OCTOBER OLIO.

A Savory Mess From Miscellaneous News Bits.

His borrow, or has earned a loss. To him as well as me. For I have lost the money loan 1. And he his memory.

The ladies of the Good Intent society desire to thank those who assisted at last night's entertainment.

Fargher Bros. shipped last night from Saltmarsh & Co.'s stock yards five cars of sheep to Troutdale and Sound ports.

Lieut. S. Collins has been detailed to examine the officers elect of "B" company. The examinations to be held within the next 15 days.

Mr. D. Farrington presented us with a fine lot of samples of apples grown on his farm 15 miles southeast of the city which are beauties. The trees were set out eight years ago on bunch grass land, and their growth is marvelous.

The electric light works propose moving the incandescent lights tomorrow, and the one who have become accustomed to them will tomorrow night have to return at the coal oil can from the cellar or the still more ancient tallow dip.

The Regulator dock was last night packed with wheat in sacks, six deep. There was so much of it that it could not all be taken at one time, necessitating a special through trip tomorrow. She will also carry passengers at excursion rates.

The Chrysanthemum club gave their second social hop, at their hall last evening, which was enjoyed very much by the members and friends of the club. The music was excellent and twenty couples tripped the light fantastic until a reasonable hour. The club knows well how to entertain, which was shown by the merry and jolly crowd that assembled with them.

Thirteen four-horse teams were awaiting their turn to be loaded at the dock at 11:40 o'clock this morning. Today is very lively in the wheat traffic, a larger number of teams coming in from the country than any day previous. The streets present an animated appearance. It is estimated that 120 teams came into town this forenoon, which is ahead of any previous record.

The case of A. Bettingen vs. John Davis is being heard today in Justice Davis' court. The action is brought for forcible entry and detainer, and involves the right to the possession of real estate. It will also likely develop into the question of title to real estate, in which event, under our statutes, it will pass beyond the jurisdiction of a justice's court.

The state military board have passed favorably on the petition for a company at this point and Thursday evening, Oct. 14th, the signers of the petition will assemble at the court house for the purpose of being mustered in and electing officers. It is not yet known what letter the company will adopt, but they have a number left to choose from. Lt. Col. G. P. Thompson, has been detailed as mustering officer and will act as inspector of election.

Prof. J. H. Clark, of Dayton, O., the world's greatest specialist on embalming, was in the city yesterday. He is engaged to deliver a series of lectures all through next week at Portland, having been employed by the Northwest Funeral Directors' Association, and this morning the gentleman, accompanied by Mr. J. C. Crandall, of this city, left for Portland. Messrs. Wm. Michell and I. C. Burgett will leave Monday and be present at the lectures.

One of the band boys says that the item in last evening's paper concerning outside talent is true enough, and pity 'tis 'tis true; that while there is plenty of good material in The Dalles they do not interest themselves and come out, necessitating employing outside help, and these they usually pay out of their own pockets. This is bad. Every man owes something to his neighbor in social usage, and even if he contributes more than his share there is never anything lost by it.

Robert Mays has seed rye for sale at his farm in Tygh Valley.

Last Night's German.

The german given by the Mignonette Dancing Club was one of the pleasantest social events ever known in The Dalles. Fraternity hall was crowded with dancers keeping time to the exquisite music by Birgfeld's orchestra. The favors, which were neatly gotten up, were dispensed by Mrs. F. P. Mays and Judge Blakeley, and the figures offered a pleasing variety to the usual order of dancing. The german was skillfully led by Miss Bessie Lang and Mr. Robert Mays, jr. The Mignonette dances are becoming very popular, and the increased attendance last night shows they are well appreciated.

BRE'ER RAM WINS

In the Bull Fight Today—The Stock Parade, Etc.

The stock parade at 11:30 brought out quite a crowd of spectators. The procession of fat stock, including horses, cattle, sheep, geese, etc., passed up and down in front of the grand stand and elicited much enthusiasm. The stallions belonging to Robt. Kelley of Kingsley were a fine lot, and held their heads as if they knew how much they were being admired. All the premium awards were out and each one had either a blue or red ribbon tied to its head. The parade altogether was the best seen for several years.

