OCTOBER OLIO.

A Savory Mess From Miscellaneous News Bits.

"Who steals my purse steals trash," He said with a jovial air. When the train robber called for cash He was on his way from the fair.

Herr Amold tonight.

The steamer Regulator brought up a large freight and some immigrant wagons with movables, etc.

For a live newspaper and the latest reliable news try the daily or weekly GUANOZARA.

Mr. A. D. Bolton brought in a hen's egg this morning two inches in diameter and 3 1/2 inches longest way.

Mr. Ed. Patterson has resigned his position as chief clerk of the money order department under M. T. Nolan.

One of the fish wheels stationed down the river near Klindt's was towed up yesterday and lies down by the incline.

Reserved seats without extra charge may be obtained by applying to Snipes & Kinerly for the Amold concert tonight.

Workmen are blasting on the Union street cut, and a large quantity of rock is coming down for future use on our streets.

The Union Whist club is a combination of the old Columbia and Mic Mac clubs and will be a social feature of first importance the coming winter.

Messrs. Seufert Bros. have shipped ten tons of Salaway peaches to the Portland cannery within the last three days. They have 300 boxes more to ship.

There was a meeting of the congregation and vestry of St. Paul's Episcopal church last night, to discuss the matter of giving some entertainments this winter for the benefit of the parish and for the amusement of the people.

Dr. Sanders, who shipped a box of ripe pines to Michigan as an experiment, has heard from them. They were eight days on the road and arrived in first-class condition. It looks as though Mr. S. A. Clark's statement about Oregon fruit not standing shipment as well as California, was not well founded.

Lovers of the superb in music are assured a rich treat tonight. Herr Amold ranks among the first of the world's violinists, and as his wife plays his accompaniments it is presumed under his tutelage, she gives the best possible effects. In the hands of the master the violin is king of all instruments. It is capable of an infinite variety of sounds, and Herr Amold is said to be just the one who can reproduce them.

THE MARKETS.

The Week Continues Dull, Partly Owing to the District Fair.

FRIDAY, Oct. 13.—This being fair week, the attractions thitherward have done much to check trade in general. Consequently a quietness prevails in the busy part of the city. The afternoons are noted for a complete cessation of trade owing to the fact, that the business houses closed their doors and put in time at the grounds and pavilion. The principal business is in the provision and grocery line and retailers are busy in the fore part of the day, and late in the evening. Prices continue steady, excepting in eggs and potatoes. Eggs are very scarce and firm; 22 1/2 cents per doz in cash was paid yesterday. Potatoes are arriving freely and have a downward tendency; 50 to 60 cents per sack of 100 lbs is the range of the market for spuds. Cabbages are in fair supply at one cent per pound. Other vegetables are plentiful and the market is quite easy and prices are nominal. Fruits are in abundance and the market is steady. There is a demand for peaches, but the supply is exhausted. The poultry market situation is unchanged, although there is a better arrival and larger offerings. The market for cereals is anything but satisfactory. Oats and barley for feed, there is a light offering in either. Barley is more in request for chop at 85 cents per cental. The inquiry for oats is limited and the market quite lifeless. The movement in wheat for storage is increasing. Light sales of small lots are noticed at 46 to 48 cents per bushel. The market is really unsatisfactory, as it depends on the Portland market for governing quotations in purchases. Eastern and foreign markets continue quiet, with a shy disposition to reach out for futures, although the bulls say the "bread loaf" was never lower in London or at consuming centers. Consumption is large, while the reserves are diminishing, and they admit the world's crop is about 100,000,000 bushels less than its actual need. Exports are decreasing, partly owing to the money stringency and partly to holdings. An Eastern exchange says: "Had our national congress taken hold of the financial condition with a determination to relieve the strained situation instead of debating over political platform ideas, the United States would have today been in a state of prosperous activity and the producers of the land would be in an easy condition."

Not the Only Violators.

The man with the "nigger babies" on the fair grounds, mentioned in yesterday's CHRONICLE, is not the only one who is openly defying the law of this state. The proprietors of some of the leading saloons are guilty nightly of allowing young boys in their places of business. This is a very serious offence and one which our officers will not overlook. Of course "fair week" is a kind of free pitch in for everybody but boys in the saloons "don't go." JUSTICE.

"During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhoea," says A. E. Beneing, of Halsey, Oregon. "Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

How They Were Entertained in Heppner -- Meet Next in Portland.

