OCTOBER OLIO.

A Savory Mess From Miscellaneous News Bits.

This fact will often strike the mind and for reflection calls. It is the man on top, we find, falls furthest when he falls.

Crashed rock is being filled in on our main streets to good advantage.

The Prineville News wants to trade subscription for a baby buggy.

The snow on the summit of the Cascade mountains is said to be about ten inches deep.

The school children abstract chalk from the school rooms and make fences and the sides of buildings look hideous.

The stores were all closed this afternoon in respect to the memory of their deceased fellow tradesman, Mr. Geo. F. Beers.

Andrew Pearson renounced his allegiance to Sweden today and henceforth belongs to the land of the screaming eagle.

There is a general report on the streets today that the repeal bill passed. This is incorrect. While the silver senators have surrendered, several days will yet be required before a vote is made.

It is reported the threshers in Sherman county have all quit running, while there is yet a great deal of uncut grain standing in the fields. This has sprouted owing to the rains and continued damp weather.

Miss May Miller will not be here until Sunday, instead of Saturday, as stated yesterday. Mr. Frank Miller will, however, make an ascension and the following day both himself and lady will go up, probably in separate balloons, as the company have a larger one than the one used last Saturday.

A balloon costs about $500, and from 18 to 25 trips is all that is safe to be made with one. Mr. Miller consequently lost money Saturday, as his total collections were short of $25, and when other expenses are considered, such as board and car fare, it will plainly be seen that The Dalles don't like inflated values.

The Mignonette Dancing Club will give a dance Thursday evening at Fraternity hall. Members should be prompt, as the music will commence at 9:30 o'clock. The change of evening is made to accommodate a number of members who leave for Portland Friday morning. November 3d, three days after Halloween, a masquerade party will be given, which promises to be a pleasant affair. The committee in charge wish it stated that no one will be allowed on the floor unless in masque, so everybody should begin originating their costumes.

Franklin Deye, who forged a check for $10 on Judge Moore of the supreme bench, when dissipated and nearly starved, and passed it on to Mr. Anderson of the Fan saloon, plead guilty and got the lightest sentence of the law, two years at the pen. He made a nice little speech to the court, waiving time and asking immediate sentence. He is an old newspaper man on the coast, is well educated, understands several languages, is a fine talker, elocutionist, stump orator, writer and penman.—Salem Journal.

Appreciates Their Worth.

The Prineville News compliments two of our legal citizens very nicely. Referring to Attorney Dufur it says: He did his whole sworn duty in conducting cases for the state. It is, perhaps, needless to say more. But it is a satisfaction sometimes to know that any man and especially an attorney, will perform every dutiful obligation that he makes. Attorneys, you know, are often accused of trying to whip justice; hence the above remark.

Crook county has never had a better circuit judge than Mr. Bradshaw. His painstaking to save the taxpayer unnecessary expenses is, of itself, a sufficient guarantee of his worthiness and ability. We believe that we repeat the general sentiment of all good people in Crook county when we say that Judge Bradshaw is a man calculated to do his whole duty in any official capacity. Certainly no duty could be more trying, or arduous, than that of circuit judge in rural districts.

An Unmitigated Falsehood.

With regard to numerous statements set afloat by Mr. Bancroft about the crayon exhibited by me at the fair, which he claimed (among other things) was a bromide and made by Stringer of Portland, I have this statement from Mr. Stringer to offer:

PORTLAND, Or., Oct. 23, 1892.

DEAR SIR—Yours of the 21st at hand. In reply will state that I never made a 22x27 crayon, air brush or point crayon for you, or any other kind of a picture of that size at any time. Yours truly,

A. R. STANGLER.

Any one desiring further assurance can see the original letter and the crayon at the gallery. The other statements made by Mr. Bancroft are equally as false as this one.

D. C. HERRIN.

COMFORT, SAFETY, PLEASURE.

The Dalles, Portland & Astoria Nav. Co. will sell round trip tickets to Portland, including admission to the Exposition, at $3.00. Tickets limited to Nov. 15th.

Board of Equalization.

The county board of equalization will meet at the court house on October 23d, 1893, for the purpose of equalizing the county assessment roll for this year's assessment. The board will continue in session one week.

JOEL KOONTZ, County Assessor.

Earth to Earth.

Rev. Mr. Adams, of the United Brethren church of Dufur, conducted the funeral services of Mr. Geo. F. Beers today at the Congregational church. The speaker spoke feelingly of the life and character of deceased, saying among other things that he died without an enemy in the world, and that it was eminently fitting that tears mingle with the flowers strewn upon his casket. Few men living can honestly claim that they have no enemies. It requires a life of such forbearance, such virtue, such charity and such Christianity that there is scarcely a person who can meet the requirements. But such a man was Geo. F. Beers. The funeral was one of the largest in the history of The Dalles.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Judge Schutz is in Portland today.

