The A. O. U. W. is a flourishing order. In October there were twenty-three deaths in Kansas, and only two assessments ($2) from each member.

Rev. J. Whisler is again confined to his room by illness, and the preaching services at the Methodist church yesterday were consequently suspended.

An Examiner man has just finished canvassing the town for that valuable coast daily. He secured 70 names for the paper here and will strike for pastures new tonight.

A dispatch received today from a party in Baker City said that he saw Mr. McAtee in Union, a week ago Saturday. This is the latest information that can be gleaned as to his whereabouts.

A literary and musical entertainment will be given in the hall of St. Mary's Academy on the 30th inst. at 7:30 p. m. A rich treat is assured all who attend, for the sisters excel in anything of this nature.

The man who was found dead at Underwood's Landing was Adolph Anderson. Mr. Anderson located there about a year ago. He was about sixty years old. All indications show that he died from natural causes.

A prize fight for a purse of $1,000 took place yesterday on John Donovan's scow Waco on the Columbia river in mid-stream opposite Cascade Locks, between a stone cutter of the Locks and Mackin. The latter won in three rounds.

The young gentlemen of the Miguonette club are busy as bees. They are leaving nothing undone to make the Penoyer's Thanksgiving party an immense success. The party will have no reference to the last part of the governor's proclamation.

A young man who works for Wallace Fargher, while riding out on his horse Saturday evening, was crushed by the horse stumbling and falling upon him. As a result one of his legs was fractured, and Dr. Vanderpool summoned, who attended to the injury.

Dr. Rowland and a board of physicians leave Salem tomorrow morning for the several places in Eastern Oregon which are candidates for the location of the branch asylum. These places are Baker City, Union, La Grande, Pendleton, Heppner and The Dalles.

Green Arnold, who recently died in Union county, planted the first orchard on 3-Mile creek, near The Dalles, in 1853. The ranch is now known as the Moore and Whitney ranch. He was a very prominent man in the early days of Oregon. Of a robust built, energetic and whole-souled, he was among the first of home-builders and defenders in the days when the Indians predominated in number.

L. Rorden & Co. have on exhibition in one of their show windows, the finest collection of ornamental goods ever brought to this city. It comprises a facsimile of the celebrated Royal Worcester and Mooring wares, which are so much admired and sought after in Europe and the east. To see them is enough to provoke a determination to be an owner of some of them.

An exchange says that a lady went to a grocery store a few days ago for a peck of apples, taking as she supposed a fresh laundered flour sack. She held the sack while the clerk poured in the apples. A singular thing then happened. The fruit went through the sacks and rolled over the floor. On examination it was found that there were two holes in the bottom of the sack, both trimmed with embroidery. The young man, fainted and the lady sent a small note after the apples—with a basket.—Samantha (Co. Pioneer.

The World's Fair.

A visitor says: "It was worth the trip around the world to see the outside of the world's fair buildings and grounds. More than six times as much money was paid out as originally contemplated. Over 30,000,000 of dollars were expended. A revenue of more than $10,000,000 was received. 27,494,998 people passed through the gates from May 1st to October 30th. About 1,000,000 people visited the grounds before the opening—many will yet go. Had railways and the press on this coast been as loyal to Chicago as last October, doubtless 40,000,000 of people would have passed through the turn stiles. It is said it would take sixteen years to look at each exhibit one minute and that average visitors know less about more things than ever before; that the greatest and most wonderful show on the lake shore was "uneasy Chicago," whose only motto seems to be "move on." A railway train arrives there every minute. Evidently they have laid the corner stones for the most wonderful city dreamed of, having secured grounds and possession of money for parks, libraries, colleges, museums and art galleries larger and more varied than yet constructed."

Newton Barr, of Medford, had his collar bone and several ribs broken by a buggy collision in the darkness while returning from Jacksonville. His condition is critical.

Oliver Treese, a Corvallis drayman, was run over and seriously injured. One wheel of the truck ran diagonally over his body, bruising the flesh, but not breaking any bones. His recovery is doubtful.

Last Friday as the barge Flyer was coming down the river the crew saw a large deer in the river just above Nelson. They dropped anchor and took a skiff and went out to where the deer was and one of the crew hit it in the head with a club. Of course they killed it.

District Attorney Hume and seven officers swooped down and arrested the proprietors and employees of the Sunday Mercury and fifty-six newsboys Saturday on a charge of having published and circulated an indecent paper. The officers suppressed the entire issue of the paper, and took the forms and printed papers to the city jail to be held as evidence against the defendants. All have given bonds and their preliminary hearing takes place in Portland tomorrow. They probably kill the Mercury.

Deserving Praise.

We desire to say to our citizens, that for years we have been selling Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Dr. King's New Life Pills, Bucklen's Arnica Salve and Electric Bitters, and have never handled remedies that sell as well, or that have given such universal satisfaction. We do not hesitate to guarantee them every time, as we stand ready to refund the purchase price, if satisfactory results do not follow their use. There remedies have won their great popularity purely on their merits. Snipes & Kinersly's druggists.

This is to certify that I have used Krause's Headache Capsules periodically for over one year, and have very much pleasure in stating that they have always proved beneficial and have relieved me in from ten to fifteen minutes. A SUNDAY IN NEW YORK.

Rev. Mr. Curtis Again Interests Large Audiences.

Large audiences greeted Rev. Mr. Curtis, in the Congregational church, both morning and evening. The morning sermon was of a practical nature on "The Value of a Good Reputation." In the evening he preached eloquently on "A Sunday in New York." Mr. Curtis attended three services while spending Sunday in that great city. He described them in a most interesting way and discussed the relative good contained in them. The first was a meeting of persons who called themselves disciples of "Ethical Culture." Their system of belief consisted of negations and Mr. Curtis said no progress ever resulted from negatives. Positive belief is necessary to growth and advancement. The second church he attended was that of Rev. Robert Collyer, the poet preacher of New York. His sermon inclined towards Unitarianism and his lovable personality in a measure atoned for drawbacks that Unitarianism, in his estimation, carries with it. The last service and the one which the audience could plainly see had charmed Mr. Curtis the best was the sermon of Dr. John Hall, pastor of the largest Presbyterian church of New York. Mr. Curtis said he represented the ideal of Christian hope and faith, compared to which all other religious systems were lacking. The text for the evening was "These Three Men," who represented respectively radicalism, individualism and historic Christianity. While writing of the service it would be amiss not to mention the excellent singing of the choir which consists of eight finely trained voices. These were Mrs. Huntington, whose sweet tones have so long been heard at service, Mrs. Barrett, Miss Schmidt, Miss Campbell, Dr. Doane, E. G. Patterson, Balfe Johnson, Vine Phelps and the organist, Mrs. Patterson.
