OCTOBER OLIO.

A Savory Mess From Miscellaneous News Bits.

From here to San Francisco. There soon will rise a roar—For countless throats stentorian Will bellow "Shut the Door."
—Town Topics (N. Y.).

The "Merry-Go-Round" folded its tent and will leave the city tomorrow morning, it is hoped to stay.

Rev. C. L. Corwin of Portland is having a trial before the Congregational association today on the charge of immorality.

Mrs. Charlotte Dickinson, relict of the late Rev. O. Dickinson, died at her home in Salem on the 16th, at the advanced age of 76 years. Mrs. Dickinson and husband were among the early pioneers, coming to that city in March, 1853. Rev. O. Dickinson was the founder of the Congregational church on his arrival at that little city. Only one daughter, Mrs. Moores, survives them.

Mr. Frank Miller, the aeronaut, who so successfully made the balloon ascension Sunday, will go up again Saturday afternoon, if the condition of the air is favorable, and in all likelihood it will be. If not as soon as practicable thereafter. If he is sufficiently patronized his wife will accompany him on his heavenward journey and a double parachute jump will be made. He will also go up again the following day (Sunday).

Messrs. Lee Alexander and James Gray, the former a hog buyer of Portland, and the latter a hog raiser of Wapinitia, called at THE CHRONICLE office today. Mr. Alexander said he did not wish the wheat raisers any harm, but he hoped wheat would fall to 20 cents a bushel. Then the farmers would feed it to hogs and realize more from it than if it sold 60 cents a bushel. There is a good deal of truth in the statement. The wheat should be crushed and soured in vats and fed to the hogs, when prices rule as they do now, and farmers would double the profits they are making now.

Death of Mr. Geo. F. Beers.

Mr. George F. Beers died at his residence at 3:30 o'clock this morning.

Decensed was born Oct. 11th, 1824, in New Jersey, and when very young moved to Pennsylvania. In this state he lived until he was 15 years old when he moved to Henry county, Illinois. On April 16th 1846, he was united in marriage to Miss Mary E. Roberts, residing in the same place until 1878. He held several offices of trust in Henry county for a long term of years, being at one time county treasurer. He was also a very energetic, earnest member of the United Brethren church and prominent in Sunday school work. He came to The Dalles in 1878 with his family, where he has remained ever since. Of a genial disposition, kind-hearted, and public-spirited, he quickly counted each acquaintance a friend, and for the length of time he has resided in The Dalles none is better known or more widely respected.

He leaves besides his widow, three daughters and a son—Mrs. Isaac Joles and Mrs. M. Doyle, of this place, and Mrs. J. A. Thomas of Oswego. David, his son, resides in La Vergne, Minn., and was here two years ago on a visit to his parents.

The funeral will take place at 3 o'clock tomorrow from the Congregational church. The business houses of the city will remain closed from 2 till 5 o'clock in respect to his memory.

Complimentary to Mr. Gordon.

An eminent engineer and author of field books on civil engineering, is the author of the following:

SUPPLEMENTARY—Since supplying the second edition of this little work in 1887 I have been honored with formulas, deductions, etc., from prominent engineers of both continents, many of which are very useful. The following table, compiled by F. Stanley Gordon, a transmittal of the famous D. and R. G. corps, is so practical and in such perfect accord with known material laws of motion as to be eminently useful to every field engineer.

H. T. Then follows the Gordon table for elevations of rails and compensation for curvatures from 10 to 24 degrees.

Mr. Gordon is, by virtue of his thorough training as a civil engineer, together with a splendid business record, well equipped for a field of great usefulness in this great undeveloped west.

Six points out of many where Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are better than other pills:

1. They're the smallest and easiest to take—little sugar-coated granules that every child takes readily.
2. They're perfectly easy in their action—no griping, no disturbance.
3. Their efforts last. There's no reaction afterward. They regulate or cleanse the system according to size of dose.
4. They're the cheapest, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned.
5. You pay only for the good you get.
6. Put up in glass—are always fresh.
7. They cure Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Bilious Headaches and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

MARKET REPORT.

