NO DOUBT WRECKED

A Lake Steamer Reported to Have Gone Ashore and All Hands Lost.

CREW COMPRISED EIGHTEEN MEN.

Three Bodies Were Washed Ashore, One of Them Being Identified as the First Engineer.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The saddest feature of the lake storm which raged yesterday and last night is the reported loss of the steamer Dean Richmond, on the shore near Dunkirk. The first heard of the disaster was at 9 o'clock this morning, when the captain of the Helen T. reported having sighted the Dean Richmond off Long point, where she was laboring under difficulties. Later Captain Tierney, of the W. H. Stevens, reported that he sighted the Richmond in the middle of the lake, four miles this side of Erie. One of her stacks was missing, and while he was looking the other stack and a spar went by the board. She was laboring heavily in the trough of the seas, as her steering gear had become disabled. Since then nothing has been seen or heard of the vessel. It is thought she must have gone down with all on board and a cargo of merchandise from Toledo to Buffalo. She belonged to the Toledo, St. Louis and Kansas line. The crew consisted of about 18 souls.

A dispatch from Dunkirk this evening states that three bodies were washed ashore a few miles from there. One was definitely identified as that of John Hogan, the first engineer, of Port Huron, Mich. A boat bearing the steamer's name was found later, and some barrels of flour which formed part of her cargo also drifted to land. She must have gone down off Lighthouse point.

UNION PACIFIC RECEIVERSHIP.

Effect of the House Resolution on Its Relations With the Government.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The resolution passed by the house, relating to the receivership of the Union Pacific railway, and calling upon the attorney-general to inform the house what legislation, if any, is necessary to secure the indebtedness of that company to the government, may result in important developments in the relations of that company and the government. The relations between the government were materially altered when the road went into the hands of a receiver. Not so much from a legal standpoint, as by the Thurman act the government obtained a lien of all the properties of the company, but the insolvency of the company renders it impossible for it to discharge its obligations to the government when they mature. It gives the receiver, under common law, power to convert assets into cash, and empowers him to issue receivers' certificates to operate the road. Some of the bonds mature in 1895, and if matters with the road go badly under the receivership, the result might be to throw the government's claim and all other liens into court, with the inevitable effect of great loss to the government's interest.

A Tramp Held Responsible.

JACKSON, Mich., Oct. 15.—At the coroner's inquest into the Michigan Central wreck, which will be held tomorrow, Fred T. Slater will testify that he saw a tramp standing on the platform of the car next to the engine in the second section of the train. The cook behind the engine that connects the air-brake was found turned immediately after the wreck, which prevented the air-brake from working. It is believed the tramp wanted to get off the train before it pulled into the station and turned the cook, thinking it would make the train slack up.

Unprecedented Loss to Shipping.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The severity of the northwest gale that has swept the great lakes for the past 28 hours has not been exceeded during the season for the past 10 years. The list of wrecks in proportion to the number of vessels which were out in the gale is larger, perhaps, than in the history of the latter-day marine. That there has been a large loss of life now seems certain, but it may be several days before it is known just how many sailors perished.

"I have used Simmons Liver Regulator for constipation of my bowels caused by temporary derangement of the liver, for the last three or four years, and always with decided benefit." HIRAM WARNER, Late Chief Justice of Ga.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Cleveland's Management Censured--The Senators Are Now Getting Tired.

From our regular correspondent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13, 1893.

Had Mr. Cleveland the tact which experience should have given to any man old enough to have been elected president of the United States he might have at any time during the last three or four weeks dictated the terms of a compromise by which the purchasing clause of the silver law might have been repealed. But he knew more than all his advisers and insisted that the senate should make the ridiculous test of physical endurance which began on Wednesday night of this week, the failure of which was openly predicted before it began by a majority of the senators who took part in it. About the only thing so far accomplished by the continuous session is the weakening of the president's influence. Unless all signs fail the compromise which will result, if there be any result, will be arranged without regard to Mr. Cleveland's wishes, notwithstanding the almost continual presence of his personal representative, Secretary Carlisle, at the capitol. By the way, many consider that Secretary Carlisle's action in this matter has been violation of good taste; it looks as though he was there to prevent the administration senators going astray. The senators are very, very tired and the end of the business is not far off.

