Stutz tonight.
The Mosier school district case comes Saturday again.
Mr. B. Wolf will ship by steamer Regulator 50,000 sheep pelts tomorrow.

A shawl has been found on the street by Mr. Glasius which will be returned on application by the owner.

A great number of subscribers are offering themselves of THE CHRONICLE's offer of the New York Weekly Tribune one year for twenty-five cents.

There will be a meeting of the "Y's" tonight at the reading room at 7 o'clock. All members are requested to bring their needles and thimbles.

Mr. Chas. Butler will ship several carloads of cattle to Sound markets tomorrow and this afternoon made arrangements for a carload of sheep from Lyle. He shipped some hogs Saturday to Portland.

Stutz' band is composed of only eight pieces, but it is a "hummer." We will give the personnel of the band tomorrow. They played on the streets this afternoon to the unbounded delight of all who heard them.

The local "accommodation" train came in for the first time today. It will run six days a week and rest on the seventh. It will also carry the local U. S. mail and lovers of the Oregonian get their paper only a few hours after it is published.

A passenger who stepped off the train last night, said that eight passengers had been killed in a passenger coach this side of Pocatello by a huge boulder falling down upon it from a high cliff. The report is not believed, as it is a level country.

"A Celebrated Case" tonight at Wingate hall. Stutz has made of this a celebrated play, and it is one which exhibits his abilities to the best advantage. It is a play thrilling in dramatic interest, and is founded on fact, being a part of the history of the French republic.

The register of the U. S. land office, in addition to the current business of the office, is busily engaged today in trying one of the to-be noted land contest cases in which J. M. McKinney is contestant and Wm. C. Bates is defendant. The attorneys for the former are T. A. Hudson and W. H. Wilson, and for Bates, Messrs. Mays, Huntington & Wilson.

the regular theater equipments. The company have hung their own drop curtain, have constructed wings, and put in about a half dozen scenes for use tonight. The Stutz company carry about sixty scenes of their own and often use them in connection with theaters of greater convenience than Wingate hall.

ESKIMO TOURISTS.
An "Increase" in the Family Christened by Rev. McGuffey.

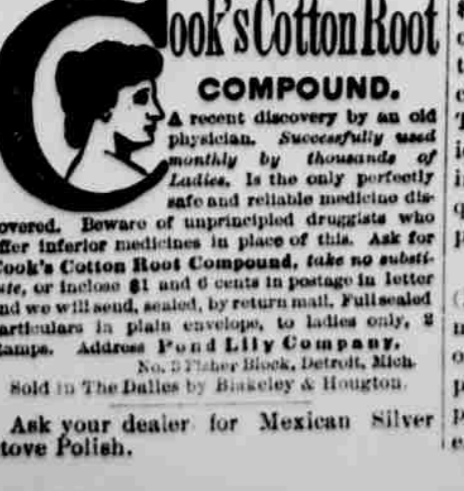

A carload of Eskimos from the world's fair passed through here Sunday night, en route to San Francisco for the Midwinter exposition. A number of them got off the car and walked up and down First street for a little while, accommodating the desires of the curious to see what they looked like. They were good representatives of the race, as known to writers and the public generally. They are short in stature, and universally thick set. Their complexion is considerably darker than the Japanese, whom they much resemble. They were dressed in the garments of the American—specifically the American tramp, as their clothes were neither elegant nor clean. This does not worry them much, however, for it is understood they have a terrible dread of water. Mark Twain facetiously brings out this characteristic in the current number of the Cosmopolitan. At home the Eskimo lives chiefly upon whale blubber and walrus meat, and dresses in as many fur skins as he can comfortably carry. They are much affected by the higher temperature of our climate, and this last summer in Chicago they had a hard time of it.

On the same train with the Eskimos was Rev. P. H. McGuffey, and that gentleman officiated at a very interesting event, nothing less than the christening of an Eskimo baby born on the train just as they were passing the Ames monument, on the summit of the Union Pacific three miles west of Sherman, Wyo. When he christened it the party were traveling in Idaho and he consequently named it Ida Ames.

CITY FATHERS.
A Model Meeting for Business and Lots of It Done.

A full council assembled at the city hall Saturday night in regular meeting. The complexion of the former council is changed by the addition of Mr. L. E. Crowe, who was present.

After reading and approving the minutes, a remonstrance was read against removing the arc light on Lincoln and Third streets, signed by many influential citizens, as well as the sisters of St. Mary's academy and the priest for the entire Catholic congregation. The council honored the remonstrance.

A citizen who lives in the vicinity of Pentland and Fifteenth streets, asked that the council remove the piles of gravel and rocks left by an old excavation upon his land, also calling attention to holes in the water mains. Referred to committee on streets and public property, on motion of Ald. Hudson.

Next came a request for a thirty days' leave of absence, expiring Dec. 2d, from the marshal, which was granted upon motion of Ald. Butts.

Ald. Lauer, chairman of committee on streets, etc., reported verbally on the Lincoln street sewer, and said that Surveyor Crandall was present for the purpose of explaining the proposed work. This sewer is to be an 8-inch pipe extending from the south side of Eighth street, down to Mill creek and to low water. The plans were fully detailed by Mr. Crandall, and the matter was referred to a committee of citizens who are to make an estimate of the cost of the work. The mayor appointed Messrs. Jack Staniels, Smith French and George Ruch as such committee.

