cleary, an ex-prize fighter, died of consumption last week.

Californians gave away a train load of fruit at Chicago Saturday.

The Cambria Iron Company of Johnstown, Pa., has posted a notice, stating that the mills will resume work Monday morning. Over 3,000 men will be given employment.

President Cleveland absolutely refuses to consent to grant any concessions in the silver fight, says the Post. More than this, he will not promise to agree to any recognition of silver, even should repeal be passed.

Representative Ellis Saturday introduced several bills, among them being measures covering land and irrigation matters, which he hopes to get through the present congress, and which will benefit Oregon settlers.

A little girl was born to the wife of President Cleveland at exactly noon Saturday. This is the first infant born in the white house. Although Mr. Cleveland is a trifle disappointed telegrams of congratulation arrive from all points.

Thomas Keene, the tragedian, while playing in Romeo and Juliet at Pittsburg, accidentally thrust his sword into the left eye of Lawrence Lowell, destroying it, and narrowly missing his brain. The scene was where "Mercutio" stabs "Tybalt."

John Gunn, of Shelby county, Tenn., charges Wm. Black with "bookkeeping" him out of $100,000. He states that he is an illiterate man, that he can scarcely read and is able to write his name only by a great effort, though he is worth over $1,000,000.

The North China Herald of August 12th brings further details of the great flood, which it pronounces the most extensive since 1800. No less than 1,400 villages have been destroyed in the metropolitan prefecture of Shantung alone. Ten thousand lives have been lost in Kiang Tung.

SENATE SPEAKERS.

Our Correspondent Rehearses Some of Their Peculiarities.

Special Correspondence of THE CHRONICLE.]

The scenes in the senate since the opening of the extra session have been remarkable for the regular and steady attendance of the senators, the sincere interest of each of them in the utterances of their associates, and the crowded galleries. It is generally the case that when a long debate is in progress in the senate the proceedings drag and then it is that the public begins to scoff at senatorial courtesy and chafes under the delay of the deliberative body.

In utter contrast to this routine has been the action thus far of the "American House of Lords." Every speaker is given the strict attention of the senate.

Those who have been fortunate enough to be present in the senate galleries have seen and heard the men of the nation at their best. The debates bristle with sharp repartee and give to the sessions of the senate an intenseness that is unusual. During the past week particularly the senate has been a rich field for the student of character, as well as the student of politics. The battle that is being waged on the floor is not apparent to the casual observer. In every motion that is made there is apt to be a hidden effort, and it takes the vigilance and quick insight of the leader to appreciate the meaning of his opponent and as quickly parry it with a counter-movement. It is very seldom that Mr. Gorman speaks to the senate. He prefers to allow others to carry out his plans, while he sits in his chair watching every movement of the silver men and having little to say above a whisper. It would be a difficult matter for anyone to analyze the temperaments of the senator from Massachusetts, Mr. Lodge, or those of Mr. Peffer from Kansas. Two men could hardly be more different in their tastes and habits. In Mr. Lodge there is the cut and dash of a college-bred New Englander, with a trim, well-dressed figure, erect and athletic in its build. Most closely resembling him in these attributes is Senator Wolcott of Colorado. For so young a man he attracts more attention to his speeches than is usual. Firmly identified with everything in the senate that has a silver lining is Mr. Stewart of Nevada. Though his power of oratory is not as magnetic as some of the fellow members, he is undoubtedly a thorn in the side of those who attempt to legislate against the white metal. He has a rather burlesque manner of expressing himself, and on this account when he takes the floor something out of the ordinary routine of debate is expected. Senator Sherman, who is another of the prominent speakers during the past week, seems to have aged since the last session, but it was apparent from his speech that he has lost none of the fire and vigorous manner of speech that has marked him as one of the most able men that this country has produced. Perhaps, next to Senator Voorhees, the democrat who is taking the most active part in the financial discussion is Senator McPherson of New Jersey. He has come forward as a strong friend of the administration in the present emergency, and on account of his experience and long service on the finance committee is one of Mr. Cleveland's most helpful lieutenants on the floor.

Mr. Cleveland is in Washington. This week the cry of the repeal people in the senate will be "Vote!" "Vote!" Mr. Voorhees has said as much. Never in the history of this country has the tremendous power of the white house been more strongly demonstrated. It is a machine whose will comes very near to being law. It is probable that a vote will be reached in about two weeks.

The return of President Cleveland to Washington in fine spirits and excellent physical condition is a sufficient disapproval of the alarming stories afloat concerning his health. He does not look at all like a very sick man, but he does look like an exceedingly well man, capable of taking hold of the management of affairs with a vigorous grip. There is not the slightest trace on his face of the dental operation of two months ago. He is very tanned by exposure to sun and wind, but his face has a good, lively color, indicative of health. His eyes are bright and clear and his step is quick and elastic for a man of his weight.

The wet and wintry chill has relegated Mr. Reed's tow suit to a wardrobe or trunk. In connection with this suit, which has become a national issue, it is to be noted that the trousers part of it is very remarkable. When its wearer first donned it they were long enough to turn up at the bottom with a killing London roll. As the days passed and the crease in them became fainter, they shrank and shrank and climbed up toward the waistband, until a couple of inches of lustrous black stockings were exposed. Upon the occasion of their last appearance in public they were not turned up and were an inch and a half too long. It is not known whether Mr. Reed's pants lengthen and contract with the rise and fall of the stock market or the ebb and flow of public confidence. Mr. Simpson of Kansas has come to regard them with a sort of blind adoration or fetich worship. On the days when they were crisp and brief he bought and sold, undertook journeys and the like. When they were long and limp he kept a careful eye upon cable cars and touched the back of every chair that he passed.

A statement issued by the secretary of the treasury this week shows that there was during August a net increase of circulation of nearly $17,000,000, which is a most gratifying showing. It is the largest increase in circulation for many years.

In the house of representatives sentiment against adjourning ad interim is very strong and is daily growing stronger.

NEWS NOTES.

Today is silver day at the world's fair. Governor Price of New Mexico, Governor Waite of Colorado, United States Senator Stewart of Nevada, A. J. Warner of Washington, C. Dougherty of Texas, and Charles S. Thomas of Colorado are expected to speak.

It is probable that the protests of the Chinese government against a rigid execution of the Geary exclusion law are to be respected and that legislation may be enacted which will amend the existing law by extending the time allowed for registration, although in no wise receding from the position heretofore assumed by this government as to the constitutionality of the measure.
