OCTOBER OLIO.

A Savory Mess From Miscellaneous News Bits.

The melancholy days have come. They're here without a doubt. Not cold enough for fire, and yet too cold to do without.

The first killing frost of the season was this morning.

There were .73 of an inch of rainfall Saturday night at this place.

The balloon ascension Saturday drew more people from the country than the district fair.

Mr. R. McNeil of Mosier is constructing a $60,000 opera house in Sprague for Mr. H. Herbring of this city.

John McNeil of Mosier has dried about twenty tons of prunes on the new drier at their Mosier farm this season.

The engine for the crusher was steamed up this morning and this afternoon the machine was busy grinding out rock at its new location.

The recorder's court records the arrest of three inebriates and one vag, subject to fines, which his honor awarded them today in accordance with desires for a "change."

District Attorney Wilson was unable to attend this term of circuit court at The Dalles on account of sickness, and H. E. B. Dufur appeared in the state cases in his stead.

The youth of Mosier have organized a "ciphering" club, which meets weekly at the school house. At the last contest Miss Emma Vogt, a Dalles girl, carried off the honors.

Balloons are of a material especially made for the purpose. It is a cotton texture, but woven more closely than any other kind of cloth. It is stronger than canvas, while almost as thin as calico.

A wreck of small proportions occurred in the yards yesterday. Engine 528 ran off a switch, and sustained several injuries and the wrecking car and crew turned out, being busily employed for an hour or more.

An editor of a paper in western Kansas wants sealed proposals for 50 cents worth of coffee, a twenty-five pound sack of flour and a straw hat. He says that is the way the town merchant does when he wants a little job printing.

It is rumored that the Dalles people would like to see the portage railway built during the next summer. A farmer says that Hermann and Blanchard (chairman of the river and harbor bill) are in favor of passing a bill for an appropriation of the same.

Mr. R. H. Webber favored this office with two monstrous apples Saturday afternoon. One a red cheek pippin from the orchard of Mr. Robert McNeil, is wonderful in size and was one of a dozen that grew on a young tree of four years' growth. The other, a 20-ounce pippin from Mr. Elliot's orchard, is a perfect match for the red cheek. These orchards are located near Mosier, a section which is peculiarly adapted to fruit culture.

A party of several gentlemen en route to Goldendale Saturday night got lost in the heavy rain storm on that evening and rounded up by the old block house, about seven miles off the road. They retraced their way, and did not arrive in Goldendale until about 7 o'clock in the evening.

Judge A. S. Bennett of The Dalles arrived by Monday's stage, and has been looking after his land interests in this county. From the way the judge can talk farm one might suppose that he was a worshiper of Ceres instead of a leading disciple of Blackstone.—Ochoco Review.

The Williams boys, who have been confined in the city jail since Thursday night, will be put on board the train tonight and allowed to resume their journey to Portland. An unfavorable reply was received from the Boys and Girls Aid Society, and the authorities here have concluded to let the metropolis deal with them, if necessary.

This section was visited with a very heavy rain storm last Saturday night. The temperature was quite low and in the mountains it fell as snow, which whitened them down as low as the hills near the Wicks ranch on Mill creek. North of this city the top of the Klickitat hills were winterish with the "congealed element" as a covering.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

Companies G and I of the First regiment, won the "Guardman" trophies at the contest Saturday at the exposition.

Reports have been received of the loss of a large number of sheep by Jas. C. Daly, in the mountains. His herder was reported also as being found dead.

A disastrous fire at Gold Beach occurred last Wednesday, and in which R. D. Hume's salmon cannery, hatchery, merchandise store and several other buildings were consumed.

The editor of the Chehalis Valley Times disagreed with a neighbor about a sunflower and whipped the fellow. Being short of funds, the newspaper man will edit his paper from the county jail for twenty days.

In the case of the state vs. John Ambrose, the jury returned a verdict for acquittal on the second ballot. This case has created a great deal of interest in Heppner, as Ambrose has a host of friends there.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. Emery Oliver was in the city yesterday.

Dr. Rinehart was reported yesterday improving.

Wallace and Will Husbands of Mosier came up today.

Mr. Russell Sewell of Portland spent yesterday in the city.

Mrs. B. F. Langhin left for a short sojourn in Portland this morning.

Mrs. B. W. Crooks returned to her home at Glenwood, Wash., this morning.

A marriage license was granted today to Mr. John C. Brogan and Miss Grace Curran.

Mr. C. L. Phillips, purser of the steamer Regulator, is confined to his home by illness.

Mr. A. A. Fuller of Portland, agent of the New York Life Insurance company, has been stopping in The Dalles for several days past.

Mrs. Geo. Sellinger, Miss Adeline Sellinger, Harry, Ceno and Benard Sellinger and John McNeil came up in a skiff from Mosier this afternoon.

Mr. Wm. Sheffield and Mrs. Anna Atherton, who have been visiting their mother, Mrs. Sheffield, in this city for the past week, left for Portland this morning.