A report was then read from the judiciary committee concerning the petition of saloon keepers for a reduction of license. The report cited that owing to the present stringency it is unwise to reduce the revenues of the city; and that since license is already less than that of any other city in the state, recommended that petition be not granted. The report of the committee was unanimously accepted, upon motion of Ald. Joles.

Then followed reports of officers, including the street commissioner, recorder and treasurer, which were accepted as read.

A resolution was then read, signed by "One of the Council," that hereafter no cigar smoking be allowed in the room during the meeting. A motion to accept it was seconded by Ald. Eshelman, and was carried.

Mayor Krefl then spoke of the insurance on the engine house as having nearly expired, and on motion of Ald. Lauer it was ordered renewed.

The matter of delinquent taxes coming up, Ald. Hudson made a statement in behalf of James J. Kelley of Washington, whose city taxes are assessed at $16,000, while the county levy is upon $4,700. Mr. Hudson said the amount claimed by the city is far in excess of the true amount and intimated that his client would protest against paying it. The event occasioned a spirited discussion as to the rights of the city, resulting in a motion that the names of all delinquents be published unless taxes are paid within ten days.

Mayor Krefl spoke of an ordinance (No. 272) which he believed was detrimental to the interests of the city, that of charging transient photographers $5 per day, and believed it should be repealed. Mr. Hudson thought differently. He said he was a strong prote-tionist, and if the license was so much as to be prohibitory so much the better. This did not suit the reciprocity tendencies of Ald. Eshelman and he believed in protection all around. No action was taken.

The mayor again brought a matter before the council for inquiry, this time of a storage house in the East End containing a large quantity of hay, powder and other combustible materials. He didn't like the combination, which was further aggravated by an open place in front, across which only slats were nailed, and any mischievous tramp or fire bug could ignite the whole easily with a lighted match and no one be the wiser. Ald. Hudson moved that the marshal be instructed to notify the owners to abate the nuisance, which was carried.

Ald. Butts moved that the council refer back to reports of committees and inquired for a report from the judiciary committee on the matter of the Rowe saw mill. Mr. Hudson, chairman of the committee, said that he had tried to find Mr. Rowe, but was unsuccessful, but that Rowe was undecided whether to put in his saw mill here, until he could obtain a 39 years' lease from the Union Pacific company. Mr. Butts then inquired for a report on the Bettingen sidewalk, which Mr. Hudson promised would be laid by the next meeting. Mr. Hudson said that he was honest in his belief that the sidewalk would be built, based upon promises made to him, but that he would yet maintain his endeavors. Other councilmen said they were tired of the long delay, that others in the vicinity had built theirs, and that this was badly needed on account of the mud. Vigorous measures were consequently adopted, and a motion of Mr. Hudson was carried that the recorder draw up the necessary ordinance compelling it to be built.

Again the mayor brought an important matter to the attention of the council, this time concerning an arc light needed at Pentland and Ninth streets. He made a strong argument for it, and the matter was referred to committee on streets and public property, with power to act.

When this matter was disposed of Ald. Lauer looked around for the fire warden, but he had gone shortly after the resolution against smoking was introduced, and so the councilman was prevented from inquiring about fees. Ald. Joles, however, said that he understood it was being vigorously enforced; that he ordered a Chinese laundryman to put in a brick flue, that he disregarded the order and put up one of terra cotta; and that on the fire warden's next visit to the place, he demolished the flue, and threw the terra cotta about 16 feet to the ground, and broke it. The next day the Chinaman was laying one of brick and mortar.

Ald. Joles spoke of a dangerous store-pipe in the East End, which will be investigated. Adjourned.

CONDUCTORS EXCURTING
Over Two Hundred Ladies and Gentlemen in a Special Train.

A special train of excursionists passed through the city Saturday evening. They were conductors and their wives from the United States, Canada and Mexico, and have been in annual convention in Chicago, terminating with a four weeks' excursion throughout the far west, the route being Chicago to Denver on the Burlington; Denver to Portland on the Union Pacific; Portland to San Francisco on the Oregon & California; San Francisco to Los Angeles and San Diego; and back over the Denver & Rio Grande via Pueblo, taking in the Royal Gorge, Garden of the Gods, Colorado Springs etc., to destination. The train consists of seven Pullman sleeping cars and transportation is provided by all routes over which the excursion passes. The conductors belong to the Passenger and Freight Conductors Mutual Aid and Benefit Association, which have just held their nineteenth annual convention. Their silk badges were unique. Under the name of the order, was printed a full length imitation coupon ticket in gold. And the Portland brotherhood had presented them with another set of badges. In fact the conductors had three silk badges, all marvels of richness and beauty.

The party was accompanied by Dr. Thos. Irwin of Moberly, Mo., consulting surgeon of the Wabash Railway, a very pleasant gentleman, who gave the reporter the information contained in this article. It proves to be wisdom to have the doctor along for he is comparatively busy attending to members of the party. While he was talking to the reporter a conductor came up to have his earache eased. From some mysterious recess of his coat he drew out the proper vial and a few drops from it poured in the sufferer's ear cured him at once. Mrs. Johnson of Colorado Springs is the only member to sick too leave the car. Another lady of the party was "deathly" sick, while passing through the rarified air of the Blue mountains, but on reaching this altitude, became normal again in health and spirits.

The party comprise 204 persons, 100 of whom are ladies. They are a gay party and will undoubtedly enjoy their western trip immensely. They much regretted not being able to see the beautiful scenery of the Columbia river on account of darkness.