The U. P. train leaving Portland Monday evening last carried with it a jolly crowd of Knights, representatives and their ladies, which was augmented at stations along the route. A special train was made up at Arlington, arriving at Heppner at about 3:30 a. m. on Tuesday. The visiting Knights were met at the train by members of Doric lodge, No. 20, of Heppner, with the Heppner Cornet band. Proceeding from the depot the Knights were located comfortably in hotels and private houses about the town. A parade headed by the Heppner Uniform Division was the feature of the day, and after proceeding through the principal streets, came to a halt in the opera house, where addresses of welcome were made by the mayor and others and the oration delivered by the grand orator. The grand lodge organized for business at 7 p. m. and after reports of committee on credentials and admittance of new members, adjourned to tip the light fantastic until the "wee sma' hours" of Wednesday. Wednesday forenoon was taken up principally in the election of officers, the result of which was: G. W. Jett, supreme representative; E. E. Sharon, P. G. C.; J. A. Waddle, G. C.; J. L. Hill, G. V. C.; E. P. Geary, grand prelate; E. M. Sargent, G. M. of Ex.; G. F. McConnell, G. K. of R. S.; J. O. Watts, G. M. at A.; O. Patterson, G. I. G.; C. E. Fellows, G. O. G.; L. F. Cook, A. D. C. on Carnahan's staff. G. W. Posey, of Portland, was elected colonel for the first regiment, state of Oregon. A sumptuous banquet prepared by the ladies of Heppner was served in the hall on Wednesday night. The remainder of the session was principally taken up in the passage of a new constitution governing grand and subordinate lodges. The grand lodge adjourned sine die last night at 9 o'clock and the visiting brothers departed for their homes with the unanimous sentiment that they had been royally entertained by their brothers of Heppner, ably assisted by their lady friends. The next session meets in October, 1894, at Portland, Or.

NEARING THE CLOSE.

Yesterdays Races, the Drivers and Their Costumes--Notes, Etc.

Ladies' day at the fair was the most successful of the week. The grand stand was crowded with the feminine beauty of the town, who enthusiastically watched the performance of the horses. The band, stationed in the grand stand, played during the intermission between the races and the audience was treated to music of exceptional excellence. The boys were applauded repeatedly and they certainly deserve approbation.

The pavilion was crowded with sight-seers, and their surprise and pleasure at the magnitude of the exhibits was genuine. All the stores were closed from 2 till 5 in the afternoon and the clerks were out for a holiday. The farmers, also, attended in large numbers and altogether the day can be called a great success.

The races were very good and free from objectionable features. In the 1/2 mile and repeat Rockland Boy won the first heat, with Siretta a very close second. At the turn into the home stretch Siretta was ahead, but Rockland Boy passed her and won by a neck; Champagne third and Little Joe fourth. The second heat was a grand race. The horses got a bad start, but three of them were up as they came into the home stretch and passed under the wire with noses so even that it was impossible for the crowd to agree on the winner. The judges, however, by a majority vote gave it to Little Joe, Rockland Boy second and Champagne third; time 52 seconds. The last heat was run by Rockland Boy and Little Joe. Rockland Boy won; time 53 seconds.

The gentlemen's roadster race was the event of the day. Everybody was full of interest and hailed each driver and horse with expressions of recognition and approval. The race reminded one of Ben Hur's chariot race. The costumes of the jockeys were striking. Mr. John S. Schenck first appeared in the ring driving his pretty pacer, Pearl Knox. Mr. Schenck was attired in a dark brown suit, with overcoat tightly buttoned around his neck. He was followed by M. A. Moody, dressed in a black coat and vest, light pants, a derby hat and a pair of tan shoes. Mr. McInerney wore plain black, with a white hat, and drove his fast horse, John Day. Robt. Mays, jr., drove Bonner and was dressed in a dark blue suit, light jockey cap and a cigarette. It was hard to say just how John Rhodes was dressed on account of the swiftness of his fiery steed but he was there all the same. After considerable jockeying done in a professional manner the horses got off. Mr. Mays, however, was a little late in starting, which made the race unequal for him. Mr. Schenck's mare took the lead and moved over the ground swiftly and gracefully. She doubtless would have won the race had not John Rhodes come along galloping his horse as though chasing cattle. Pearl Knox broke, allowing Mr. McInerney to win the heat. It was true that John Rhodes came out first, but as his horse ran under the wire the judges ruled him out. The order of winning was: J. P. McInerney, John Day, 1st; M. A. Moody, 2nd; J. S. Schenck, Pearl Knox, 3rd; Robt. Mays, jr., Bonner, 4th and John Rhodes, John L., last; time, 1:31.