Mrs. W. C. Curtis and Mrs. C. B. Cushing were passengers on the steamer Regulator this morning for Portland to attend the Congregational Association in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Huntington departed for Portland this morning. They go to represent the Congregational church of this city at the state association which meets on tomorrow evening in the metropolis.

The condition of Mr. George F. Beers is considered serious. No improvement is noted since the fateful Thursday he was stricken so suddenly and while in the full vigor of health.

They Don't Believe in Hades.

The natives of Botocondes, one of the hottest regions of the earth, believe that Heaven will be a land of cool streams and shady groves entirely cleared of all underbrush and cacti. All desert dwellers, it is said, die expecting to awake in a wooded land supplied bountifully with cold water. Natives of the frozen north have Paradise pictured as a land of warm sunshine with glowing fires overhung with pots of boiling whale's blubber and careful couches of fur scattered here and there. The Carolina islanders, who are passionately fond of liquor, but who are in mortal dread of breaking their necks by falling from one of the millions of cliffs with which their islands abound, believe that Paradise will be a land as level as a floor, where one can get drunk and not be in constant dread of cracking his cervical vertebrae.

There is One Thing Certain.

Krause's Headache Capsules.

A remedy used with unvarying success as a cure for headaches of all kinds. The results have been so universally good that it is no longer an experiment. It has been used for headache resulting from indigestion, in periodic sick headache, in headaches caused by severe labor (mental or physical), or by exposure to the sun, and in all cases with the most gratifying results. We have, after a thorough investigation, had no hesitancy in taking the agency for this effective remedy, and conscientiously recommend it to our patrons.

How It Feels and Looks 5,000 Feet Up in the Air.

A large crowd witnessed the balloon ascension made by Mr. Frank Miller, the noted aeronaut, yesterday. The day was almost calm, a slight wind bearing it off to the westward only a short distance.

Mr. Miller called at THE CHRONICLE office this morning and related some interesting facts concerning the ascension. He said he rose 5,000 feet, and at the time of jumping with his parachute was immediately over the Columbia river. When he had reached the highest point he could easily see the north side of the Klickitat hills. These are about 2,300 feet in height. When on a level with their tops he encountered a current of very cold air, which the balloon revealed in going through it by veering and jumping unsteadily. Above this the air was quite warm and at the point of casting loose a perfect calm. When he came to earth again, he alighted in the top of a tall poplar on Liberty street, between Second and Third, and from there adopted the simian style of reaching the ground. Considerable difficulty was experienced in recovering the parachute, as it got tangled with the electric wires. The balloon came down between the Umatilla house and the river.

"The only danger in parachute jumping," said Prof. Miller, "is when the rat lines get tangled, and I have frequently climbed up into them to untangle them before cutting loose from the balloon. The parachute is sure to open unless the rat lines are tangled in such a manner as to prevent it. There have been only two cases where a parachute failed to open; one in St. Paul, Minn., and one in Beardstown, Ill. The St. Paul balloonist had made only two ascensions before, and was ignorant of the trouble. When he came down he was driven ten feet into the earth, and the lines were found to be tied around the parachute, preventing its being opened. The accident at Beardstown, Fourth of July a year ago, was due to the same cause. I never cast myself loose from the balloon without being sure that everything is in perfect working order."

"Have you ever alighted in worse places than yesterday?"
"I have come down on a church steeple, where ladders were raised to rescue me, and on steep roofs, undergoing various experiences. I have fallen in every lake and ocean in the United States, and was once in the water two hours."

"Where was this?"
"In Lake Superior. I had risen from Duluth, and when I came down was two miles from shore. Of course I knew I should fall in the lake and had a life preserver upon me."

"What sort of a view is it 5,000 feet straight down?"
"Well, for instance, take The Dalles. Yesterday as I went up the blocks all closed in upon each other. Soon there were no streets observable, and when I jumped, the town looked like a little dab of conglomerated color, a mere spot the surface of the earth."

Mr. Miller spoke of the sensation when first dropping, the coming up with a jerk when the parachute was fully extended, and other interesting facts. He proposes to go up Saturday again, if a purse can be raised sufficient to meet his expenses while staying in town. As he puts it, he is putting in time waiting for the mid-winter fair to open in San Francisco.

Mr. Miller is accompanied in The Dalles by his wife, who goes as Miss May Miller, and his business manager, Mr. Lewis Barnett, a very agreeable gentleman.

For the Relief of Purchasers of Timber and Stone Lands.

Captain John W. Lewis has received from Representative Ellis a copy of a bill reported by him, which has passed the house:

An act for the purchase of timber and stone lands under the act of June 31, 1878.

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America in congress assembled, that hereafter all necessary affidavits and proofs required by law of any purchaser of lands under the provisions of an act entitled "An act for the sale of timber lands in the states of California, Oregon, Nevada and Washington Territory," approved June 31, 1878, and the act amendatory thereof, approved August 4th, 1892, in order to perfect his title to said lands, may be made before any officer qualified to take proof in homestead cases.

Passed the house of representatives October 10th, 1893.

Attest: JAMES KERR, Clerk.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by Snipes & Kinersly.
