NOVEMBER NUGGETS.

Our Daily Clean-up From In and About the City.

And how the honest team Gives beautiful supply. To make up for the short weight in August and July.

Don't forget the mite social at the First Christian church tonight at 7 o'clock.

Mr. T. H. Johnston of Dufur indulged in a runaway recently, which resulted in the wreck of his buggy.

Salvito Anthony, a descendant of Gallio, was jailed today for selling ardent spirits to the thirsty red man.

A four horse team near the switch engine became frightened by the exhaust this morning and the leaders switched around nearly overturning the wagon, but no harm was done.

Mr. Honeywill has opened his new store with a very attractive display, and has marked everything down to hard times prices. Call and inspect the new clothing store.

Bernie Dufur fell backwards off the roof of a shed Thursday, while imitating the recent parachute jump and broke his wrist. He was falling head first, and with great presence of mind threw out his hand to save his head.

Uneasy lies the head that wears the crown. Mayor Kreft is investigating the impenetrable abilities of his working pants, while Justice Schutz wants to know how soon that bullet proof cloth invented for the German army is to be put on the market.

The following persons were granted certificates at the teachers' examination, which has been in session during the week: First grade, Miss M. G. Hollister; second grade, Miss Josie Hansbury; Miss Mary E. Shaffer, Mr. R. A. Grady; third grade, Miss Lillian Emerson, Miss Katie Davenport, Miss Jennie Russell.

There is a well developed famine in small change in the city. Silver is hard to get, and those who are so fortunate as to have any money are all gold bugs. Oftentimes a bill remains unpaid because no change can be given, nor procured by diligent seeking. The banks are short, the postoffice hasn't got it, and where the $10 silver per capita has gone to "the dickens knows."

THE UNEMPLOYED.

People or Firms in Need of Help Should Read This List.

Following is a list of people seeking work, who have been registered at THE CHRONICLE employment bureau. This list will be published Tuesdays and Fridays. Those procuring work will please notify this office, so their names can be taken out.

F. Johns, The Dalles, any kind of work.
 M. Sears, this office, steady situation in saw-mill. Have spent whole life at it and can give best of references.
 Mary Holman, general housework.

Hot clam broth at J. O. Mack's every day at 4 o'clock.

Appreciative.

The Skamania county Pioneer says: "The steamers Dalles City and Regulator, making daily trips from Portland to The Dalles, are doing a fine business. The establishment of this line has been a great thing to the settlers on the Washington side in two ways, financial and accommodation. The company have never been known to do business on an unfair basis. Although they have no competition on this end of the run they do not take advantage of the settlers and merchants along the river, as companies usually do in passenger and freight rates. At one time a trip from The Dalles to Portland was $6 and at the present time you can make the round trip for $3. The company will undoubtedly meet with success as they have the good will of the people along the river."

It is pleasure to note these kind words from our neighbor for an enterprise which should have the heartiest support. The Regulator was built as a relief from the extortionate charges of the Union Pacific, and is the first which has successfully baffled all efforts to crush it. Although it can scarcely be considered a paying investment, because not patronized by many farmers whom it was designed to relieve, it will stand between them and the Union Pacific until the locks are opened, when all danger of high charges will be ended.

THE CHURCHES.

Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Washington and Fifth streets, preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. by the pastor, Rev. J. Whisler. Sunday school and social meetings as usual.

The Baptist church, Rev. O. D. Taylor pastor, will hold service tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. Sunday school follows this service. There will be no evening service. If the weather is cold or inclement the service will be held in the prayer room, as the furnace is not completed.

Congregational church, corner of Court and Fifth streets, Sunday services as usual. At 11 a. m. and at 7:30 p. m. worship and a sermon by the pastor, Rev. W. C. Curtis. Subject of the morning sermon, "Suffering and Its Ultimate Outcome." In the evening the pastor will give a resume of David Swing's sermon on "The Educational and Moral Aspects of the Fair." Sunday school immediately after morning service. Meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor at 6:15 p. m. All persons not worshipping elsewhere are cordially invited.

Modern Railroading.

Railroad Conductor—Have the surgeons arrived?

Brakeman—Yes sir.

"Is the hospital tent loaded?"

"Yes sir."

"Plenty of chloroform, bandages, lint and arnica in the baggage-car?"

"Yes sir."

"Have you telegraphed to the doctors along the line?"

"Yes sir."

"Is the wrecking train ready to follow right after us?"

"Yes sir."

"Got a full stock of pine coffins?"

"Yes sir."

"All aboard!"

WOOD, WOOD, WOOD.

Best grades of oak, fir, and slab cord wood, at lowest market rates at Jos. T. Peters & Co. (Office Second and Jefferson streets.)

Mignonette Masquerade.

