THE CHANGE IS HERE.

"Let's have a change!" the restless mugwump cried.

"Why seek a change?" the patriot statesman cried.

"Why seek a change when every want's supplied?"

Now came and swayed the mighty struggle on. The champions raise their doughtiest armor don.

The mugwumps shout "Reform" reform! The democrats our tariffs storm.

The patriot statesmen vain their protest made. "Gales" baring growing gain for losing trade.

The change was wrought. The mighty strides we made. In thirty years of growing wealth and trade.

THE DEMOCRATS BLAMEWORTHY.

Capt. Lewis has written two letters to Senator Dolph, urging him to do all in his power to get an extension of time for settlers on forfeited railroad lands to pay for them.

The Oregon delegation have worked hard for the end which Capt. Lewis urges, but heretofore congress has drawn party lines upon the question and there is no reason to suppose it will not do so again.

While the secretary of the interior has reported favorably upon it, every democrat in the committee is opposed to it.

Even should the bill be so fortunate as to be reported from the committee, which will require the populist vote, the democratic majority in the senate will still defeat it, for every democratic senator is opposed to it.

A strange sea monster is the battleship Oregon when viewed from the platform surrounding her ponderous frame, about which circle swarms of mechanics, busy preparing the big ship for its plunge in San Francisco bay.

A MODIFIED WHALEBACK.

Ship Builders Are Interested in a Novel Craft in England.

Ship builders have been interested in the construction recently at Sunderland, Eng., of a novel craft, a modification of the whaleback type, now so familiar on our western lakes.

The description of this new English steamer, the only one of its kind yet built, it appears, says Science, that the hull is shaped like other vessels from keel to water line, but from the latter the shell is rounded off upward and inward until it terminates at the upper deck level in an upright structure termed a turret, running fore and aft.

The vessel has no shear, the deck reaching in a perfectly straight line fore and aft; the plating, curving inward from the water line to the turret deck, is thick and strong like that of the hull proper, so that the whole skin of the vessel is of the same degree of thickness throughout.

The engines are placed aft, as in the construction of whaleback steamers, by which arrangement there is a long, continuous hold from the engine-room to the fore-castle, this being interfered with only by the necessary bulkheads.

Another feature pertaining to this steamer is the location of the boats, and the accommodation for engineers and crew, all about the engine-room, though the captain and officers are placed, as usual, under the bridge forward.

She Wanted No Nonsense.

The following story is told of a citizen of Port Chester, N. Y., whose education is somewhat superior to his wife's, a fact regarding which she was very sensitive.

On one occasion the man drove over to White Plains to inquire regarding the health of his sister-in-law, who was dangerously ill.

Upon returning he was met by his wife, who asked of her sister's condition. "She is convalescent," replied the man. "Immediately and in the most emphatic manner the woman cried out: 'I want none of your soothing words. I want facts. You tell me this minute, is my sister dead or alive?'"

Perhaps some of our readers would like to know in what respect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better than any other. We will tell you.

When this remedy has been taken as soon as a cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it will counteract the effect of the cold and greatly lessen its severity.

It acts in perfect harmony with nature and aids nature in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions, liquifying the mucus and causing its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, and restoring the system to a strong and healthy condition.

No other remedy in the market possesses these remarkable properties. No other will cure a cold so quickly.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT

WHERE LIFE IS INSECURE.

African Village Awakened at Midnight by Murderous Raiders.

Some evening you look around the village and see the people at their usual occupations, and later on retire to rest, writes Dr. Laws, in the Zenana Record.

Suddenly the midnight stillness is broken by a distant call, and, alert, you raise yourself to listen. The call comes nearer, and is taken up and passed by other voices, and soon you are convinced it is the cry of alarm—war! war!

A few minutes more and the village is astir, the people rushing hither and thither, seeking to find safety in the thickest bush—a mother calling for her children, or child for mother, but unable to find each other because of the alarm and scare which have separated them.

You spend a wakeful and watchful night, not knowing where the enemy may be, nor where his attack may take place.

After long, anxious, weary hours you are thankful to notice the first glimmer of dawn showing itself in the east.

A dangerous hour passes by and the enemy who has been expected is not seen; but later on you see smoke rising from a village miles away, and in the course of a few hours you may see men, women and children with terror-stricken faces, torn limbs and bleeding feet hurrying past, or, it may be, coming to you to get their wounds dressed.

As you seek to relieve their pain you hear of how one child is missing, another has been carried away captive and a third murdered, and the homes of all, with their stores of grain, have been burned to ashes.