After the exhibition the grand tug of war a la Espagnol was announced. The contestants were Oregon King, a blue ribboner, Pound Champion, wearing a red ribbon, and one that was nameless. After much parleying the animals rubbed heads and drew back and looked at each other, as if to figure out the situation. This round was given to Oregon King; time 38 seconds. The next three rounds resulted similarly. The fourth round was a straight contest. Oregon King and Pound Champion kissed and then proceeded to push one another off the track. At this juncture a ram belonging to Geo Snipes came on the scene and rushing in between the contestants scared them so badly that they both showed their heels and ran. The victory was awarded to "Brer. Ram;" time instantaneous.

For the benefit of outside papers we will say that no blood was shed, and of that which remained unshed there was none of it bad.

The judges have completed their labors and all premiums have been awarded.

The list of prizes are in the hands of the secretary for rectification and will not be ready for publication till three or four days have passed. This afternoon the exhibits are being removed and this evening the fifth annual meeting of the District fair is over. While its success might have been greater, still considering the hard times and the late rains, it has been as good as could be expected.

NOTES.

The judges yesterday were C. W. Rice, Henry Southern, James Woodcock.

Today has been another gorgeous one for the fair and has evened up for the bad weather during the fore part of the week.

Mr. W. J. Davidson remembered the newspaper reporters on the ground by giving them a bottle of home-made cider which took the premium. That's what all the exhibitors ought to do—turn over their exhibits to the newspaper men.

One of the prettiest parts of the parade this morning was a flock of four geese belonging to Mr. Johns. They marched stately along the track and elicited much applause. They are originally wild geese but have been trained till they are very tame.

Herrin's display has called for great praise on the part of the beholders. Each picture has been the object of interest and all the views carefully studied. Mr. Herrin has received eight first prizes at the hands of the judges. First collection of photographs; first collection of views; first specimen photographs; first specimen water color photo; first specimen oil painting. This was painted by Mr. Herrin himself and was the first one from his brush. There were also a first prize for a bromide photo and a crayon portrait of a little child. This last was exceptionally good and has received honorable mention in Portland as well as here. People are fortunate in being able to have such work done at home and shouldn't patronize these crayon fakirs who visit our town periodically.

"During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhoea," says A. E. Beneing, of Halsey, Oregon. "Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

A MUSICAL TREAT.

Herr Aamold and Local Talent Give a Splendid Entertainment.

An appreciative, but not very large audience, gathered at the Methodist church last evening to hear the Swedish violinist and local talent. The latter, it is needless to say, was of its usual high merit.

The piano duet by Misses Ione Ruch and Georgia Sampson was a rollicking piece, designed to put the audience en rapport with the nature of the feast prepared, and Herr Aamold followed with his "Yankee Doodle with variations." The Norwegian artist seemed in this to cover the whole gamut of musical sounds at one stroke, and at once established himself in the minds of the audience as a genius.

J. P. Benton followed with a fantasia on "Home, Sweet Home." The gentleman excelled himself in the effort, the succession of the fractional notes being so rapid as to excite wonder as to how it could be done. Herr Aamold again played in his remarkable style, and Miss Georgia Sampson next recited "Mona's Waters." The recitation is very thrilling and was given in her thorough dramatic style, with which a Dalles audience is familiar. "I Whistle and Wait for Katie" was the subject of a popular quartette next sung by Messrs. Allaway, Snowden, Magee and Haworth. After extracting what music there was in this out of it, Herr Aamold played another selection. He received an encore, after which Miss Maie Williams sang Tosti's "Beauty's Eyes." The lady has a voice of great depth and sweetness, and entranced her listeners with the exquisite melody of the piece.

The program concluded with some more violin playing by Herr Aamold. He is certainly remarkable. He is of spare build, and as he stands upon the rostrum, his unruly locks waving with the undulations of his head, and every muscle alert with energy, it is plain that his whole soul is bound up in his work. The imprisoned spirit of music within his instrument bursts its bounds and, as if glad to be free, gives such sounds as are seldom given to mortal ears. His work on two strings is exceptionally fine, and from but the one instrument he actually brings forth a full he mony of sounds that it would seem could only be produced by several violinists playing at once. Aamold is superb.

Has Never Been Disappointed.

The above words speak volumes and cannot be said of many things, but coming from one who has been a sufferer for many years, no further tribute can be added: GENTLEMEN—I have been a sufferer from headache for many years and can cheerfully recommend Krause's Headache Capsules as being the only preparation that has given almost instant relief. Have been using them for about six months and have never yet been disappointed in them. Yours with respect,

THE DALLES

Wasco County, Oregon.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here. The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.