The second heat was won by John Day, Pearl Knox 2nd, Pet 3rd and John L. 4th. In the last heat the first three only started. Mr. Rhodes was tired of racing. This time the judges got rattled and part said go! while the rest said stop. The result was that Messrs. McInerney and Schenck got away while Mr. Moody, who had heard them say not to go, remained. How the judges blundered it is hard to say. Mr. Moody didn't protest, so the heat was given to Mr. McInerney and carried with it the race; time 1:31. And so ended the great roadster race.

The judges are busy in the pavilion this morning making awards to the exhibitors. It is no easy work, and calls for good judgment and a mind that is proof against criticism, for in competition some one is sure to be disappointed. There are a great number of displays and in nearly every class there is more than one exhibitor. Some of the premiums are already awarded, and by this evening blue ribbons will dot the whole pavilion. The time for closing the entries was 11 o'clock yesterday morning, so there are no new exhibits today. THE CHRONICLE has the best interests of the fair at heart and has endeavored to mention the principal displays. If any have been overlooked it has not been intentionally.

One thing of interest noticed today was a deed drawn 120 years ago by Capt. Noah Griswold, the great great grandfather of Mr. S. B. Adams, and a member of the famous Boston tea party. The deed conveys 50 acres of land in Windsor, Hartford county, Conn., and is in good preservation.

NOTES.

The parade of fat stock will take place tomorrow forenoon. It will be well worth seeing.

The baseball diamond at the grounds was occupied by a crowd of young fellows playing a game for practice.

In one of the trotting heats yesterday there was disappointment that Pearl Knox did not win that heat, as she

COAL DISCOVERED.

A Ten-Foot Vein Which Grows Wider as It is Developed.

Mr. Winans was in the city this morning with specimens of coal, which has recently been discovered near the town bearing his name. The prospects are more flattering than any of the kind ever discovered in Oregon, and Mr. Winans has no doubt but that he has stumbled upon an extensive field of it. A force of men are now at work sinking a shaft to develop it. The vein is already ten feet thick and slopes downward in the true Pennsylvania fashion. The further it is developed the wider it grows and the better the quality of the coal. It burns readily, is hard and of good color. The mine is only seven miles from the railroad and if Mr. Winans' predictions turn out to be correct in regard to quantity it will be but a matter of short time till the mine has railroad connection with the main line of the Union Pacific, and employment will be furnished for thousands of men. Parties in The Dalles conversant with the facts are enthusiastic over it and freely volunteer financial aid.

Should be Repaid. The following is a copy of a letter written to Senator Dolph by Capt Lewis and clearly states the condition of the settlers on forfeited railroad lands, as the gentlemen sees it, and there is no doubt as to the soundness of his reasoning: The bill (H. R. 1,127) for the relief of Francis M. Tomlin, introduced by Mr. McKee, will establish just the precedent wanted to make easier the passage of the bill providing for the repayment of the excess of $1.25 per acre paid for the double minimum land within the limits of the grant to the N. P. Ry. Co., since forfeited. The obvious reasons for charging double price ($2.50 per acre) were, that the building of a railway would enhance the value of the lands along the line to that extent and that by setting the even sections at that price the government would lose nothing by its grant to the railway of the odd sections. This was an implied contract between the government and the settlers. On the one hand the railway was to be built and on the other double price would be paid for the land. The settler fulfilled his part of the contract, but the government, through the failure of the railroad company to build the road, has failed to do its part. More than that, the government has declared forfeited and has taken back the odd sections and still retains the excess paid by the settler on the even sections. The justice of this claim for repayment is so obvious that the railroad company has in every instance when applied for, repaid to those who purchased from them in former years lands since declared forfeited, not only the amount paid them in excess of $1.25 per acre, but interest on the same from date of such payments.

Today's Races. Little Nell won the pony race; with Cricket second. Nola G. won the 1/2 mile dash; Chance 2nd. Time 53 1/2.

Has Never Been Disappointed.

The above words speak volumes and cannot be said of many things, but coming from one who has been a sufferer for many years, no further tribute can be added: GENTLEMEN: I have been a sufferer from headache for many years and can cheerfully recommend Krause's Headache Capsules as being the only preparation that has given almost instant relief. Have been using them for about six months and have never yet been disappointed in them. Yours with respect, WILL H. SLEEP, Pub. Altoona Pa. Mirror. Sold by Snipes & Kinerly.
