MURDER AT PULLMAN

A. B. Cooper Shot and Killed by Burglar.

THE MURDERER MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Four Killed and Two Injured in a Train Wreck--Other News Happenings.

PULLMAN, Wash., Oct. 17.-This morning at 3:15 o'clock the room of A. B. Cooper and W. P. McKean was entered by a burglar. The intruder made a noise which awoke Cooper, who sprang from his bed and stood by the door. The burglar seeing that he was overpowered, drew his revolver and fired with fatal results, the ball entering the breast just above the heart. The murderer escaped through the door and the hotel and threw away the watches and revolver. The stolen property was found shortly after. The hotel doors were locked and every one searched, but no clue was found. The villain did his work well. Cooper was lately from Kansas City and was manager of Blackman Bros. & Co's store in this city. Excitement runs high and it would not be well for the murderer if he is found. Deputy Sheriff Eacho, of Colfax, who was stopping at the hotel was also robbed of his watch and $5 in change, as was also one Trede.

The Regular Train Wreck.

PHTSBURG, Oct. 17.-The first section of the New York and Chicago limited express, east-bound on the Fort Wayne road, was wrecked at Wellsville.. O., early this morning by running into s freight train standing on the track. A heavy fog prevailed at the time and the engineer of the limited was unable to see it till too late to prevent the collision. As a result two trainmen were killed and four others injured, two of them probably fatally.

A Gloomy Wedding Tour.

TURIN, Oct. 17 .- Madam Charbonnet, who went in a balloon on her wedding tour and was thrown out with her husband and his friends in the Italian Alps on October 11, arrived here today. Her husband, a professional aeronaut, is dead. His friend M. Ponto, is recovering slowly from his injuries. Madam Charbonnet says that the balloon struck occupants were thrown out, but were not badly hurt. They passed the night land. Steamer Regulator leaves The mella peaks, their only shelter being a necting with steamer Regulator for The of the mountain. They had gone hardly a mile when Charbonnet disappeared in a crevasse. Ponto and Madam Charbonnet wandered over the glacier during the rest of the day. In the evening Ponto fell and broke his leg. The couple passed a second night in the snow and ice. Then Madam Charbonnet went alone down the mountain to a hut, where she induced two guides to go back after her husband and Ponto. Charbonrevived after he was taken to the hut.

Murder and suicide. GRIEFSWALD, Pomerania, Oct. 17 .- A startling tragedy has occurred in the princely family of Blucher de Wahlstatt, descendants of the famous Marshal Blucher. The family is wealthy, with marriage connections in England and the United States. The Countess Blucher became displeased with and dismissed a pretty maid servant with whom the count's gardener was desperately in love. The man pleaded with the count and countess in vain for the reinstatement of his inamorata. Later the count and countess were looking out of a window when the gardener jumped from behind a bush with a rifle and fired, killing the count. He then shot the countess in the neck, and then committed suicide with the same weapon.

"During my term of service in the army I contracted chronic diarrhoa," says A. E. Beneing, of Halaey, Oregon. "Since then I have used a great amount of medicine, but when I found any that would give me relief they would injure my stomach, until Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was brought to my notice. I used it and will say it is the only remedy that gave me permanent relief and no bad results follow." For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.

In the case of the state vs. Mel Dustin, charged with rape, the Heppner grand jury reported not a true bill.

The late heavy rains have caused considerable damage on the roads leading to Mt. Hood. All the tributaries of the Sandy and Salmon rivers have been out of their banks and the bridges over the went to a window on the south side of Zigzag and State creeks have been swept away.

A report reached us this week stating that a band of covotes chased and treed one of Mr. Shrum's sheep herders on the Cherry creek side of the mountain last Sunday evening. Relief came in time, so the story goes; the herder was saved and twenty-one of the brutes were killed .- Prineville News.

The rains last week raised Wind River to a very high stage, and as there was about 250 cords of wood along the bank, it all floated out and came down the Columbia. Casper Gropper, a rancher who lives near here, had about ninety cords among the lot. This is a great lose to many of our hard working ranchers.-Stevenson Pioneer.

While hunting horses last Thursday, John and Joe Elliott found a large silverbear in the old river bed about twelve miles from Prineville. They gave chase and finally ran it up a juniper. Having nothing with which to shoot it, John herded bruin while Joe rode to the nearest ranch, some six miles, after a rifle. On his return a couple of shots brought the bear to the ground. farm than people imagine," remarked a man to a Boston Herald contributor a few days ago. "A man may support a yacht, go off on long cruises, entertain liberally and gain the reputation of being a hail fellow well met; but oftentimes, it has been asserted, the running of a farm is still more costly. People as a rule labor under the impression that the returns more than offset the outlay. They figure that the owner raises enough of vegetables and fruit to last him from year to year, and the fact that he can enjoy home-made butter is something not to be disregarded in summing up the profit and loss. Now that idea is entirely erroneous, which I think I can prove to your satisfaction." Then, settling himself in his seat, the speaker went on to tell of the agricultural experience of William M. Evarts, the famous New York lawyer, who has just celebrated his golden wedding on his farm. He realized at one time, it has been said, an income of over $50 000 yearly from his practice. He was also the owner of the place at Windsor, Vt., on which a gang of men was constantly employed. On one occasion a lady, hearing of Mr. Evarts' large income from his profession, exclaimed in the presence of the attorney's wife: "How rich they must be!" to which the latter replied, in a quiet manner: "You forget, madam, that we own a farm." It is also related of the distinguished lawyer that, while entertaining a number of friends at his home one evening, he produced several bottles of champagne and a quantity of milk. Turning to his guests he said, without a semblance of humor: "Gentlemen, here is some milk from my farm and here is some wine. You can take your choice, they

The French merchant ship Marseilles foundered at sea and the vessel and cargo are a total loss. All the crew and passengers are thought to be safe. She was caught in the recent gale on the South Atlantic. The Marseilles was on the way from Havre to New York with a valuable cargo of merchandise and wines.

Advices from Melilla say the Moors are strongly intrenched, and are making daring sallies against the Spaniards, whose position is now regarded as serious. Reinforcements which arrived at Melilla are utterly inadequate, and fully 15,000 men will be required in order to enable the Spaniards to take the

Many residents who remained in the city during the prior bombardment are now fleeing to interior cities and towns. Great honor was shown the Russians by the French over their arrival in Paris yesterday. Windows, balconies, house tops and even chimneys, along the route which the Russians took were black with sightseers. The Russians appeared and entered carriages, and the great throng set up a mighty shout of "Vive la Russia." Admiral Avellan and the officers accompanying him stood in carriages and replied with shouts of "Vive la France."

Perhaps some of our readers would like to know in what respect Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is better than any other. We will tell you. When this remedo has been taken as soon as a cold has been contracted, and before it has become settled in the system, it will counteract the effect of the cold and greatly lessen its severity, and it's the only remedy that will do this. It acts in perfect harmony with nature and aids nature in relieving the lungs, opening the secretions, liquifying the mucous and causing its expulsion from the air cells of the lungs, and restoring the system to a strong and healthy condition. No other remedy in the market possesses these remarkable properties. No other will cure a cold so quickly. For sale by Blakeley & Houghton.
