Here is a great stimulus from the Arlington Record: If the Good Lord or board, he had plenty to occupy his Grover Cleveland or the crazy governor of Oregon can show us anything to be amusement to while away the time he thankful for as a nation or state, we had only to start a sparring match bewill send Him or them a copy of the tween his monkeys and parrots. Record free with postage paid.

The British are killing the poor, dewill take only a small spark to kindle niners did. the fire of a revolution that will be farreaching in its consequences.

The continued rise in the price of silver since the passage of the repeal bill is something the quack financiers did not anticipate. If the rise keeps up at the present rate, within a year silver will be worth more than gold .- Telegram. Since the silver advocates are the ones who claimed they would lose so much with the passage of the repeal bill, we suppose the Telegram refers to them as the quacks. Anyway, it is a pretty good admission to make.

In regard to the recent offer of Emperor William to furnish a country house for Bismarck an exchange says: The consideration and kindness which the German Emperor shows for Bismarck is not very great, when it is taken into consideration that Bismarck furnished most of the grandeur which the emperor enjoys. William would have been very small potatoes had it not been for Bismarck. Offering the faithful servant the use of any of his palaces is, under the circumstances, somewhat equivalent himself and dog in a wild country and out of provisions, cut off the dog's tail, broiled it for supper, giving the poor curtailed quadruped the bone.

Is there anything unreasonable in this matter of government aid to country roads, asks the Willapa Pilot. Foreign countries get their good roads in this way and the Pilot believes it is the proper way. Let the counties do what they can and the states do what they can and the general government do the rest. There is not a river or harbor in the United States that needs improving one half as bad as the roads do. There is nothing on earth that the people of this country need as badly as they need good roads and the sooner they get through wrangling over politics, religion and other abstruse subjects and unite in a long, strong pull tor good roads the sooner they will have prosperity, and no matter how the silver question or the tariff question or any other question is settled there is no genuine and lasting prosperity until we do have good roads.

Medical ethics are often beyond the comprehension of the average person. An extraordinary incident is reported from Olympia. The wife of a farmer six miles from town was about to be confined. They had no close neighbors, so the husband left the wife alone and went to the city for the family physician. The latter was out on another case, and the husband sought other medical skill. He sconred the town in search of a physician to take the case. Five ethical gentlemen declined to respond, but No. 6 yielded to the earnest solicitation of the alarmed husband and went along with him. Meanwhile hours had been lost in delay, and when the physician arrived at the farm the child had been born and was nearly dead, and the mother was unconscious. Commenting on the above event the Spokane Review says: But the five were true to their ethics, and, as has been admirably stated in comic opera, "No matter what you do if your heart is only true." 'Their hearts were true to the absent medical brother, and if the child and mother had died that thought would have been sufficient solace.

ON THE PACIFIC.

Loneliness of the Great Expanse Stretch ing Out from the Golden Gate.

I notice an item in the press stating that the City of Peking in her recent trip sailed twelve hundred and forty miles without meeting a single sail, writes a correspondent of the Washington Star, and this fact is cited as showing the loneliness of the Pacific ocean. In the summer of 1850 I left San Francisco on a sail vessel (formerly from Baltimore) for Panama, distance four thousand miles, and on the entire route, which lasted forty-three days, we never saw a sail! Loneliness is no word for it, especially when we lay becalmed in the tropies, with our vessel floating as helplessly about as a chip on a mill pond, the ground swell keeping up the monotonous roll of the vessel from side to side all day and night, and day after day, each roll being accompanied by a flap of the sails and a creaking of the rigging that might have passed for the flap of the wings and the wail of lost spirits.

When we read about Noah and his ark we are apt to think that he must have had rather a lonely time, but then he was out only forty days, and besides, with all the animals, etc., on time and attention, and if he wanted True, there is no report of any such proceedings on his part, but that is doubtless because there was no modern newspaper reporter on board. Wasco County, Oregon.

The Gate City of the Inland Empire is situated at the head of navigation on the Middle Columbia, and is a thriving, prosperous city.

ITS TERRITORY.

It is the supply city for an extensive and rich agricultural and grazing country, its trade reaching as far south as Summer Lake, a distance of over two hundred miles.

The Largest Wool Market.

The rich grazing country along the eastern slope of the Cascades furnishes pasture for thousands of sheep, the wool from which finds market here.

The Dalles is the largest original wool shipping point in America, about 5,000,000 pounds being shipped last year.

ITS PRODUCTS.

The salmon fisheries are the finest on the Columbia, yielding this year a revenue of thousands of dollars, which will be more than doubled in the near future.

The products of the beautiful Klickitat valley find market here, and the country south and east has this year filled the warehouses, and all available storage places to overflowing with their products.

ITS WEALTH.

It is the richest city of its size on the coast and its money is scattered over and is being used to develop more farming country than is tributary to any other city in Eastern Oregon.

Its situation is unsurpassed. Its climate delightful. Its possibilities incalculable. Its resources unlimited. And on these corner stones she stands.