Mrs. C. H. Haynes returned to her home at Hood River this morning.

Mr. R. G. Davenport of the Times-Mountaineer, returned this morning from a trip to Colfax, Wash.

Mr. J. A. Thomas of Oswego, a son-in-law of Mr. Beers, arrived last night and was present at the funeral.

Mrs. D. M. French and little daughter Constance left this morning for Portland for a few days' visit among friends.

Mr. J. P. Stanley, of Petaluma, Calif., is visiting his niece, Mrs. J. H. Phirman of this city, while on his way home from a trip to the world's fair.

Mr. Linus Hubbard leaves in the morning for Buffalo, his old home, to spend the winter. This gentleman has made many friends during his residence in The Dalles, and we are sorry to part with him. But as an old ballad has it, it is the fate of the best of friends. We wish him success and happiness while at his former home, from which he has never become thoroughly weaned.

TRAIN WRECKERS.

They Made Eighty-Two Attempts in the First Six Months of 1893.

The Railroad Gazette has collected statistics of train wrecking and train robbing, for the first six months of 1893, which yield some surprising results. One is accustomed to think of train wreckers and train robbers as investing sparsely settled western states, but the statistics show, on the contrary, that such crimes are most prevalent in well settled states. The Gazette's figures show sixty-one attempts to wreck trains, and twenty-one attempts to rob them. Massachusetts and Illinois head the list in the number of attempts to wreck trains and Ohio follows.

In these three advanced states were made more than one-half of all the attempts to wreck trains and the state of New York follows. The only explanation offered for this preponderance of train wrecking in well settled and generally speaking, well governed states is that the mileage of railroads is greater in those states than in others, and that tramps, who are responsible for most attempts to wreck trains, flourish in thickly settled regions.

The geographical distribution of attempts at train robbing is still more curious. Iowa heads the list; Indian territory and Oklahoma taken together have the same number; Texas follows and then come Kansas and Nebraska. Sixty-seven per cent of all the train robberies or attempted train robberies occurred in these four states and two territories.

A RHEUMATIC SUFFERER

Decides That the Remedy Is Worse Than the Disease.

A well known citizen of The Dalles, now a fisherman by occupation, has been troubled a great deal lately by rheumatism. This morning the rheumatic twinges were unusually acute, and he concluded to adopt an old remedy which has been buzzing in his head for about a week, viz: that a bee sting is a specific for rheumatism. Imagine a certain lady's surprise, then, when this morning, he appeared before her, and dramatically throwing off his coat, said he was going to cure himself.

"How?" inquired the lady.

"Just wait, and you'll see," he answered. And with that air of calm superiority which every man can't help showing when he thinks he is in possession of some fact not shared by the gentler sex, he stalked over to the bee hive, and thrust out a hand. Soon a bee alighted on it, and he pressed it with the other hand. In went the sting, but he never flinched.

"Didn't that hurt you?" (solicitously).

"No," he somewhat untruthfully replied. Another settled on his cheek, and again he drove it home. Another on his arm, another and another.

"Stop!" pleaded the lady in alarm, beginning to think he had suddenly gone demented.

"Well, I guess that will do," said the sufferer and then he detailed the plan for his action.

"And do you feel better now?" she asked.

"Well, I can't tell yet. The rheumatism seems to have disappeared, but I can't tell for sure until these everlasting stings quit paining me."

Bounced the Heathen.

During the past few months the Pacific coast generally has got into a fashion of bouncing the Chinamen, and not to be a whit behind her neighbors The Dalles has entered the ranks as an anti-Chinese sympathizing town. A Chinaman was installed this morning at the rock crusher to saw wood. He had sawed just one stick when a "delegation" waited upon him and told him to flee. He didn't stop to argue the matter and fled, without any special regard to the order of his going. When the truth is known it will very probably appear that no white man was available. However, the crusher force claim there are many out of work who would be glad of the job.

The Indians have not yet spent all of the money they got for picking huckleberries.

DIED.

A Man Who Has Two Votes.

A little public house, in which the landlord and his customers have a curious experience, stands on the boundary line dividing the townships of Darwen and Oswaldtwistle, Lancashire. The boundary line runs directly through the center of the hostelry, and as there are public rooms on either side of the passage two licenses are necessary. The publican is compelled to close the Darwen side of the house at ten o'clock every night, according to the condition of his license, but the Oswaldtwistle license allows him to keep his door open until eleven o'clock. In order not to lay himself open to a prosecution by Darwen, therefore, the landlord, when the clock chimes ten, compels his customers to remove from the Darwen to the Oswaldtwistle side of the house, and closes the doors of the early-closing portion. It is stated by the landlord that he qualifies himself for voting in both townships by fixing his bed directly over the boundary line.

LAW in England provides that no person under eighteen years shall be employed about a shop for more than seventy-four hours, including meal times, in any one week.

I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known of cases of croup where I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. J. J.