A large crowd of young people filled Fraternity hall last evening in obedience to the summons of King Carnival. They came en masque and before the time of unmasking the spectators were kept busy trying to discover who were inside of the costumes while the maskers themselves were at a loss to know who their partners were, so complete were many of the disguises. The club is proud of the music they provide and last night the orchestra won much approval. All the disguises were excellent while some of them were very original and unique. Much amusement was made by the characters represented and a general good time fell to the lot of everyone. At a late hour the music ceased and the dancers wended their way homeward, or more truly speaking, in the direction where oysters were. The Mignonettes feel greatly pleased at their first masque ball of the season and it is safe to say that it was nothing less than a complete success.

Prendergasting Kreft.

Mayor Kreft has just received a threatening letter, written on both sides of half a sheet of note paper, and signed in shorthand. Nothing less than the mayor's life is demanded, as the letter states that unless the writer is furnished with a job inside of a very few days Kreft must die. Some of the larger members of the city council should be delegated to act as Mr. Kreft's body guard for a time, and a few special police might be detailed to hang around the residence and shop, and arrest all suspicious characters.

It is reported, also, that Judge Schutz received a letter of similar import to that received by the mayor, warning him to mete out better justice or he would receive a leaden plug. This letter was, of course, anonymous.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. John Evans of Mosier is in the city today.

The recorder is confined to his home by illness.

Mr. Ed. M. Wingate of Antelope is in the city for a visit.

Mr. Alfred Davis, of the Cathlamet Gazette, called today.

Mr. Frank Cole left on the morning train for Bellingham Bay.

Mr. W. Norway of San Francisco gave this office a pleasant call last evening.

Mr. J. W. Armsworthy, of the Wasco News, called on THE CHRONICLE today.

Miss Leah Perry left this morning to reside for the winter with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Ferguson, at their country residence near Snohomish, Wash., and last evening some thirty of her friends assembled at her home in this city to honor her with a farewell party. After the usual amusements a sumptuous repast was served in the dining room, followed by more festivities until a late hour.

NEWS OF THE STATE.

Hugh McCullough, of St. Paul, Or., was held up, badly beaten and robbed Thursday night. He was down after some lost boots and was followed by two men who, after knocking him down, beat and kicked him about the head, leaving him unconscious.

Richardson, the "hero" train wrecker, who is serving time in the state penitentiary, has been boasting of his abilities as a jail breaker, and the officials put on him a boot loaded with iron and weighing about sixteen pounds. This is intended as an admonition to him and others like him.

Imaginative.

The Oregonian correspondent is in error in the following:

"The Columbia rose six feet last (Wednesday) night. A great quantity of cordwood that was piled on the beach drifted down stream. The river is still rising."

Six feet in twelve hours, or even twenty-four hours, is phenomenal, and nothing like it ever occurred in the history of white settlement. The following is taken from the government records, showing the daily rise to the 11th, the lowest point reached this year being 5 feet above zero on the 3d.

Nov. 4th	the gauge marked	5.4 feet.

County Commissioners.

The proposition of M. M. Cushing of $1,200 for keeping the county poor for the ensuing year, including board, clothing, medical attendance, funeral expenses, etc., was accepted. Also proposition for boarding non-resident poor at $4 per week, was also accepted, and bonds fixed at $2,500, contract to commence November 22d.

J. D. Tunny, Antelope, granted liquor license for two months, also to Lane and Patterson, same place.

A Terrible Weapon.

The sting of a bee is composed of two spears of polished horn held in a sheath. One gets a notion of the sharpness of the weapon by a very simple comparison. The edge of a very keen razor, when examined under a good microscope, appears as broad as the back of a thick knife, rough, uneven and full of notches. An exceedingly small and delicate needle similarly scrutinized resembles a rough bar from a smith's forge. The sting of a bee, viewed through the same instrument, shows a flawless polish, without the least blemish or inequality, ending in a point too fine to be discerned. In the act of stinging the spears, each of which has nine barbs and is grooved with a channel for the passage of the poison, emerge from the sheath. One of them is plunged into the flesh of the victim, the other following, and alternately they penetrate deeper and deeper. The venom is forced to the ends of the spears by much the same process as that which carries the poison from the tooth of a snake when it bites.

Primitive Telegraphy.

The first person to apply to purposes of telegraphy the galvanic battery invented by Volta, in 1800, was Dr. Samuel T. Von Soemmering, of Munich. He employed the energy of a powerful voltaic pile to decompose water by means of thirty-five gold pins immersed in an oblong glass trough. Each of these pin electrodes was in connection with thirty-five wires forming the telegraph line. The bubbles evolved by these electrodes were received in figured and lettered tubes corresponding to each pin and the messages were thus spelled out. In 1810 he telegraphed over two miles of wire by this primitive method. As each separate pin was immersed it decomposed a certain portion of water and sent bubbles through its lettered or numbered tube.
