WANT HIM IMPEACHED

Cleveland's Arrogant Assumption of Power.

STORM OF INDIGNATION ROUSED

The Administration Sees Its Very Grievous Mistake and May Attempt to Rectify It.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 14.—In leading editorials on the Hawaiian situation this morning both the Examiner, democratic, and the Chronicle, republican, call for the impeachment of President Cleveland.

The Examiner says: "If while congress was in session he scorned to consult it and sent his herald to Honolulu to declare war between the United States and the provisional government of the islands, whose regularly commissioned minister has been officially received at Washington, then Grover Cleveland should be impeached and ousted from the presidency."

The Chronicle says: "When the instructions were given Minister Willis, congress was in session. Mr. Cleveland informed congress through a committee that he had no further communication to make. He was at that moment engaged in secretly preparing, or rather he had secretly prepared, to make war upon and overthrow the government of a friendly state. Congress alone has power under the constitution to declare war. Mr. Cleveland, for his usurpation, should be impeached."

A Storm of Indignation.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A Washington special says: "Either disolute Queen Lil has been put on the Hawaiian throne by force, or she is not back there yet. This seems to be the situation. Sensational stories are afloat about a change in the administration's Hawaiian policy. It is stated additional instructions are being prepared and will be telegraphed to San Francisco to go out on Thursday's steamer. One democrat of prominence, who heard the report that there might have been a hitch, said: 'I trust to God, for the sake of my country and for the sake of my party, that Willis has found some excuse for delay. It is our only salvation.' These, however, are merely hopes based on guesses of what may not have taken place. Members of the cabinet are as dumb as oysters about today's developments, yet it is positively known that the cipher dispatch received from Willis was not a mere formal announcement of his arrival. As far as can be gleaned, Willis, on his arrival did not find the outlook favorable for a peaceful restoration of the provisional government likely to be averted into voluntary submission. It is surmised his dispatch to the state department gave his private opinion that he might have to go to the full length of his instructions and call for the co-operation of the marines. That there has been a serious difference of opinion in the cabinet, admits of not the slightest doubt. Lanont and one or two other members have confessed their fears that the administration can never survive the forcible restoration of Liliokalani, and even though she be got back without force no satisfactory explanation can be made. The whirlwind of public sentiment in the United States has literally overpowered the president and cabinet. They never anticipated such an indignant protest. If Minister Willis found the situation so hazardous that an immediate restoration of the queen was impracticable, it is certain it would be infinitely more hazardous in future, when public sentiment in the United States is understood on the islands. Willis had ample authority to reinstate the queen through the agency of 600 American marines in the harbor of Honolulu, and if he hesitated about doing it, there must have been some good reason. A hint is given that the cipher dispatch from him suggested a counter proposal from the provisional government, and that the question of the form of government should be left to the Hawaiians to settle by election. "It has been decided not to give out Blount's report."

What a Creole Is.

A creole, strictly speaking, is any person born in this country or the West Indies of European ancestors; also any person born in or near the tropics, and this is the sense in which the word is usually employed. The use of the word, however, has been by some restricted first to children of foreign parents born in Louisiana, and second, to children of Spanish or French parents born in Louisiana, and then in the north the word has been perverted so that it is believed to imply some strain of negro blood in a person to whom it is applied. It does not imply anything of the sort.

THE BEST PLASTER.

Dampen a piece of flannel with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bind it on over the seat of pain. It is better than any plaster. When the lungs are sore such an application on the chest and another on the back, between the shoulder blades, will often prevent pneumonia. There is nothing so good for a lame back or a pain in the side. A sore throat can nearly always be cured in one night by applying a dannel bandage dampened with Pain Balm. 50 cent bottles for sale by Blakeley & Houghton, druggists.

Pasturage.

Moore's ranch, about three miles south of The Dalles, has unexcelled pasturage and any one who desires to avail themselves of the fact can secure reasonable terms upon application.

All the Wheat Sold.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 14.—Careful inquiry develops the fact that only a small proportion of the wheat crop of Minnesota and the two Dakotas remains on hand. The crop was 100,000,000 bushels, of which 80,000,000 bushels were available for sale. The movement of the crop has been enormous during the past few weeks, with the result that 52,000,000 bushels of the 80,000,000 have been sold. The farmers were compelled to sell because they needed the money, owing to the low price of wheat they had to sell twice as much as in former years to raise the money necessary to keep them through the winter and conduct farming operations next spring. Of the 28,000,000 bushels remaining, nearly all will be required by the Minneapolis and Duluth mills and this, with the amount needed for consumption and seeding in the Northwest, will leave not a bushel for sale outside. Northwestern farmers recognize the necessity of having other crops than wheat, but to make the change more money would be required. This they cannot command, and will therefore be forced to continue raising wheat almost exclusively for a year or two longer.

As to Prendergast's Sanity.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—Lawyer A. S. Trude is preparing an article for a magazine, presenting a theory as to Prendergast's responsibility for his action when he assassinated Carter Harrison. Mr. Trude's theory is that Prendergast was sane when he committed the deed. He cites the fact that the man was animated by a sense of fear in fleeing from the servant at the home of Mayor Harrison. He cites cases where men who have committed crimes while insane appeared to have no sense of fear, and would even rush into danger. The cleverness with which Prendergast sought to insure his own safety is cited as proof of his sanity.

An Ancient English Title.

One of the minor titles borne by the sovereigns of England ever since the accession of the house of Hanover is sacri Roman Imperii, archi-thesaurus, arch-treasurer of the Roman empire. The title dates back to Frederick, the elector palatine, who held the office stated, but for ages after his time its duties were performed by a deputy. They do not relate to the treasury, but to certain matters connected with public ceremonies. It was originally the right of this official to carry the crown before the emperor at the coronation, and to distribute coin as a largess among the people during the ceremonies.
