WILDEST AFRICAN TRIBE.

Mashukulumbwe, Discovered by Livingstone, Still Naked and Warlike.

In the course of a recent address in Great Britain on Africa, F. C. Selous, the famous traveler and hunter, gave many interesting particulars regarding the country around the Zambesi, and especially of Matabeleland and Mashonaland. In the latter of which he had lived and traveled and hunted between 1882 and 1892, says the African News.

He drew an interesting portrait of the Matabele chief Lobengula as he knew him in 1872, and also mentioned a chief, by name Menze, whom he met in the Mashukulumbwe country, who remembered Dr. Livingstone; and, though that was about thirty-five years ago, the old chief spoke of it as if it had happened only a few months before. These Mashukulumbwe, he said, were represented by Dr. Livingstone as being reputed to be the most savage people in that part of Africa, and that characteristic Mr. Selous showed they still retained. They went naked, unless they could call a porcupine's quill through the ear-garments they trained their hair until it became conical in shape, often two feet in height, and they always carried bundles of barbed assegais.

In one of their villages, that of a chief named Maneuga, Mr. Selous' camp was treacherously attacked at night, from which he barely escaped with his life. Twelve of his men were killed and five wounded. He himself fled into the long grass, and the record of his sufferings for the next fourteen days in endeavoring to reach his weapons was of a thrilling description. The climate he said was very suitable for Europeans, and of the future prospects of this, the most recent of British possessions, he spoke in the most hopeful strain.

Its mineral and agricultural resources are reported to be abundant, and await development.

Board of Equalization.

The county board of equalization will meet at the court house on October 23d, 1893, for the purpose of equalizing the county assessment roll for this year's assessment. The board will continue in session one week. JOEL KOONTZ, County Assessor.

THE NEW TOWN has been platted on the old camp ground, at the Forks and Falls of Hood river, with large, slightly lots, broad streets and alleys, good soil and pure water, with shade in profusion, perfect drainage, delightful mountain climate, the central attraction as a mountain summer resort for all Oregon, being the nearest town to Mt. Hood. It is unparalleled as a manufacturing center, being the natural center for 100 square miles of the best cedar and fir timber, possessing millions of horse-power in its rushing streams and water falls, easily harnessed. Where cheap motive power exists, there the manufacturing factories will center, surrounded by soil and climate that cannot be excelled anywhere for fruit and agriculture, and with transportation already assured you will find this the place to make a perfect home or a paying investment.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY. It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market. The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS. The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH. It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.