Eggs Advancing Sharply—Live Stock Short—Pork Looking Up.

TUESDAY, Oct. 24.—The last few days have witnessed no new features or change in the commercial line since our last report. Business is assuming more of a cash system than formerly, and as a consequence the volume is lessened thereby. What transactions are done is of an assuring nature.

In produce there is no new changes to note, except eggs, which continue to be scarce and dearer; 27 cents and 28 cents per dozen was paid today. The inquiry is in excess of supply and a further advance is looked for.

The poultry market is more active, with large receipts. Quotations remain steady.

Live stock for export is said to be short of supply in comparison with former seasons. Quotations are steady for beef cattle and mutton sheep. Hogs are moving fairly well for shipment. A large shipper gave it out a day or so ago that fat hogs would be an object in the near future, and an advance of 1/2 to 1 cent per pound gross would be realized before the season was half out. One lot of hogs was sold yesterday at 5 1/2 @ 5 1/2 for the Portland market.

The wheat market is steady. All quotations are held on former figures, with-out any change in tone. Chicago and Liverpool advices yesterday indicated a slight decline, and the markets only moderately active.

In San Francisco the market shows a declining tendency and May deliveries are off on $1.23 1/4 to $1.24 1/4 per cental, $1.24 1/4 being for 100 tons of choice milling.

The wool market continues lifeless.

A HISTORIC CURIOSITY.

George Washington's Hatchet Comes to Light in The Dalles.

We saw today in the center window of Pease & Mays what to us, is a very interesting article and around which one of the most impressive stories of our childhood clusters. We refer to the hatchet with which George Washington, when a boy, cut down his father's cherry tree and which hatchet Pease & Mays now have on exhibition. When Mr. Pease learned that Mr. D. M. French had this in his possession, he went at once to him and asked the privilege of exhibiting it in the store window and, after some persuasion, prevailed. We learn from Mr. French that his great-grandfather, Enoch French, and George Washington were boyhood friends, served together in the French and Indian war, and Enoch French was a colonel in the Continental army during the war of the Revolution. During one of their early campaigns they exchanged confidences and George Washington gave to Enoch French this hatchet. He in return presented to Washington the pipe with which he made his first attempt. Tradition in Mr. French's family says that the same pleasant recollections do not cluster around the pipe as around the hatchet, for the father of this ancestor severely punished him for his misdeed and it was a very sore point with him for some time afterwards. This hatchet should have been sent to the world's fair, but Mr. French, with characteristic modesty, declined, and besides the genuineness of the article might be questioned. Here where he is well known, we are thoroughly convinced, no one will doubt these statements. We advise all, old and young, to see this interesting relic of the Father of His Country.

Some Aerial Views.

Some of the phenomena observed at great elevations are very interesting. There are wonderful echoes among the clouds, and sometimes beautiful mirages are seen. Voyagers in the balloon car have sometimes an opportunity to witness thunder storms from above and find themselves surrounded by orange-colored flames of sheet lightning. Thistle seeds are found floating at a height of a mile or more like so many vegetal parachutes. Owing to the diminished pressure, the human body seems to expand, and an old and wrinkled man becomes full and plump as a youth two or three miles up in the air. Noises from the earth, such as band-playing and even voices, are clearly audible. At 3 1/2 miles up the atmosphere is one-half as dense as on the earth; at 7 miles it is only one-quarter as dense, and at 17 1/2 miles it has only one-thirty-second of the density. Accordingly the aeronaut finds it desirable to stay within about three miles from the surface of the globe. The view in ascending from the sea shore is most impressive. As one rises, ships come up from behind the horizon. It looks like magic. With cloud fields between the observer and the ships the latter have the appearance of sailing over and above the clouds. Likewise a meandering river is seen twisting in convolutions over and above the clouds in the distance.—Extract from Rene Bache, in Oregonian.

Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well.