It costs a lot of money to keep detectives hanging around the homes of pensioned veterans in search of some excuse to deprive the pensioner of all or a portion of his allowance. In the regular pension appropriation bill for the current fiscal year there was an item of $200,000 for the investigation of pension cases; that is, to pay expenses incurred outside of the regular machinery of the pension bureau. Although only a little more than one-fourth of the fiscal year has gone all of that $200,000 appropriation has been expended and Secretary Hoke Smith has asked congress for an additional appropriation of $300,000 to be used for the same purpose.

Although the elections are more than a year off the Republican congressional campaign committee has organized for business and will at once open headquarters in Washington and begin the work that is expected to result in giving the republicans control of the next house. The following experienced campaigners will run the machine: Chairman, Hon. J. A. Cadwell of Ohio; vice-chairman, Hon. J. W. Babcock of Wisconsin; secretary, Hon. S. S. Olds of Michigan; assistant secretary, Col. T. H. McKee of Indiana. An executive committee composed of the following senators and representatives, in addition to the chairman and secretary who are ex-officio members, will be in immediate charge: Representatives Draper of Massachusetts; Hooper of New York; Hitt of Illinois; Sweet of Idaho, and Settle of North Carolina, and Senators Manderson of Nebraska and Perkins of California.

The alleged investigation of the New York custom house may turn out to be a very bad investment for Secretary Carlisle and the rest of the administration. The so-called commissioners—ex-Secretary Fairchild, ex-Congressman Dunn of Arkansas and a New York politician—are each drawing a salary of $25 a day in addition to a liberal allowance for expenses, and the whole business is eating up the "fraud fund" of the treasury at the rate of $150 a day and absolutely nothing that will ever benefit the country is being accomplished.

It required a democratic caucus decree to get the bill for the repeal of all laws providing for federal supervision of elections through the house, but it is not believed that any known power could get the bill through the senate in its present condition. Democratic senators are reported to have declared the bill to be entirely too sweeping and to have intimated their willingness to see the bill modified before it passes the senate. There is a rumor, too, that Mr. Cleveland would veto the bill if it were sent to him in its present condition, but its authenticity is doubtful.

Owing to a hitch in the confirmation of the nomination of Mr. Hornblower to succeed the late Justice Blatchford of the U. S. Supreme court, that court is holding its present term with one vacant seat. It is not thought that the hitch will result in defeating Mr. Hornblower's confirmation, although a number of protests against it, on account of his age and lack of legal experience, have been received by members of the senate judiciary committee. It seems to be settled that Van Allen's nomination to be ambassador to Italy is to be confirmed by a party vote, but for some reason it was not done this week.

The House has taken up the bill providing a substitute for the Geary Chinese law which is the result of the negotiations of the new Chinese minister with Secretary Gresham. Although opposed by Representative Geary and some of the other Pacific coast members it will pass. Cas.

NEWS NOTES.

The Uruguayan government has decided to increase its army strength.

A prominent merchant of Pullman, Wash., was shot and killed by a burglar last night.

Colonel W. H. H. Taylor, state librarian since 1877, is dying at his home in St. Paul, Minn.

The McCreary Chinese exclusion bill passed the house with Geary's amendment as to photographing Chinese and defining Chinese merchants.

Further details of the bombardment of Rio indicate that the government forces suffered heavy losses, but the government is suppressing all reports of the casualties.

Bryan of Nebraska, who is a member of the committee on ways and means, advocates that an income tax be made part of the tariff bill. If it is incorporated he will present it to the house in some form.

Emma Goldman, the anarchist, last week convicted of taking part in an anarchistic assemblage in Union square in August last, was this morning sentenced by Judge Martine in the court of general sessions to one year's imprisonment in the penitentiary.

During the week ending Saturday night, October 14th, 2,121,794 paid admission to the world's fair, making it thus far the banner week of the exposition, and surpassing by far the attendance for a like period of any international exposition ever held.

The belief is general that the house will accept almost any substitute the senate will adopt, and the majority incline to the opinion that the president will sign the bill when it shall reach him. The general belief is that when the bill is once signed there will be a speedy movement in congress looking to a recess until the beginning of the regular session, the first Monday in December.

The democratic members of the ways and means committee hope to have the tariff bill reported within a month and have it pass the house before the holidays. The greatest secrecy is enjoined on all the members who have the preparation of the tariff bill in hand. It looks very much as if iron ore will follow coal into the free list. Another ore that will probably be restored to the free list is lead.
